MORTGAGE TAX GHOST IS RISEN

The Law Says Assessors Must Tax all Personal Property
ONE OF THE BIG TAX PROBLEMS
Not Likely That Records Will be Searched in This County

The ghost of the mortgage tax law is again risen and the state tax commission, while not ordering assessors to place this sort of taxation on the rolls, has written all officials that the law says that "all personal property must be assessed." Of course, this covers the mortgages. Nearly all are familiar with the hard time experienced a few years ago in the endeavor to collect the tax laid upon mortgages. Hundreds of taxpayers refused to pay the tax and the county eventually had to buy in a lot of land for the taxes, and some of the tax purchases have not been settled even to this day. The court finally gained a good bit of the tax by making an order that they would take 50 per cent of the money. Many took advantage of this in order to clear their title.

Assessor Crandall will doubtless pursue the course taken last year—assessing what is given him but not relying on the mortgage record. Both loaners and borrowers are watching the proceedings with interest, as some assessors in the state are assessing mortgages from the records, while others are not. One of the tax board was in the city Tuesday, and told Mr. Crandall that the commission did not wish to be dictatorial on the matter. Mr. Galloway, a member of the tax board, has the following in the Oregonian:

"We do not defend the assessment and taxation of mortgage notes, or of intangible personal property generally, as an economic proposition. Personally, I am willing to agree with much that has been said in regard to the utility and justice of such taxation. But this board is not a legislative body. It is not its province to say what the law should be. In its administrative capacity, it is the duty of the board to advise assessors as to the law and urge them to comply with it in as faithful a manner as possible. That a law may be bad, or impossible of equitable enforcement is not our fault. It can hardly be argued that it is within the province of a public officer to advise or encourage violations of any law. Only through honest endeavor to enforce a law can its defects be fully realized and a rational demand for its modification or repeal be awakened.

"In further explanation of our position I trust it is not amiss to quote some law: Section 1, article IX of the constitution of Oregon states:
"The Legislative Assembly shall provide by law for uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation; and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property, both real and personal, excepting such only for municipal, educational, literary, scientific, religious or charitable purposes, as may be specially exempted by law."
"Referring to this section, the Supreme Court of Oregon has repeatedly held that no power exists in the Legislature to exempt from taxation any property whatever, except the certain classes specially enumerated."
"Section 1, chapter 268, laws 1907, provides:
"All real property within this state, and all personal property situated or owned within this state, except such as may be specifically exempted by law, shall be subject to assessment and taxation in equal and ratable proportion."
"Section 3 of the same law includes within the classification of taxable personal property: "All debts due or to become due from solvent debtors, whether on account, contract, note, mortgage, or otherwise, either within or without this state."

means good time to you for years to come. True economy in a time-piece lies in cleanliness. The delicate parts doing indescribable work will soon wear themselves to ruin, destroy their high finish and perfect fit, when running in accumulating dirt and rancid oil. It will cost you nothing to let me examine it.—C. F. Libby, Jeweler, Hillsboro, Ore.

R. D. Kent, of Clatskanie, Columbia County, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Kent says there are several big logging camps down his way, as there are millions upon millions of timber yet standing. The Benson Logging Company has several miles of logging road at or near Clatskanie, and they turn out 300,000 feet of logs, board measure, daily. He says that Herman Matthies, formerly of Laurel, is still running a logging road engine down there.
Forsale, cheap: Thoroughbred Scotch collie pup, four months old. Inquire at the Argus office.
Another season and Hillsboro will not have to make a hard day of it in reaching a seaside resort. The Pacific Railway & Navigation Company will have its line into Tillamook and all along the twenty miles this way from that point there are fine stretches of beach. The running time will not be over three or four hours at the most—and possible less when the road has been ballasted.
L. C. Brown, of Iowa Hill, was in the city yesterday morning.

BAIRD

In the New Heidel Block

While no resolution was adopted at the assembly Saturday, it is understood that nearly all, if not all, of the delegates are for Hon. Jas. Withycombe for governor, and will support the former Washington County man in the state assembly. It is whispered, however, that there are a few Bowerman men on the delegation.

Fred Adams was released from custody, Tuesday, and this ends his six months incarceration for contempt of court in failure to pay alimony to his divorced wife in accordance with the decree of court.

John F. Stevens, of the United, says his line will make the run from Portland to Tillamook in two hours. That's going some—but it will hardly be pulled off on a two-hour schedule.

