Herman Bishop, of the Mountaintale saw mill, was in the city Monday afternoon.

Ed Mizen, of Shady Brook, was in town Friday, and remembered the Argus office.

Carl Pfahl, of above Blooming, and Dave Wenger, of Helvetia, were in town Monday.

Workmen are busy putting down the concrete floor in the new Hotel Washington.

Thos. Matthesen, of below Schollis, was a city visitor Friday and called on the Argus while making his rounds.

Sam Raffety, of above Mountaintale, was in town Saturday. Sam brought in the champion apple for size at the recent street fair.

W. S. Montgomery, of Hood River, was in town Friday, and called on the Argus. His son is in charge of the Hood River Glazier.

Keep your chickens enclosed! Just received—a large consignment of poultry wire. Now is the time to buy.—Emerick & Corwin.

Christ Grand, of West Union, was in town Monday, taking out medical supplies for his twelve-year-old daughter, who is suffering from a paralysis.

Arthur Bacon, an oldtime Washington County boy, and well known here and at Forest Grove and Mountaintale, was out from Portland the first of the week.

Chas. Gittere, the cigar manufacturer, placed a man at the bench, last week, and will soon have a good stock of cigars on hand for local trade to the retailers.

Persons living in the country and wishing to take the Daily and Sunday Oregonian for one year can, by paying a year in advance, get the Argus and an Oregonian map, or chart, for the one price. This offer will not last long—so get in your order soon.

W. N. Ford, of Astoria, has been up this week, hunting Chinas with Marshal Maddox, of Orengo. They killed a china rooster that had two gold nuggets in his craw—one the size of a match head and the other somewhat smaller. Just where the rooster picked the gold up will remain a mystery.

Jas. H. Sewell returned from a trip down to Myrtle Point, Southern Oregon, Monday, and he brought back with him a fine buck—horns and all,—so as not to run afoul of the game law. He killed two of them while on his trip and feels that he is still in the "big game" when it comes to hunting, and that he has "come back."

Jos. Bishop, of Helvetia, was in the city the last of the week. He says that he has not heard a word as to his son, Joseph, who suddenly disappeared from Seapoose, several years ago. The missing man had just returned from Portland, and had paid $125 down on the purchase, and had left about $600 in one of the business houses of the city. Returning to his work, he complained that he did not feel very well, and had taken a gun and gone out for a walk. Since that time he has neither been seen nor has he communicated with anyone. His relatives have given up hopes of ever seeing him alive. Young Bishop is a brother of the sawmill men of near Mountaintale.

Memories of pioneer days were forcibly brought to mind Saturday, when a schooner, drawn by a horse and a cow, driven by a forlorn looking traveler, passed through this city enroute for the Siletz, where the immigrant had purchased a homestead right. He had his family of a wife and two small children with him, two yellow dogs, and a brindle cow, the latter of which looked as though she were a Texas longhorn from the Panhandle district. The man was very taciturn and refused to stand for an interview, but the woman looked as chirky as a Washington Street belle—Portland. Washington Street is meant here—and if she doesn't make things hum over in the Grand Ronde it will be because she falls sick or gets disgusted with the "better half."
