Every once in a while the mail messenger on the morning run out of Portland neglects to put off the daily Oregonian, and those who get their paper by mail throw all kinds of epithets. Yesterday morning when every one wanted to see the official election returns the Oregonian passed along up the line and the result was much mourning. However, the lapse helped out Jim Cave, who handles the daily on the streets.

In a private letter from Albert Tozier, who is up in the Hood River section on his apple ranch, he says: "Say for me that the Washington County colony at the state fair was the largest, and the arrangement of your tents was the neatest of any on the grounds—and that is saying much. The Hillsboro crowd looked good to me."

The big stallion parade will be scheduled for eleven o'clock Saturday forenoon. The programs given out officially:

DEATH REUNITES
In every-day life there is often a tinge of pathos and romance—and this is verified by the marriage of Victor and Rosa Crop, who were married in this city September 28, 1910, Recorder Bowman officiating. Mrs. Crop secured a divorce from Mr. Crop about two weeks ago. She went to the home of her brother, Henry Cop, of near Roy, and made her home there. Monday evening, the seven year old son died of spinal meningitis, and the death of the child brought them together. They came to the city yesterday and procured a marriage license, and will take up life again as of old—and be happily. Mr. and Mrs. Crop are Catholics, and were wedded by an officer outside the church because the Catholic church discipline does not recognize divorce, and they are still married so far as the church is concerned. Thus they are now doubly married—and if there is any strength in this they should get along splendidly in the future.

HERMAN COLLIER, THE SCHOLLA RANCHER AND ONION GROWER, WAS IN TOWN YESTERDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. McNelly Were in from North Plains, Yesterday Afternoon.

A. L. and Charles Holcomb Were in from beyond West Union, Saturday, during the primary election.

Oscar Gustafson, of below Reedville, was in town Tuesday, and called on the Argus.
Wanted: To buy cheat seed.—A. F. Homrich, Beaverton, Ore., Route 4, Box 11.
J. J. Whitten, of Phillips, was in town yesterday.
Ben Perkins, who is now associated with a McMinnville realty company, was down to the city the first of the week.
George Billings, the former Hillsboroite, and now residing at Woodstock, was out today, looking over the exhibits.
J. J. Kuratli, one of the pioneers of the Phillips section, was in the city yesterday afternoon, watching the progress for the opening of the carnival.
Dr. T. L. Perkins, of Portland, and one of the prominent dentists of the metropolis, was out Sunday, the guest of E. L. Perkins.

George Hathorn, of Laurel, came over from Salem, where he has been a guard at the penitentiary, to attend the street fair. He returns Monday, and will take a position at the State Hospital for the Insane.

Clarence Hoyt, who is dairying at Ridgefield, Wash., was in town yesterday, greeting friends. Ridgefield, on the Portland-Seattlerailway, he says, is bound to be one of the fine business points of Clark County.

The little seven year old son of Victor Crop and his divorced wife died at the home of Henry Cop, near Roy, Monday night, from an attack of spinal meningitis. The funeral took place yesterday at the Verboort cemetery.

Andrew Westberg, of Farmington, has about 1,500 boxes of splendid apples this year. Mr. Westberg feels very much put out because some started the story that his orchard—one of the cleanest in the county—had been condemned. He states there is absolutely nothing to the story and he is at a loss to know why such a canard was started.

David Wenger, of Helvetia, and who left for a visit to Switzerland last May, returned Monday, and was in town yesterday, greeting friends. He says that he had a good time in his old birthplace, but that he is very, very glad to get back to the "Old U. S. A.," where things look good to him. While at Berne, Switzerland, he met Joseph Meier, who is now in that country. He says that when they met, Mr. Meier was not very well, and he was going to some resort.

Assessor Max Crandall is giving notice to the public as to the dates of the board of equalization, which consists of the county clerk, county judge and the assessor. The first day's session will be held on October 17, and if anyone is not satisfied with his or her assessment values then will be the time to appear and protest. The board will continue in session from day to day as long as there is any business to transact. Last year the board had considerable business at its sessions and it is supposed that this year will be no exception to the rule. Many who came in in 1909 had their values raised, the board finding that there was room for higher valuation.

Otis Mayberry, aged past sixteen, came to Hillsboro, with his mother, from Dayton, Monday, the mother coming down to consult attorneys as to damages in an automobile collision case. While the mother was attending the conference young Mayberry went to the Climax mill and asked if he might look through the institution. He was granted the privilege and shortly after he left Mr. Kellington, an employee of the mill, missed his gold-filled watch, which he had left in an ante room. Young Mayberry was caught by Deputy marshal Colestock and when Marshal Larsen searched him he found the timepiece in his trouser pocket. He at first told his mother that he had picked it up in front of the M. E. church, and then told the officer that he had found it outside the mill. He finally, however, admitted the purloining of the article. Judge Barnes placed his bail at $500 and he was remanded to jail in default of the security. A friend came down from Yamhill county yesterday morning to try to arrange bail for the lad. He says the boy has heretofore borne a good reputation. Upon the showing that the boy was about the only support of his mother, and that he never before had been in trouble Deputy T. H. Tongue asked Justice Barnes to permit the boy to go on his own recognizance, and the case will come before circuit court this November.

THE HOP MARKET IS OPENING SLOWLY THIS YEAR, BUT AN ENGLISH IMPORTER IS SAID TO BE IN THE MARKET FOR 1,000 BALES, AND IS WILLING TO PAY FROM 13 TO 14 CENTS, ACCORDING TO QUALITY. MORE THAN LIKELY HE WILL NOT FILL HIS ORDER INSTANTLY, AS GROWERS HAVE A FINE QUALITY THIS YEAR, TOGETHER WITH RATHER A LIGHT CROP, AND THEY ARE NOT IN A MOOD TO SELL AT TOO LOW A FIGURE. HOP EXPERTS ON THE SALES SIDE THINK THAT THE PRODUCT MUST ADVANCE WITHIN THE NEXT 30 DAYS, IF NOT SOONER, AND GROWERS APPEAR TO BE INCLINED TO TAKE THEIR TIP.

I HAVE MOVED MY DRESSMAKING PARLORS FROM MY RESIDENCE ON SECOND TO THE TAMIESIE BUILDING, ROOMS 12 AND 16 UPSTAIRS, WHERE, AFTER OCTOBER 31 WILL BE PLEASED TO MEET MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS. Thos. Mauzey, well known here to all the oldtimers, and who has been in Alaska for several years, has sent down a picture of himself while boating it down the Yukon with a party of tourists. George Hellaire, of Glencoe, was over town Monday evening, and says that Glencoe expects to boom as soon as the rails are laid to that place. Tracklaying is now completed to the Waibel place, but before the steel can be laid to the new town, North Plains, a big bridge will have to be built across the creek.

P. S. Anderson, who has been in the valley for several days, left last evening for Portland and from there goes to Alberta in a day or so. He says the Winters up there have some class to them so far as duration is concerned. He promises to make another trip back to Webfoot next year.