J. C. Bechen, of West Union, was in the city yesterday, and says that harvest has started on the plains near Glencoe. In a week or so the cutting of winter wheat will be general.

Page Gardner, who has been spending the year at the Oregon Agricultural College, was in town last week, greeting friends.

A. Anderson, of Helvetia, was in the city yesterday morning.

SIRES AND SONS.

Perez y Galdos has been elected a Republican deputy to the cortes of Spain. The novelist has strong political convictions.
Dr. Edward J. Hiedermann, organist of St. Mary's church in New York, celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as an organist and twenty-fifth as organist of that church.

Charles Dyer Norton, who was taken from his post as assistant secretary of the treasury to become President Taft's private secretary, comes of old New England stock, his mother being a descendant of Roger Williams, the founder of the Rhode Island colony.

Of the ninety-two United States senators but nine have mothers living. These fortunate senators are Flint of California, Beveridge of Indiana, Owen and Gore of Oklahoma, Nelson and Clapp of Minnesota, Keen of New Jersey, Dick of Ohio and Smith of Michigan.

Harvard's oldest three living graduates, according to the new university directory, are the Rev. James I. T. Coolidge of Cambridge, Mass.; the Rev. Edward A. Renouf of Keene, N. H., and Dr. James L. Wellington of Swansea, Mass., all members of the class of 1832. The oldest of the three, Mr. Coolidge, is ninety-three and expects to see 100.

Lord Colebrooke is selling his estates of about 30,000 acres on the southern borders of Scotland. He now owns four villages—Ablington, Crawfordjohn, Elvanfoot and Crawford. Therein are included Glengonnar House and Gliersleugh House, with appurtenant grouse moors. The Clyde intersects the estate, and there are fourteen miles of railroad through it.

Ocean Liners.

Steamship working hours are four on and eight off to the end of the voyage.
The Cunarders serve broken bits of butterscotch candy along with the afternoon tea aboard ship.

An 11,000 ton ship running fifteen miles an hour will consume 150 tons of coal per day. A 30,000 ton ship going thirty miles per hour will use up 1,100 tons.

Travelers at sea like to talk of the steadiness of ships—other than the one they are on board of—and to give remarkable examples of freedom from shake and sickness. One fact remains—when the sea kicks up, the voyagers on any craft, however large, soon learn that they are not navigating on a billiard table.—New York World.

The Royal Box.

Queen Mary, consort of King George V. of England, is an accomplished artist.
Princess Juliana, heiress to the throne of Holland, is now well started on her second year of life with good health and a strong resemblance to her father.
The sultan of Zanzibar was educated at Harrow and Oxford. He is an adept at football, tennis and rackets and is a yachtsman, an enthusiastic motorist and an excellent shot.

One of the favorite pieces of the late majesty King Edward was the Princess Alexandra. She is the wife of King George's brother-in-law and a most cultured woman, being very fond of literature and music.

Pen, Chisel and Brush.
It is related of Hall Caine, the novelist, that he once worked in the lead mines in the Manx mountains in place of a young man who was ill and kept the young fellow's position for him.
Miss Elizabeth Nourse, a Chaucer artist, has sold her painting, "The Closed Shutters," to the Luxembourg gallery, and ten years after her death it will take its place among the canvases in the Louvre.

James Earle Fraser, the sculptor whose studio is down in the artists' colony of MacDougal alley, New York, was a protege of Saint-Gaudens. He was born in Winona, Minn., in 1873, lived in the west for many years, his work is reflective of the open prairie.

Rise of Stage Stars.
Laura Hope Crewes took a child's part.
Billie Burke began as a chorus girl in London.

Maude Adams began as a child and for years played small parts, gradually working up to leads.

Margaret Anglin was graduated from a dramatic school in New York. Nazimova from one in Russia.—Lionel Lincoln.

Woman.
A woman is like your shadow—she follows her, she flies; fly from her, she follows.—Chamfort.
No man has yet discovered the means of giving successfully friendly advice to women.—Balzac.
Women see through and through each other, and often we most admire her whom they most scorn.—Buxton.
Women know by nature how to disguise their emotions far better than the most consummate male courtier can disguise his.—Thackeray.

Two of Them.
Towne—My wife's nerves are such peculiar things. She always worries when she's having a dress made just as if—
Brown (interrupting)—Huh! My wife only seems to worry when she isn't having one made.—Catholic Standard and Times.
