G. W. Whitmore, of near Laurel, and H. Bigelow, of Chehalis Mountain, were over to the county seat Friday.

Joseph Robinson and brother, George, of near Farmington, were up to the city Saturday, taking in the sights.

Fred Ennes, who has been working down at Goble, in a logging camp, was up the first of the week, taking a vacation.

John Ben Stewart, of South Tualatin, and who is one of the pioneer hopyard "bosses" of his section, was in town Monday.

Keep your chickens enclosed! Just received—a large consignment of poultry wire. Now is the time to buy.—Emerick & Corwin.

Sandy Marsh, of Forest Grove, was down to the city Monday. Marsh is occasionally selling a piece of real estate, and is doing well.

The street carnival missed one of its old visitors, last week—T. G. Todd, of above Forest Grove. If T. G. will promise not to let it happen again the fine will be suspended.

O. E. Elliott and wife, of Clatskanie, were here the last of the week, visiting with friends and taking in the sights. Mrs. Elliott was formerly a resident of Washington County.

Thomas Murray, a son of the late Owen Murray, was up from Cedar Mill, Monday, the first time in three years. He says that he sees wonderful improvement in the old county seat.

D. S. Stokesbury, who has been making rock roads in the two road districts, received word last week of the serious illness of his mother back in Iowa, and started East to attend her bedside.

A crew of men are at work putting in the railway track into the Hillsboro Lumber Mill's timber, above Banks. They expect to have logs here by a week or ten days, at the outside, and the mill will again start sawing.

You can buy the best red cedar shingle for the least money from C. S. Reynolds, of Mountaineer. If you want to make things "dry" and keep them "dry" cover your roof with Reynolds' famous red cedar shingles. 28-1

Forest Grove declared its annual fair of this season, owing to the fact that the grounds at the race track were not completed in time to get the buildings erected. The college city hopes to have it ready for next season, however.

Andrew Eggiman, of near Cedar Mill, was in town Friday, and says that we should get together for a big county fair. He thinks that daily lectures on horticulture, general farming, dairying, etc., for a week, in conjunction with a fair, would be the thing, every year.

Persons living in the country and wishing to take the Daily and Sunday Oregonian for one year can, by paying a year in advance, get the Argus and an Oregonian map, or chart, for the one price. This offer will not last long—so get in your order soon.

Elizabeth Baker, mother-in-law of Mrs. C. L. Baker, died at Sumner, Wash., Sept. 28, 1910, aged 77 years. She leaves a husband and six children, one of who is C. L. Baker, who married Miss Araminta Humphreys, daughter of the late T. D. Humphreys, of this city.

H. B. Dauchy, the Greenville contractor, was in the city the last two days of the fair. He has had a busy Summer, building, and wound up the season drying hops for the Carstens and Inkle yards. He thinks he has a record for two floor work this year, as he turned off 137,000 pounds of dried hops inside of ten days.

The lack of hotel facilities was never so well demonstrated as when the street fair was in progress. Time and again people who wished to remain for the night either went to Portland or Forest Grove. Fortunately, the new hotel will soon be finished and thereafter Hillsboro will be able to take care of its visitors.

The heavy rains of Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night were sufficient to put the farmers in good humor, for plowing can now obtain in all sections of the county. The ground was soaked thoroughly, and if the weather is any ways decent from now on there will be a fine acreage of winter wheat—which is always a good crop in this part of the valley.
