The Hillsboro public should give the Crescent Theatre a generous support tomorrow evening. The event is in the interest of a very worthy project-a rest room for those who make Hilleboro what it is from a trading and commercial standpoint. Be sure that you are there, and, if you cannot come, be positive that you are sending some o..e as your substitute.

With this beautiful Oregon weather-supshine and genial warmth prevailing when cold and snow are reported in the East, Oregon people are thankful that they live in a clime that has 10 equal the world over. This is the genuine Indian Summer-and the IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE man who is nursing a grouch against his fellow these days is surely a dyspeptic or a congenital Crapk

The Oldest Language.

It is said that the Quiches dialect, spoken by Indians of Guatemala, is probably the oldest existing language. At any rate, persons learned in the lore of antiquity set it down as older either than Sanskrit or Hebrew.

Turks In Turkey. In Turkey proper there are not a million Turks.

Pottery.

Pottery is probably the oldest of the world's arts. Every people almost has practiced the making of earthenware, however rudely, but the oldest known pottery is that of the Egyptians. Tombs in Egypt which date from 2000 B. C. contain pictures of various trades and industries, including a pottery and a potter's wheel for use in forming cups.

Chinese at Table.

Immediately after enting the Chinese rinse their mouths out with hot water, and the hands and face are wiped with a wet napkin. The Chinese prefer steamed bread to baked.

Decorated Eyelids. Ancient Egyptians to save their eyes decorated their eyelids with beautiful black velvety antimony paint, which protected from glare and Egyptian Curious Chinese Custom A curious Chinese custom consists in throwing thousands of small pieces of paper, each inscribed with a prayer, into the ocean when a friend is about to sail.

Cheese. Cheese is one of the most concentrat ed of foods. A twenty pound cheese contains more nitrogenous substance than a sheep weighing sixty or seventy pounds. Irish Linens.

It is asserted that the superiority of Irish linens is due in a large measure to the use of a size obtained from boiling and straining Carrageen moss and applying to linen warps. The moss penetrates the thread and toughens it.

Force of Water.

Water may be passed through a nozzle with such force that the stream if struck with a sword will either break or dent the weapon.

Draughts.

Draughts or something very like it was played in 5000 B. C. The game, much as we know it now, was played in sixteenth century Europe, and its name appears as early as A. D. 1400. Draughts means simply moves and was used by Chaucer and others for the moves at chess.

The Herring Catch.

Three billion herring are caught every year out of the North sea and Atlantic alone, to say nothing of the rest of the world.

A Lump of Coal.

A brooch made out of a lump of coal isn't so valuable as a diamond brooch, but it has the merit of rarity. An Englishwoman possesses one, which was carved for her by a miner with the aid of a knife and a file. The design is a star showing up against a rough cast background
