INALS WALLOP NORTH YAMHILL

Pretty Game Ends Strangely for Visitor

BEATS THE GROVE COLTS

Farmington, Twists for the Cardinals

Cardinals batted out another to their string Sunday, they walloped North Yamhill team that is full of ginger. Robinson, of Farmington, O. A. C. student, pitcher of the Cardinals, and Lake, of Yamhillers, was a little at pitcher yet seen on the mound, barring a little wild. The first two cantos. In innings he had 16 balls called him, but even with this there was one score in the two night after that he settled down to dandy didoes.

Cardinals scored in the inning. Manager Moore, caught the first part of the made first, and old Home Roy Moore sent out a Texas ball that scored him. In Yamhill ran a mad across the In the sixth there was some atack work for the locals and were put over—the last done by them in the game. Hill scored one in the eighth two in the ninth, and went attendance was not as large as in the past.

HERE IS A HERD

Thos. Madison, of near Farmington, was in town Saturday. John Ibach, of near Banks, and is one of the thrifty farmers of that fertile section, was in the city Saturday.

Cedar shingles in any quantity will deliver, at as low prices as you can get them anywhere.—C. S. Reynolds, Mountsindale, Or. 15-22

S. A. D. Meek, of beyond Bloomington, was in town Saturday. Mr. Meek is one of the progressive farmers of his section, and has lately added to his fine herd 5 yearling Holstein weifers, eight in Wisconsin, at a cost of $100. He also owns a prize registered Holstein bull sired by the Meek, Scappoose, bull. This youngster's grandfather took the prize at the Lewis & Clark fair and his grandfather carried away first prize for three successive years at Salem. Three of his new purchased heifers are closely related to three of the greatest milk producing cows in the world. This is the way to build up a dairy—it starts in the start but after that it is easy.

Thos. Madison, of near Farmington, was in town Saturday. John Ibach, of near Banks, and is one of the thrifty farmers of that fertile section, was in the city Saturday.

Married: At the home of S. G. Morgan, (formerly of Hillsboro) Forest Grove, July 27, 1909, Chas. S. Morgan and Mary Esther Holmberg, Rev. Hiram Gould officiating.

Mrs. Knight, a professional cleaner and presser, will do your suits. D. K. Leave orders at Knight's Shoe Shop, East Main St., or telephone Ind. 583. Will call for and deliver. Prices, reasonable. 21 2

We now have a good supply of good hard burned brick, and building blocks for cellars and foundations. Try our building blocks or your house foundations. Cheaper than cement or brick and better protection against frost. We have finished our run of large tile and are again running on smaller size, and have a fair supply at the yard. Parties wanting tile delivered should place their orders now so we can haul them before bad weather. There is always a rush of hauling orders in the Fall when roads are almost impassable. We have a good supply of rough and dressed lumber at our mill, and a quantity of common lumber at the Home spur, below Newton, the latter to sell at a sacrifice—2x12, 2x8, 2x6, 2x4, 1x10, 1x8, 1x6 and 1x4, of various lengths. This is all good dry stock, and it will pay you to investigate should you want any of these dimensions.—Greiner & Koxell Co., Schalls, Hillsboro, R. 2.

W. J. Wall, who is here for the Summer, accompanied by his family, visiting relatives, says of Sinola, Mexico, where he has business interests: "It is a nice country, but there are but fifty or sixty Americans in our section, and it gets mighty lonesome. We raise nothing but sugar cane there, and tomatoes, as a side product. Last year I shipped 17 carloads of tomatoes to California and Oregon, and next Spring I will ship at least fifty carloads if I can get my orders filled. The natives force the language on us, and we have to make a stager at learning it." Mr. Wall was formerly deputy sheriff under the administration of John W. Sewell, and was engaged in the real estate business here at one time. Mrs. Wall is a daughter of Wm. H. H. and a sister to Mrs. W. F. Hoffman, and Mr. Wall is a brother of Attorney John M. Wall.

J. W. Jackson, of Glencoe, was in Saturday, and says that railway delay in delivering cars on call for freight isn't always a losing deal. Last year he sold 53 tons of oats at $30 per ton counting upon getting cars for shipment. When he wanted the cars were a little slow in coming and the order was not filled. Mr. Jackson last week shipped the 53 tons of grain and received $41 per ton, giving him a net price of $11 per ton for warehousing. This is a fairly lucky deal—but if J. W. should fall into the creek that runs past his ranch he would very likely find a large sized trout in each pocket when he gained the bank.

Col. S. C. Spencer, a Portland attorney, and who is known here as the associate counsel in the case where Della B. Keen sued Susan B. Reynolds for alienation of her husband's affections, was in town Monday, enroute to his ranch at Dilley. The Col. knows a lot less about ranching than about the law—but he says he is willing to learn and willing to pay the expenses.

