J. P. HANSEN DEAD

J. P. Hansen, a resident of near Dilley, died at his farm, Friday, July 8, 1910, at the age of 64 years. Deceased was a native of Denmark, and had made his home in Oregon for 17 years. He had resided in the state of Washington prior to settling in Oregon. He is survived by two sons, Walter Hansen, Portland, at one time noted in athletics, and H. J. Hansen, of Dilley. His wife died several years ago. The funeral was held from the Dilley M. E. Church, Saturday, and interment was in the Forest View cemetery, Forest Grove. Mr. Hansen was one of the best informed men in his section.

CALL FOR BIDS FOR REST ROOM

Sealed bids will be received up to Saturday, July 16, 1910, at 2:30 p. m., for the construction of a Rest Room on the court house square in Hillsboro, Oregon, and said bids will then be opened and contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Plans and specifications may be seen at the residence of Mrs. J. P. Tamiesie, Main and Third Streets. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Mrs. J. P. Tamiesie, Chairman Contract Committee. Hillsboro, Ore., July 7, 1910.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed bids will be received by the County Court of Washington County, until 2 P. M. of the 23d day of July, 1910, and then opened for the hauling of crushed rock at Hillsboro, Cornelius and Forest Grove, and bids to be made on each 1/4 mile from the starting point, a certified check for 5 per cent. to accompany bid. The court reserves the right to reject any or all bids. For further particulars see County Judge. By order of the County Court. July 7th, 1910. J. W. GOODIN, County Judge.

The Hillsboro small boy has been disporting in the waters every afternoon since the warm wave. They have been stopped from entering on the Connell farm, west of town, because they became careless about leaving gates open. The "big bend," south of town, and below the slaughter house, near the long bridge, west, are the favorite places. The best stage of water is really at the big bend, where the swimming was good twenty five years ago, when the rest of us were but boys.

Lost--Watch charm, small diamond setting, and containing picture in the back of it, between the rear of Donelson's furniture store, where they tie horses, and the Den of Sweets. Liberal reward. Leave at this office.

There were but four prisoners in the county jail the first of the week, but additions may be coming at any time. Those making the Hotel Hancock their home Monday were: Albert Mizner, in for selling liquor without a license; F. Adams and Lot Crawford, in for disobeying the orders of the court as to alimony to their divorced wives; and A. Sposito, here from Sherwood charged with a statutory offense.

I wish to announce that I will operate a first class hay baler this season, and parties wishing baling done may apply to me by letter at Cornelius, Route 2, or by phone (Pacific States) Farmers' 275, Forest Grove.--F. A. Hohman.

Sunday was the record breaker so far this year in the heat marking. In many places around this section it was 100 in the shade, and some thermometers registered even more than this. There were no prostrations from heat, however, and while it was "tolerable hot," as the Missourian would say, people felt it much less than the same heat in the East.

The Climax Milling Co. will furnish sacks free of charge to farmers desiring to sell or store their wheat at their warehouse. 17tf

Anna Muzik, of Portland, has sued Rudolph Muzik, for divorce, the result of much discord in the Muzik home. Whether there was a false note; a lost chord; a melody, or what their particular trouble is not known along musical lines, but she says he does not support her and that he drinks too much.

Claude Hollinger, aged about 24 years, and who is deaf and dumb, was arrested the last of the week and gave bail to appear and answer the charge of stealing a filly from George Subbauer. Young Hollinger worked over at Newberg, and took the filly over there, where he traded "for a horse of his own."

The warm weather has been very beneficial in some instances--hop lice, at least, will have a hard time to get a hold if it continues.

F. G. Mitchell, who has been visiting here with his brother, C. H., has a position with the Skidmore Drug Co., of Portland.

Born, July 5, 1910, to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Duyck, of Mountindale, a daughter.

GREW WITH THE STATE

History of the Oregon Agricultural College.

MARKED ERA OF PROSPERITY.

Beginning as a Small Denominational School, It Has Become One of the Foremost Centers of Learning. Maintains Twenty-six Departments For Scientific Industrial Training. Its Advantages Are Open to All Persons Free of Charge.

The celebration of the quarter centennial of the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis on June 14 lends particular significance to the history of the institution. Its growth, which has so closely paralleled that of the state, has a peculiar interest at this time.

