Hugh Rogers, of Buxton, was down to the city Tuesday, and says the way they are loading logs at Timber, getting them ready for shipment to Fulton, is a revelation. They raise them with grappling hooks and swing Mr. Log on the car without any trouble whatever. Mr. Rogers says that Sweeney lost between $20,000 and $40,000 worth of logs in the recent Nehalem freshet. The boom man overlooked a bet and they went out to sea.

John Fisher, who has lived several years at West Union, where he recently sold his 40-acre place, departed Tuesday evening for Portland, and left today for New York, where he takes the Princess Victoria for Hamburg, Germany, where he has a brother. John expects to make his home at Hamburg—but he'll not. He will be back to Oregon inside of two years.

Two Finlanders rolled into Hillsboro from Portland, the last of the week, a little the worse for tanglefoot. They were taken into custody by Marshal Larsen and worked on the streets a day or so, and departed for Buxton and the front, to make a stake.

Court Reporter Runyon, attending circuit court this week, probably has more work of his class than any other court stenographer in the state.

James Cruikshank, who recently bought near the George Campbell place, this side of Laurel, was in the city Tuesday.

E. G. Hagey, the Sherwood liveryman, was in town Monday, a witness before the grand jury. He had a team stolen several months ago, by Laurenz, who was arrested and is out on bail. The same party took a horse and buggy from the Purdin & Heim barn, in this city, and a team from a Yamhill county stable.

Thos. Williams was up in the hills above Gaston, the last of the week, on a hunt.
