Chas. Scheunemann Shoots Himself With 38 Revolver
POOR HEALTH PROMPTS DEED
First Uses Razor and Then the Revolver

Charles Scheunemann, aged 53, a German, residing near Metzger Station, beyond Garden Home, and owning Block K, in the Metzger tract, committed suicide Tuesday night, and was found dead in his cabin by F. Dill, yesterday morning. The dead man had first tried to sever an artery in his wrist, and had succeeded fairly well, using a razor. Finding it was rather a slow process he then shot himself above the right ear, using a 38 calibre revolver. Scheunemann was a bachelor, and had two brothers in Wisconsin. He was suffering from cancer of the stomach, and had been told by a physician that there was no hope for him.

F. Dill and C. Ingram told the coroner's jury of the dead man's illness and Ingram said Scheunemann had told him that he would spend no money for an operation. He told Mr. Dill that he wished Mr. Gustave Langue to act as his administrator and see that his two brothers in Wisconsin were given his property. The jury sworn by Coroner Brown found that he came to his death by the suicide route.

The jury: R. W. Huffaker, Ed. Dostal, C. S. Tigar, Geo. L. Bickell, H. Wohlfel and N. S. Dill.

The first public meeting of the Buxton Literary Society was held last Thursday evening and standing room was a premium. In the debate "Resolved that the Negroes were better treated than the Indians" the affirmative won. Ralph Hannan, for the negative, made it tropical for the opposition, but Ben R. Perkins, in reply, shifted the effect. On February 10 there will be another meeting to debate "Resolved that Geo. Washington did more for his Country than Abraham Lincoln." As Mr. Perkins has received the travelling library from the state both sides will be well supplied with data, and a warm time is anticipated. All are invited.

Buchanan, of Buchanan & Co., commission men of Cornelius, was in town yesterday, and says that after inquiry he finds that the loss of potatoes from the freeze will in some localities not reach 25 per cent, while in the Vinelands district, on the south slopes, above Glencoe, the loss will not be 10 per cent. In some instances, where they were well covered with soil there is no loss, at all, and his estimate all over the county is a loss of less than one tenth.

with Jesse Applegate, he and his wife started on their trip across the plains. Judge Peter Barnett was with his party. Arriving at Walla Walla, Mr. Hill made boats and came down stream to Vancouver. He proceeded direct to Washington County and settled on what is known as the Hallett place. After 18 months, they sold for 400 bushels of wheat and settled on the place where Mr. Hill died. In early days he was a great shot.

Mr. Doane was popular in his neighborhood, and took a great interest in livestock, attending the Street Fair here last Fall, and where he was awarded prizes. He had been running the Todd farm for several years, and was noted for his fair dealing and integrity.

He was born in Genesee Co., N. Y., Feb. 13, 1852, and in 1862 moved to Eau Claire, Wisconsin, with his parents. In 1876 he came to Oregon, and first worked for Col. T. R. Cornelius. He was wedded to Miss Laura Mellenger, of the Nehalem, Dec. 26, 1880. The wife and three children, Bert, Frank and Margaret, survive him.

He was a member of Holbrook Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and Woodmen of the World, and these two lodges will have charge of the burial, which takes place, Saturday, at 2:00 p. m., from the Forest Grove M. E. Church.
