HARRELL, BORN HERE, MUST HANG FRIDAY

Killed Two Men in Southern Oregon, Over Mining Claim

FOLKS SETTLED ON GALES CREEK

Stoical Slayer Tells Nothing About His Ancestry to Officials

Isaac Harrell, the condemned murderer, who hangs at Salem tomorrow, for the murdering of Herbert and Walter Newell, in Southern Oregon, was born in Washington County, and is a son of William Harrell, well known to all early pioneers in the Gales Creek and North Plains section. Harrell had jumped a claim and the two Newells, who had filed and had worked assessments, showed up and told Harrell he must leave. A woman saw the three men together the last time they were witnessed by a living soul. The bodies of the two brothers were found and suspicion pointed to Harrell. He was arrested and confessed to the crime. He has stolidly refused to tell where his father lived and this week it transpired that the old gentleman, who is highly respected, lives in the eastern part of the county, and is aged along in the seventies. A brother, D. H. Harrell, has been trying to get executive clemency, but Acting Governor Bowerman has declined to interfere, deciding adversely the same time that he refused to commute Roselair's sentence. The saving grace of Harrell is that he refused, to the last minute, to say where his father could be found.

He hangs tomorrow, one day after Roselair's execution. Harrell's parents lived in Hillsboro in the early 80's.

A CLEAN WATCH

means good time to you for years to come. True economy in a time-piece lies in cleanliness. The delicate parts doing indescribable work will soon wear themselves to ruin, destroy their high finish and perfect fit, when running in accumulating dirt and rancid oil. It will cost you nothing to let me examine it.—C. F. Libby, Jeweler, Hillsboro, Ore.

FAREWELL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Whitcomb were given a farewell party, at the Pythian Hall, by the members of the Pythian Sisters, last Saturday evening. Mrs. Whitcomb was called to the hall for a business meeting, and had no idea that the honors of the session belonged to her. Mr. Whitcomb came out on the 9:25 Electric and was met and escorted to the hall. They were given a handsome cut glass bowl; the presentation speech being made by Hon. W. N. Barrett.

The evening was spent in games and conversation, and light refreshments were served at a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Whitcomb have taken up their residence in Portland, after several years in Hillsboro.

Mrs. Margaret Amacher, aged 80 years, died in Portland the last of the week, and the remains were brought to this city for burial. The funeral took place Sunday from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Adams, of Third, between Baseline and Oak, Rev. Evan P. Hughes conducting the services. Interment was in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. She leaves three sons to mourn her loss.

A traveling appetite doctor struck town the first of the week, advertising that his remedy would make an ill man eat. As almost every one here is healthy and can eat three square meals a day, he made but two sales. C. E. Koontz and Cal. Jack J., both of whom have lost their appetites, bought a consignment of the medicine.

Frank Slattery, who spent the summer in the Prineville and Madras sections, returned home last week.

Peter Vandenberg, of Centerville, and Anton Hermens, of Verboort, were in town Monday morning.

Hillsboro citizens are requested to read the statement of the Commercial Bank, on page 4.

George Zimmerman, of near Scappoose, was over to the county seat the last of the week.

The rural mail carriers had a vacation two days hand-running, Sunday and Labor Day.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN H. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

WHEN a man wears his heart on his sleeve it soon learns to take many a scratch and puncture and still be doing business.

The fellow who never gets a chance probably doesn't know one when he needs it in an alley.

Some people never get old enough to know better until they are too old to do better.

It is always easy to get your friends' consent to serve them.

Any of us are fond of work when the product of our labor far exceeds the outlay of time and strength.

It is too bad, but undoubtedly many of our ideas of what we should do are sadly tinged with our estimate of their profit to our purse.

Being a suffragette seems to take an awful lot of time.

Not being able to make up their minds, men frequently make up a story and let it go at that.

Of course we never go to extremes, but just look at what the other fellows do!

Some girls learn to cook, but others are so pretty that they don't have to.

If each of us should draw up a practical plan for an ideal life the result certainly would be interesting reading.

Utility.

On mountain tops the air is pure, The skies are blue and free And everything is pure and bright And very fair to see Inspiring vistas stretch away And greet you everywhere. But what's the good of all of that? You can't raise crops up there.

Some scenery is swell indeed, A picture to the eye. The dullest, most prosaic one Is forced to say, "Oh, my!" It lingers in the memory. When other scenes are dead As something fine to dwell upon, But will it purchase bread?

We note the roaring catarract (So plunging from the height, Admitting without argument It is a noble sight) And at the awe inspiring sight A solemn reverence feel, But what an awful waste is there— It doesn't turn a wheel!

And so it runs through everything In nature and in art. There are some grand and wondrous sights

From which we would not part, But quickly we are called to earth. The vision fades away. We turn, and ever present are The bills we have to pay.
