For Tires of Notoriety through Portland Courts

SPURSER NOW OWN AGENT

Wm. Can now Handle Estate of Over Twenty Thousand

W. D. Wood, guardian of Mrs. Elizabeth Purser, the aged Beaver woman, and who was given a business and trouble over a proceeding brought in Clatsop County last week, when she gained her release from Crystal Springs Sanitarium, the guardian had placed her medical attendance and care. He filed his resignation as the guardian of the woman's property, and $250 for his several months service, and Mrs. Purser is now her own agent.

The agreement to resign was made by Dr. Wood, and quickly accepted, and the widow of the Beaver woman king can now handle her property and govern her actions without anyone saying anything to the contrary.

C. T. Crow, well known here years ago, and now stopping at K. Pfahl, Wash., was in town Sunday.

R. G. Rhodes, of below Reedville, was a county seat caller, Saturday, and visited the Argus while in town.

R. Puhols and family, of the

Mrs. Christensen ranch, West Union, were in the county seat, Saturday.

Mrs. Ida Griffin, of Minneapolis,

was a guest of L. J. Rushlow and family, Sunday. Mrs. Griffin is a distant relative of Dr. J. P. Tammle.

J. F. Carvins, who had a great deal to do with putting Banks on the world's baseball map, was down Saturday, accompanied by his wife.

Dr. Lowe, the optician, will be at the Hotel Tualatin, Friday. Have him test your eyes. Nine years experience. Dozens of Hillsboro references.

Wm. Johnson, recently returned from a trip to Seattle, J. J. Schlicht, who has been pruning over in Washington State, and Geo. Cypher, all of Mountsindale, were in town Saturday, greeting friends.

F. M. J. Murphy, who has carentered for many years east of town, was in the city Saturday evening. F. M. J. is now in the pioneer class, and is getting along in age, but still carries that Irish twinkle in his eye.

John Brunswick, of above Glencoe, and who had a million and half of timber, which is very fine, on 40 acres, was in town Monday. Mr. Brunswick worked for 5 years on the J. H. Sewell ranch, and is well known down in this ballwick.

We now have a good supply of good hard burned brick, and building blocks for collars and foundations. Try our building blocks for your house foundations. Cheaper than cement or brick and better protection against frost. We have finished our run of large tile and are again running on smaller sizes, and have a fair supply at the yard. Parties wanting tile delivered should place their orders now so we can haul them before bad weather. There is always a rush of hauling orders in the Fall when roads are almost impassable. We have a good supply of rough and dressed lumber at our mill, and a quantity of common lumber at the Hais spur, below Newton, the latter to sell at a sacrifice—2x12, 2x8, 2x6, 2x4, 1x10, 1x8, 1x6 and 1x4 of various lengths. This is all good dry stock, and it will pay you to investigate should you want any of these dimensions—Groner & Rowell Co., Scholls, Hillsboro, R. 2.

John Sinclair, of Letauyville, and who is one of the industrious boys of that section, is feeling pretty good over his hops, this season. He rented the Wm. Jolly yard of 30 acres, this year, paying $0 per acre. He raised 32,000 pounds of the dried product, and contracted 20,000 pounds at 16 cents, leaving him 12,000 pounds for the big advance. This will give the lad a pretty fine little sum for his season's work, and if there is any one more deserving than this braw little descendant from the Orkney Islands—we're from Missouri.

J. T. Morrison, of below Farmington, and who has experimented this year with Summer irrigation, via the gasoline engine route, was in Saturday, and left at the Imbrie Land Co. some fine "Ninety Day" corn, of the flint variety, which is perfect in every respect, fully developed, and with kernels clear to the end of the cob. The ears are 11, 12 and 13 inches in length and show that if planted June 1, and given water at proper intervals, the crop will prove a success.

The Oregon Agric. of Corvallis, defeated Pacific University in their first football game, Saturday, at Corvallis, by a score of 21 to 0. Pacific put up a snappy game, but the heavier farmer eleven took the game by sheer muscle and weight, and some well directed plays. Ferrin Geinn and Ward, of Pacific, carried off the honors for Pacific.

A. J. Bookhold, who has two donkey engines cleaning up 16 miles of right of way, on the P. R. & N., above Timber, and who is making great headway with his contract, was in town Monday morning, taking out several big fellows to work on the job. Mr. Bookhold has but one arm but he knows how to make things go.