The origin of the college looks back to the sixties, the beginning of an era of prosperity and industrial development in the history of Oregon. "Home-seeking" rather than "gold-seeking" people were pouring into the state. The tendency of the time leaned toward agricultural development and intellectual advancement.

To this disposition of the period the Oregon State Agricultural college owes its existence and present location in part. In 1862 congress appropriated 90,000 acres of land for the support of an agricultural college, with the condition that the college be in operation by 1867. Under this act a denominational school of the M. E. Church South already existing at Corvallis and known as Corvallis college was charged with the management of the agricultural college. Just here it is interesting to note that Corvallis was likened to a course in pharmacy of the pharmacy left out. It was a strong course in science and agriculture. The alphabet, however, was not full the courses introduced later in agriculture, agronomy, horticulture, etc.

From this embryonic state the growth of the agricultural college has been phenomenal and justifying in the last few years. There was a change in the office of the state in 1872, but not until 1867 do we find the first evidence of the withdrawal of the peculiar character of the institution as noted in the election of a mixed agricultural to the chair of agriculture and chemistry.

In 1885 the church voluntarily relinquished its claim on the funds of the agricultural college, and the state assumed control, proposed to merge the college at Corvallis with another college building, to cost not less than $20,000, to be erected by the citizens of Benton county on the agricultural college farm previously purchased by the board. Corvallis rose grandly to the occasion. The sacrifice required in the erection of the building, the present administration building was heavy at the time that it cost their very hearts' blood from the members of the college, but it was.

In 1885 the then "agricultural college" as such ceased to exist, but its stead was born the Oregon State Agricultural college. How fitting that this decade's point in the development of the institution should be celebrated at this time! The latter twenty five years ago has become a potent educational factor of body a few comparisons of its past and present scope and usefulness in the eyes of this state will be apparent here. The first graduating class numbered three; the class of 1910 will include approximately 130. The faculty from three in 1867 has grown to thirty-two in 1910. The pool of stu-then a mere village, that the frame structure which housed Corvallis college served also for a time as a public school building and meeting house and that all grades from the primary to the academic department were accommodated. The Southern Methodist church came into possession of the property in 1865. Forthwith Rev. W. A. Finley was chosen president, and Professor Armstrong as assistant. The two composed the faculty. This was the beginning.

This, then, was the institution and such the conditions prevailing within its precincts when the legislature of Oregon offered to locate with it--indeed, to designate it the Agricultural College of Oregon. Therefore in 1868, it appearing that "unless an agricultural college is provided by law at this session of the legislature the grant by congress will be lost," etc., the legislature to designate Corvallis college as the agricultural college of the state, and the board of trustees of the college accepted the donation of the state. Two years later another definite step was taken in the form of an act which permanently located the agricultural college at Corvallis.

The faculty now numbered three, Dr. Joseph Emory having been elected professor of mathematics, and these three it was who arranged a two year course of study and distributed the work of it among themselves to be carried along with executive burdens already shouldered.

The agricultural course of two years as outlined was one of the best in the nation at that time, yet it has been

SUMMONS

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR WASHINGTON COUNTY

George Seidler, otherwise known as George Seiler, Anna Maria Seidler, his wife, Stephen Thorwart and Barbara Thorwart, his wife, Nicholas Seidler, otherwise known as Nicholas Seidler, and Franziska Seidler, his wife, Michael Shrank and Barbara Shrank, his wife, E. Shrank, Johann Goetz, Frank Goetz and J. F. Goetz, Defendants.

In the Name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of plaintiff, filed against you in the above entitled cause, on or before July 20, 1910, and if you fail so to appear plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit, a decree quieting plaintiff's title as against you, and each of you, to the following described real property situate in the County of Washington and State of Oregon, to-wit: A strip of land one hundred (100) feet in width, being fifty (50) feet on each side of the center line of the track of the Pacific Railway and Navigation Company, as the same is constructed through the North half of the Northeast quarter of section thirty two (32) in township three (3) North of range four (4) West of the Willamette Meridian.

And to an adjudication in and by the said decree that the cloud on plaintiff's title arising by informalities in the conveyances executed by you, and each and all of you, may be removed, and that you and each of you may be perpetually enjoined from asserting any right, title or interest in and to the above described real property.

This summons is published by the order of the Honorable J. U. Campbell, Judge of the above entitled Court, made the 10th day of May, 1910.
Date of first publication, May 12th, 1910.
Period prescribed in the order for the publication of the summons, six weeks.
