FORMER DILLEYITE IN TROUBLE IN YAMHILL

Harry L. Lewis Leaves Dilley for Newberg, and is Arrested

FORMER WIFE APPEARS ON SCENE

For a Man Sixty-Three Years Young, Young is Gay

H. L. Lewis, mention of whose arrest was made in last week's Argus, evidently carries his 63 years lightly, for he is in trouble over the everlasting and eternal question—woman. Lewis settled at Dilley a few months ago, and later went to Newberg. What happened to him there is best analyzed in the following from last week's News Reporter, of McMinnville:

"Could be happy with either dear charmer, were the other dear charmer away", and, for that matter, would be willing to do most anything to get out of the present predicament—live with either or both of them, if they would—anyway until he was sure he was out of jail for good. At least that is the report concerning Harry L. Young, alias H. L. Lewis, at the present detained in the Yamhill county bastille.

According to these same reports, Mr. Young is a young man of about 63 summers who in his youthfulness has become too much married. It would appear that something like four years ago he married wife No. 1.—or she is supposed to be No. 1, and for convenience will be called as such in Oklahoma. A year or so ago, coming to this state he became acquainted with Mary A. Brown—wife No. 2—and last July married her. They have been residing at Newberg. Everything appeared lovely until a week or two ago when wife No. 1 appeared on the scene, and now the fond husband languishes in jail, and is likely to have to face a charge of bigamy in the courts.

Wife No. 1, if the representations are to be believed, who is now in McMinnville, does not propose to allow Lewis to recline on flowery beds of ease while basking in the favor of No. 2, and wife No. 2 has no disposition to permit Young to remain in the sunshine of bliss with wife No. 1, while she remains out in the cold. In the meantime Young is beginning to realize that the way of the transgressor is hard, and fails to see very much of a ray of hope.

The women are both said to be nearly or quite as old as the man for whom they are making the trouble, or perhaps who has made trouble for himself.

A CLEAN WATCH

means good time to you for years to come. True economy in a time-piece lies in cleanliness. The delicate parts doing indescribable work will soon wear themselves to ruin, destroy their high finish and perfect fit, when running in accumulating dirt and rancid oil. It will cost you nothing to let me examine it.—C. F. Libby, Jeweler, Hillsboro, Ore.

The four year old son of Daniel Smith, of Jackville, below Farmington, was taken to a Portland hospital, this week, under directions of Dr. F. A. Bailey. The little fellow has a type of paralysis which at first was thought to be the scourge "infantile paralysis," but the attending physician says it is not that malady.

The estate of the late Jens P. Hansen, of Dilley, has been entered for probate. It covers realty and personal property in the sum of seven thousand dollars and will all go to two heirs at law, Harold, of Dilley, and Walter, of Portland. L. L. Langley filed the petition for appointment of an administrator.

County Clerk Bailey did a poor Cupid business in August up to the 23rd. There were but seven licenses issued for the period—one of the dullest Augusts for years at the matrimonial counter. It is but little wonder that Deputy E. C. Luce feels there is something wrong with the conditions.

See our prices—ladies' and gents' shoes. You know the lines and know we are selling at cost and many lines less than cost.—H. Wehrung & Sons.

Jasper Keffer, of near Glencoe, was in Tuesday. He recently threshed 10 acres of oats which went over 70 bushels to the acre and 14 acres which yielded over 52 bushels to the acre—and that's going some for a dry season.

The undersigned wants from 50 to 10 head of Angora goats. State price and particulars.—Ole Oleson, Hillsdale, Oregon, Route 22-4

Rheinhold Schwanke, of North Plains, was in town Tuesday morning. Mr. Schwanke's place is located in one of the richest sections of the county.

Otto Wohler, of Jobe's, was over to the city Tuesday. Mr. Wohler is harvesting two and one-half acres of onions this year.

J. S. Steinke, of Minter bridge, was up to the city Tuesday morning.

Leo Schwander and wife, of above Mountindale, were in the city the last of the week.

The Professional View

An English physician of whom the stories are in circulation and who is as unsympathetic as a rock to the date seems to make him. He is a specialist on all sorts of mental diseases and the fit, spasm and convulsions which sometimes accompany them. One of his patients, a middle-aged man, who had been a very respectable person, if suddenly arrested, would fall into a comatose state from which he would not be roused until the effect of shock had passed. The physician has been summoned again and again. It always happened that he was called from home at the time, and he always arrived on the scene of action before the patient had recovered. At last one day he was summoned and arrived at the house where the woman was still unconscious. He hurried upstairs into the room where she was lying on the couch. He looked at her, and his expression of interest overpowered his face.

Whistler's Ways

It was Whistler's custom to drop to go deliberately to sleep. The matter where or what the circumstances might be. At one time his gentle snore suddenly aroused a neighbor, who nudged him with his elbow. "I say, Whistler, he protested excitedly, "you must sleep here!" "Leave me alone!" snapped Whistler. "I've said all I wanted to say. I'm not interested at all in what you and your friends have to say." One evening he was my guest at a dinner at a hotel. Edwin A. Whistler was also there. Right after dinner Whistler went calmly to sleep. The way to the theater he nudged the other man in the cab, and he slept peacefully through the greater part of the play. The next morning Whistler blandly asked me: "What did you have to say last night? ARGUS worth while?"—Century.

Rather

The subjoined item appeared in a French newspaper: "There was found in the river morning the body of a soldier who had been shot. The circumstances seem to preclude the suspicion of suicide."

A Forecast

Jones—What do you think will be the end of the woman question? Brown—There won't be any end. "They'll always be asking 'em'."

How It Came Out

He—So you finished the novel I brought you. How did it come out? She—The author must have had a pen. I can't see any other way.

Be true to yourself and you will not need to worry about what the others think.