J. C. Hartley, for many years a resident of above Banks, and who is now in the orchard business at Columbus, Wash., on the North Bank road, was in town Saturday—his first trip here for four years—and says that he is actually surprised at the growth of the old burg, and the many substantial improvements.

Fred Schmidt, of Laurel, and who harvested 9,000 pounds of dried hops this year, was in town Monday. His product is not under contract and he will realize very nicely off his six acres from 21 hills less than 24 acres Mr. Schmidt had 18,000 pounds of green hops.

H. B. Dauchy, owner of the Geo.

McGraw place, near Greenville, was in the city Monday. He states that Frank Lewis, who recently finished a prune drier, had cared for his own orchard and has all he can do drying for his neighbors.

Supervisor J. W. Sewell within the past two weeks has graded over 18 miles of highway, east and north of town, using the county grader and E. E. Schmeltzer with the traction engine as motive power.

For sale: Shropshire and Ram-bouillet rams, yearlings and lambs, all eligible to registry. Shropshires are from Candian sire, out of English imported stock.—Ferd Groner, Scholls, Hillsboro, Rt. 2. 21 33

Fred Zilly and wife, of Portland, were guests at the T. R. Imbrie home the last of the week. Mr. Zilly is still with the Irwin-Hodson Co., of Portland, and travels all over the Northwest.

years old. No horns. Owner called at Orenco Mercantile Co., Orenco, Oregon, and pay charges and take same away.—Orenco Mercantile Co. 32-4

Scholls, were up Friday evening, in a automobile, and took in the Coffee Club production at the Crescent. Argus and Oregonian, $2.25.

PETTY PILFERER

TAPS SOME TILLS

Enters Greer's Grocery and

Several Other Places

SAFE WAS TOO BIG TO CARRY

Receipts Had One Hundred and

Fifty Dollars

Petty thieves entered the Greer grocery, Williams' cigar store, Kreb's Lion saloon and Moore & Hoover's meat market Monday night, and tapped the tills for a few dollars. They got nothing at Greer's, unless it might have been a little merchandise, but they overlooked $2 in the cash register, in a sack which belonged to a woman, left there to be delivered. They turned over the Greer safe, and tried to open the bottom with a chisel, but must have been alarmed as the receiptacle was not forced. It is said, although Norman Greer would not verify it, that there was $140 in the safe. At this place both the window and door were forced.

The restaurant and pool room was entered, and Jos Williams lost $4.50, but nothing was taken from the restaurant. Both drawers were taken to the rear of the partition, where they were found this morning.

At Kreb's saloon the robber, or robbers, found $3 in the cash register, appropriated a fine meerschaum pipe belonging to Thos. Williams helped themselves to cigarettes and whiskey, and ate lunch in the back room. They took a chisel out of the drawer, but evidently did not use it. At this place they must have entered over the tram.

At the Moore & Hoover butcher shop they entered through the rear door and secured $1 from the till. This was about all the thieves procured.

At the Kreb's place they overlooked, in their ransacking search, $7 in change that was hidden. The looters evidently added the Emmott Bros' horses to make a speedy getaway in case they made a good haul, as the evidence shows that the animals had been saddled.

COURT AND DISTRICT

ATTORNEY HELD UP

Circuit Judge Eakin Feels

Majesty of the Law

DEPUTY GAME WARDEN EXAMINES

All Because District Attorney Shut

Tail of Bird

Judge Eakin, of the Circuit Court, and of whom it is said that he never felt the majesty of the law as applied to himself, had a novel experience here the other day. The Court came to Hillsboro to kill a China bird, and in company with District Attorney E. E. Tongue, went out on one of the Tongue ranches. Birds were scarce, and finally one roe and E. B. barged away. He shot a little slow and knocked the tail feathers out of a handsome young rooster, who as yet hadn't grown the ring fully about his neck. His roosterhood looked a great deal like a hen, all right, all right, and when the two went to the buggy E. B. insisted that the Court should wear his hunting coat, as the morning was chilly. The Court donned the coat, containing the China, and it was not long until a deputy game warden hove in sight and, stopping the pair, said: "I see you have a China hen there—throw it out to me." The Court for the first time in his life saw visions of court chambers and he the culprit—for he had the bird in his possession, and he would be considered equally guilty. Mr. Tongue finally persuaded the warden that it was a male and finally produced one long tail feather, which reposed in the Court's pocket. This satisfied the officer and the court and his chief officer were allowed to depart. It was a close call, however, and the Judge will argue some time before he will wear some one else's hunting coat.

