

Farmington recorded another victory last Sunday by defeating the Scholls boys by the score of 24 to 9. The game was characterized by loose playing, at times, on both sides, but the locals' batting ability was too much for the visitors. The Farmington boys are looking for engagements with some faster teams for having won all of their games by such large margins they now desire to arrange games in which they will have to fight for victory from the beginning to the end.

O. L. Harmon and wife, of Grand Junction, Iowa, were here the first of the week, guests of their oldtime friends, G. A. Webb and wife. They have been at Seattle, and started home, Wednesday, via Salt Lake and Denver. Mr. Harmon is looking over the West for a location, and says he likes this county the best of all he has seen in his travels.

C. Blaser returned the first of the week from a trip to Newport, where he went to look into an investment. He concluded not to go over there, and says that when Tillamook gets her rail line Newport, he thinks, will suffer somewhat of a slump as a beach resort.

A. G. Stuart, the oldtime railroad man, and who has been running a work crew on a material train, between Portland and La Grande, is home for a few days with his family. After a short vacation he will take charge of a 35 mile logging road on the Columbia river.

H. C. Todd, for a number of years principal of county schools, has returned from a trip to Spokane. He went out to Laurel, Tuesday, to take charge of the Ornduff yard, and will then begin a winter term of school at Greenville, where he taught last year.

Egbert Fonda, of Scholls, was in town Tuesday, and with him was his brother, Edward, who lives in Oklahoma. He has been out here for three weeks, looking over the county. The brothers had not seen each other for 17 years.

Clell Carstens, the Banks pitcher, was in the city yesterday. He and Fred Schlegel, of the Banks team, went over to Raymond with the Portland All-Stars, last week, and played the ship-builders' nice two games, on a break-even.

Miss Eva Emrick, of Arlington, a daughter of John Emrick, well known here in years gone by, is a guest of Mrs. Chas. Koonz. Miss Bernice Briggs, of Vancouver, was also a guest at the Koonz home the first of this week.

Word was received here Tuesday that J. A. Kremis, a former grocer here, in the Curry stand, and who resided here a year or so, died at his home in Arizona. Mr. Kremis was a member of the local Pythian Lodge.

Mrs. E. B. Poole went to Portland the first of the week, to attend her aunt, Mrs. Aug. Kempin, who is critically ill, and who was last week moved from Oswego to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Wanted—Three or four carloads of Angora goats, for shipment. Will buy small flocks if enough can be procured to warrant shipment. See or write to J. J. Krebs, Lion Saloon, Hillsboro, Ore. 24?

The Schiller and the Grand Marca are two Oregon made cigars. When you want a smoke, just call for one or the other. They fill the bill, and are cheaper smokes in the long run, than nickel goods.

W. H. Morton, of the Hillsboro Greenhouse, has been confined to his room with cholera morbus for a few days, but is again on the street, and will soon start the framework of his greenhouse addition.

J. M. Miller, the Banks saloon man, was in the city yesterday, before the county court with a petition to sell liquor for a year in that bustling little city.

Jerry Walker, a nephew of the late L. C. Walker, county surveyor, was over this week from Hoquiam, Wash., where he is in the timber business.

Miss Bessie Schomburg and Miss Ila Blaser started for Tillamook Tuesday, for an indefinite stay at the beaches of that splendid resort. They went in by stage.

Henry T. Haynie and Jennie VanDoren were married in the County Court Room, Aug. 31, 1909, J. W. Goodin, County Judge, officiating.

Frank Weisenbeck, for several years manager of the Ray hopyards at Witch Hazel, was up to the city, Tuesday. Frank is now ranching for himself.

Ernest J. Favell and Inga Maria Olsen were united in marriage at the home of Edward Olsen, Aug. 26, 1909, Rev. Spiess, of Beaverton, officiating.

Leomont Beyer and Louise Juncker were married at the home of the bride, near Thatcher, Aug. 25, 1909, Rev. Julius Traglio officiating.

Remnants by the hundred—and they are to go at half price. Come so as to get an early selection—Connell & Co.

W. C. Darcy, who always adds a venison or two to his "game string," every year, was in the city yesterday.

A WONDERFUL INVENTION

Invented by A. W. Arnold

An Automatic Damper which controls the fire in a stove or furnace. Economizes from 25 to 50 per cent of fuel and is a wonderful convenience.

So very simple and so very effective. Will never get out of order and will never fail to work.

The Safety and Economy Damper Company is now fully organized under the laws of Oregon with a capital stock of $100,000.00, divided into 100,000 shares at $1.00 each. This company owns all of the United States rights under these valuable patents and the stock of the company will be worth many times its par value in a short time for it will pay enormous dividends in this low capitalization.