Emma J. West, of Portland, sues W. E. West for divorce. She alleges that he deserted her in 1905. The wife also alleges that she loaned him $2800 out of her private funds, which he never repaid, although he promised to repay her. She asks a judgment for the sum along with her decree.

Ferd Hartmann has the agency for the famous McCormick binders, mowers, hay rakes, tedders and all kinds of farm machinery. Do not fail to see him, if you need farm implements of this kind. Also sells the International gasoline engine pumps. Come and see him. 131 1/2

Leola C. Story sues Seth J. Story for a decree of divorce. They were wedded in Portland in 1900 and have a daughter 7 years old. She asks the custody of the little one and $60 per month alimony, averring that he gets $125 per month as a salesman.

Grant Holcomb, now residing at Springfield, Lane Co., is here for a week, having been called to West Union, northeast of town, on account of the illness of his mother, who is now improving.

For sale or trade: Two H. P. gasoline engines, Stover, with tanks and trucks, or without, and also spraying outfit. Will sell single or separate.—W. H. Stratton, Cornelius, Ore. 18 if Andrew Jack and C. Blaser went to Scappoose one night last week and returned with a catch of nearly 500 catfish—and it was not a very good day for 'cats,' either.

If you want a house moved, or carpenter repairing, call on M. C. Hewitt. First class work. Country work solicited.—M. C. Hewitt, Hillsboro.

G. W. Whitmore, of Laurel, and whose ranch is on the hill where crops never fail, was over to the capital Monday.

J. P. Shirley, who recently bought a small tract this side of Newton, was up to the city Monday.

BANKS BATSMEN CORRAL THE COLTS

ROPE AND BRAND THE CRACK TEAM

Banks Rays Take Great Dislike to Doughnuts

Banks is it—and their baseball team invaded Forest Grove last Sunday, and roped and branded the Forest Grove Colts, one of the classic amateur teams in the state, the score being, Banks, 6; Forest Grove, 2. There was nothing to it—and Forest Grove tried hard to get the lead away, jumping the corral fence and stampeding—but Banks was there with the rope, and the pride of Washington County for many years—the Forest Grove Colts (and they are ball players, too) by dum—went to their Waterloo. Banks got a run in the first inning and the Colts were up against it from the start, and did not score until in the ninth. The game:

FORMER HILLSBORO BOY

Oliver Huston, son of Hon. S. B. Huston and who has developed into one of the best collegiate sprinters in the Northwest, is daily training for the big athletic events, and is expected to win new laurels this coming season. The Portland Journal Sunday has the following to say of Huston and his possibilities:

Oliver Huston, the crack sprinter from the University of Oregon, who has never been defeated in three years, and who is the most consistent 100-second man ever developed in the northwest, is working out nightly under Cornell, Huston was suffering from a sore back, caused by diving, but Cornell has the soreness almost gone and Huston is feeling in splendid shape.

Huston has been credited with running the century under 10 seconds, and if he really did do that mark he is bound to be heard from in both the junior and senior events. Cornell likes the way Huston is running and predicts that he will make the eastern cracks go some before the season is finished. Smithson is some sprinter himself, and the pair have had a number of lively brushes on the club field.

Black Eagle Mining Company Treasury stock selling $100 per share. I will sell you 5000 shares for 35c per share, as must have money.—Address W. A. Currie, 408 Mohawk Building, Portland, Oregon. 20-1

J. A. Thornburgh, Cashier of the Forest Grove National Bank, was down Monday, shaking hands with his county seat friends. J. A. is the spalpeen, who when not so fleshy, and when the Argus reporter was incumbered with a trifling more flesh, stood for the double of the Argus man. He reports things up in the college city as getting along swimmingly.

Isaac Allen, who crossed the plains in 1852, was up from his ranch near Reedville, Saturday, and brought up for repairs an old "cap and ball" pistol that he carried across the great American desert. The weapon has five chambers and in olden times was the chief of its class. Mr. Allen killed his buffalo with it while crossing the Bad Lands, but "Uncle Ike" says: "I can't shoot like I used to, Sonny."

Ed. Wann and Thos. Williams and their families returned Monday from an extended overland vacation to Netarts—and they spent the most of the time on the trail. The weather was bad enroute and when they came to a hill their load was too big for the ponies, and nearly every big incline meant an extra hired span of equines to pull them out. They came back as black as a Grande Ronde, however, and are feeling fine, what with clams and porgies for a change of diet.

Ferd Groner, of Scholls, was up Monday. He starts in a few days for Spokane, where he will attend the National Irrigation Congress, having been appointed by Judge Goodin. Mr. Groner has over 225 acres at Scholls which he can irrigate splendidly, as it lays right against the river's bank, and he contemplates putting in at least a twenty-horse power engine on trucks, with a pump, that he can shift from one point on the river to another. Irrigation on the Tualatin is to be one of the greatest helps we have, and the future will prove it to be of inestimable benefit to ranchers along the stream.