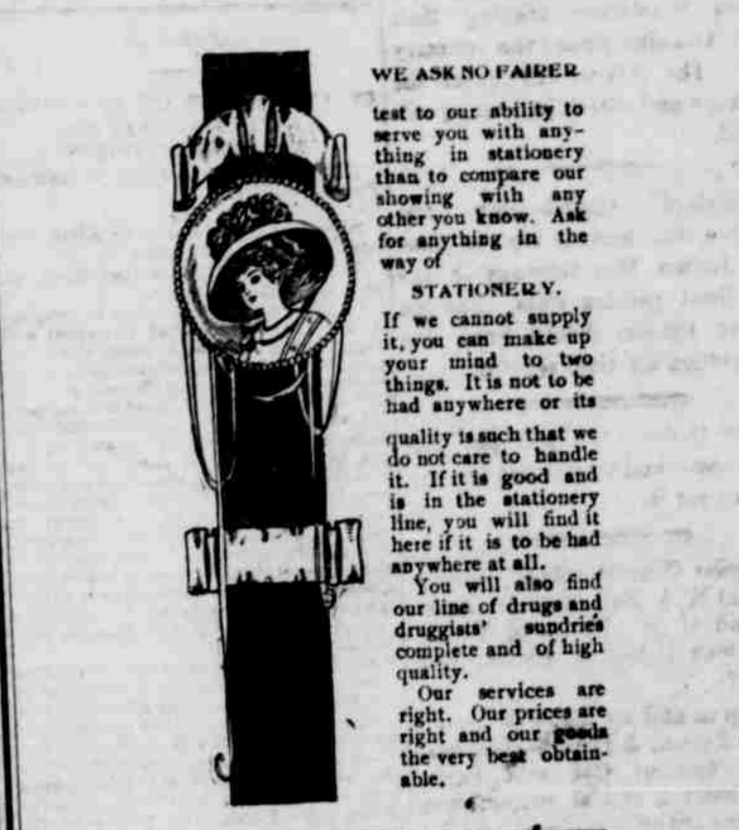

There is always something new under the sun—even it be old as the hills. It will be new to countless thousands—this story, which is fact. On the 21st of September, Emil Kuratli visited with Eugene Pfahl, a citizen of Nurnberg, Germany. The host is a brother of Carl Pfahl, of Blooming, and he made Mr. & Mrs. Kuratli's stay in that city a very pleasant one. Nurnberg is one of the oldest toy manufacturing cities in the Old World—and it has something that is a curiosity. Hold your breath, for here it is—a church that is over 1,000 years old, and under the same roof, a saloon Cafe and church were built together, and it has ever been the rule that no boisterous language is used in the saloon to annoy the worshippers, and the clergy never preach so loudly that those in the saloon taking a glass of the famous Nurnberg beer are made nervous. The best of order prevails, and the best of fellowship. The devotees of one place are often devotees of the other, and nothing is thought of it—and the morals of the city of Nurnberg are the best in the German Empire. Carl Pfahl, of Blooming, was in town Friday, and tells this story, and when Carl tells you, it can be counted as the truth.

G. M. McDoell, with the Oregon Electric, was out Friday, hunting the festive China rooster. G. M. dined one, and says he might have bagged a number if the unfounded law hadn't limited a man's try at the roosters. Mc's aim isn't the best, however, for one of his shots went wide of the mark and flattened a weather cock on top of a farmer's barn, and it cost the genial railway man a $2 bill to settle. The money was cheerfully paid but the hunter insisted on taking his quarry into Portland to show his admiring friends.

Deputy Game Warden J. S. Lilly, of Gales Creek, picked up Walter Toose, early Friday morning, hunting without a license, and brought the boy, who is but 18 years old, before Justice Barnes, where he entered a plea of guilty and was fined $25, the minimum, for the offense. The boy said he had been sick for a few days and thought he would go out and get some game. As he pleaded guilty there was no alternative the fine was imposed. The boy is a good lad and had never before been in trouble.

Wm F. Haase, of Iowa Hill, was in town Friday. He finds time, besides his dairy work, to raise prunes, and will soon have five tons of fine product through the drier.

JEWELRY BUYING

Wise buying in general is difficult. Wise jewelry buying is particularly so. Know the store and you know the jewelry it handles. Jewelry buying is largely a matter of confidence. The future of this store depends on the confidence that I can inspire. If I ever deceive I am ready to make amends.