We are co-operating with J. M. Kerr, of Portland, Oregon, in demonstrating this damper and taking subscriptions for the stock as we consider it the greatest thing we have ever seen. We have invested money in the stock and are glad to ask our friends to invest in it. We are also taking orders for the dampers for future delivery as we want to receive one of the first shipments of the dampers and we hope to see Hillsboro raise a good portion of the money to finance the enterprise.

Come and see a demonstration, do not fail for it is a little wonder.

Do not fail to buy some of this Stock while you have a chance to get in on the ground floor.

BEAVERTON AFTER BETTER HIGHWAYS

Assembly Listens to Road Speeches Saturday

GOOD CROWD ATTENDS BARBECUE

Many Local Speakers Present and Expressed Opinions.

Beaverton held her first big road meeting Saturday, and several hundred were in attendance. Geo. W. Stitt presided as Chairman, and Mayor Cady welcomed the assembly in a neat little speech. There were speeches by Judge Goodin, E. W. Haines, G. W. Marsh, Ira F. Purdin, W. N. Barrett, and W. H. Hollis, the tenor of the addresses being for permanent road work to insure a better county and to promote advancement.

The wind blew a gale in the morning and prostrated the big tent tabernacle and also worried the barbecue chefs, but otherwise the affair was very pleasant and profitable. Judge Webster, of Multnomah, and Mr. Chapman, a prominent road builder of the same county, were in attendance and gave their experiences in permanent road work, which were of value, as Multnomah has the best road system in the state.

NEW CHRISTIAN PASTOR

M. F. Horn, the newly elected pastor of the Christian church of this city will preach his first sermon Sunday, Sept. 5, at 11:00 o'clock. Mr. Horn comes to this city from Medford, where the church grew rapidly under his ministry. He is a graduate of the Eugene Bible University, having taken the classical ministerial course, leading to the B. D. degree. Mr. Horn also took special work in the University of Oregon, each year for six years during his college course.

At Medford, Ore., during the last year of his ministry nearly 200 were added to the church. The church was discouraged and many thought it a hopeless undertaking to try to build up membership, but today the Medford Christian church is a strong body. No doubt the Christian church in Hillsboro will grow rapidly from this time out. Mr. Horn is a member of the State Board of the Christian Church, and has always been interested in the religious development of the state.

Mr. Horn has a wife and two children, and his family is now domiciled in the Christian church parsonage. Hillsboro extends to them a cordial welcome.

Gottfried Schlaefli, of above Mountaineer, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Schlaefli has bought 3 acres in Fairview Addition, and expects sooner or later to move to town.

Victor Crop, of near Glencoe was in Tuesday afternoon. He says the Columbia Academy school building will be ready for the painters in a few days, and the board is now advertising for bids for the work.

TALK ABOUT YOUR LUCK!

Henry G. Guild has gone to Newport to edit the Signal—and the Argus will bet that he makes a neat turn out of it, for H. G. is about the luckiest chap on earth when it comes to the rabbit foot, or the buckeye. To exemplify just how lucky he can be—a California man was here from Ocean Beach, Ocean Park, or some other place, the other day, and tells the story—is made clear by the following: Guild went to California on some wild goose chase, a few years ago, and after he had bought a place, stocked it, and fixed things up, he had but $500 left, and he kept that in currency, in an old leather wallet. The wallet was kept in a bureau drawer, and one day, while cleaning up the work in the bedroom, Mrs. Guild inadvertently left the drawer open. Henry had a pet crow, and the rascal was forever stealing things and hiding them in some outlandish place. Mr. Crow took the wallet and flew out to a huge gooseberry bush, and deposited it in the center of the brambles, and for two months the money was mourned as lost to some marauder. H. G. mourned for some time and was very grouchy, and finally laid the theft to a cross-eyed neighbor whom he didn't like, and there the matter rested. One day, while he was working within a few feet of the gooseberry bush, his mule—the only beast of burden on the place except Henry—planted both pether feet on Henry's posterior and sent him into the pie-berry plant, pell-mell. When he landed he had one paw on the wallet. He kissed the mule, turned a somersault, and rushed to the house to assure Mrs. Guild that he never did believe she took the money to buy a spring hat, anyway, and asked her to forgive him for all the mean things he ever did, and swore he would be more considerate of everybody, hereafter—en of the mule. This is to show you how luck handles things—but the worst is to come—H. G. sold that mule for $10 when he left for Oregon.