TUALATIN WANTS BETTER HIGHWAYS

Big Barbecue to be Held There Saturday

ARTICLE BY DAVIS, CUB REPORTER

Two Beeves and Sheep, Roasted; Also Bad Roads

The farmers of Tualatin are going to have a picnic at that place, on August 7. They are going to have two beeves barbecued, and a number of hogs and sheep sufficient to feed a large number of people. This barbecue and picnic is given by the farmers in the interest of good roads, and everybody is invited to attend. We will give them a big dinner and treat them the best that we can. As this is to be held in Washington County, we hope you will give it all the publicity possible.

The speakers will be Hon. Lionel R. Webster, of Portland; Hon. George E. Brownell, of Clackamas County; Hon. W. A. Carter, formerly representative from Jackson County, but now residing in Portland; Hon. Burke Tongue, of Hillsboro, and Hon. John Manning, of Portland.

Chief McFarland, of Oregon City, has been engaged to conduct the barbecue. Mr. McFarland is known throughout the State of Oregon as being one of the best cooks for purposes of this kind.

No pains will be spared to make this picnic a success, and while the farmers are particularly invited from all over the state, an invitation is extended to every one who wishes to come. The usual sports, aside from speaking, will be conducted, such as sack races, fat man's race, horse races, baseball game, and, as a fine platform has been arranged for dancing and the best orchestra that could be had engaged for the occasion. Dancing carried on throughout the afternoon and evening.

Hon. Alex. Sweek, who was born and raised at Tualatin, and John Nyberg, who is the Road Supervisor of the Tualatin District and is as much interested in good roads as any man in the state, have full charge of the arrangements for the picnic.

Pike (W. M.) Davis, cub reporter on the Argus, and who is a great farmer, by the way, is giving the Argus readers his first assignment as a "good roads" booster.

CALL FOR STREET FAIR

Pursuant to request, the undersigned hereby calls for a public mass meeting to be held at the City Hall, Hillsboro, at eight o'clock in the evening, Tuesday, August 10, 1909, for the purpose of appointing committees and making general arrangements for a Street Fair and Carnival to be held in this city this Fall. All business men as well as citizens not in business are invited to attend.

John W. Connell, Mayor. Hillsboro, Or., Aug. 5, 1909.

PORTLAND BUSINESS COLLEGE

The attention of our readers is asked to the advertisement of the Portland Business College appearing in this issue of the Argus. The advantages of the school mentioned are set forth in forcible, straight-from-the-shoulder expressions. The motto, or slogan, in the line following the ornamental script heading, is full of meaning. "The School of Quality" should be both inspiring and encouraging to young people who desire to prepare themselves for commercial careers. Anyone interested in a practical education will do well to send for a catalogue of the school mentioned. It is a beautiful specimen of the printer's art, and contains full information about the several courses of study, besides a number of specimens of penmanship, samples of business forms, etc. It may be had for the asking.

Frank Lung, of Cornelius, was in town Saturday, greeting his friends.

Clerk Peter Bæcow was busy Saturday signing up the bonds and coupons in the sum of $10,000 for payment of the new school building annex.

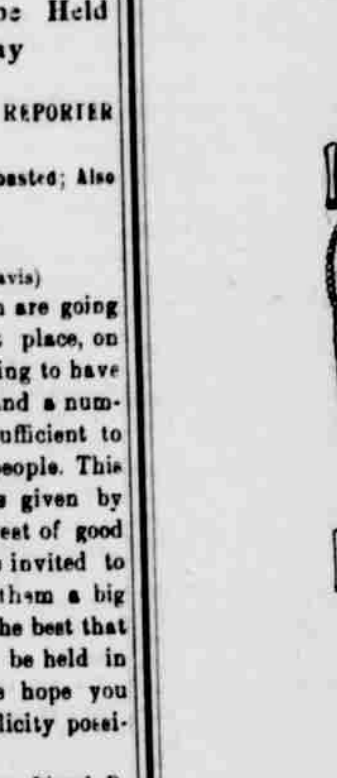

L. E. Wilkes, who visited here last week, spent Thursday and Friday at Seattle, after which he went on through to Montana, to again join his party on surveys.

Elder A. A. Beery, for two and one-half years pastor of the Hillsboro Christian Church, leaves September 1 to take charge of the pulpit at Kern Park, a Portland Christian Church.

B. Leis, of below Beaverton, and who has a thousand prune trees, was up Saturday. Mr. Leis is one of the most progressive fruit growers in the county, and as a result of earnest care, has a crop this year that is a dandy.

Mrs. Ralph Riggs, of Portland, and Miss Gretchen Mienburg, of Waitburg, Wash., oldtime friends of E. der A. A. Beery and family, visited here last week. Mrs. Riggs' husband is photographer for the Oregon Daily Journal.
