NORTH HILLSBORO HAS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Seventy-Three Voters Were in Attendance at Road Meeting

MAJORITY FOR TAX WAS LARGE

Vote for a Five Mill Tax Stood Forty Nine to Twenty-four

Over seventy voters attended the meeting in North Hillsboro, last Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of voting for and against a special road tax for the continuation of the rock roads, started last year. John W. Sewell was selected to preside as chairman, and Dr. W. D. Wood was chosen secretary. County Judge Goodin explained how the funds of the year passed had been expended, and told how much money was still on hand for prosecution of the work. Dr. Wood and Hon. W. N. Barrett opposed a tax on the grounds that South Hillsboro had refused to lay a levy, and that it was unfair for North Hillsboro to vote and pay taxes on a proposition that redounded equally to the benefit of South Hillsboro so far as the town is concerned. Each made remarks against the levy, and although there was sound sense in what they urged, the opposition was overwhelming.

T. H. Tongue made an effective plea for the five mill levy, and said that just because South Hillsboro had seen fit to withdraw from permanent road work was no reason why North Hillsboro should not put its shoulder to the wheel and proceed with permanent improvements; that all recognized the value of good roads; that of a certainty they would cost money—but that money expended in this way was nothing but an investment—and an investment that would give greater returns than any other avenue. When Mr. Tongue concluded, the applause he was given demonstrated that the meeting was overwhelmingly for the levy. Dr. A. B. Bailey, Frank Imbrie and William Nelson were appointed tellers, and the vote was cast, with the result that 49 voted for a five mill tax, and 24 voted against the measure. A resolution was passed placing the expenditure of the money in the hands of the county court.

A GOOD SPRAY

Editor Argus: As I have had several inquiries in regard to a good sulphur and lime spray, I would say that I have found, by severe tests by the Beaume scale, that the Aetna brand stands the test O. K. This spray is made by E. Leis, of Beaverton, Ore. I believe in patronizing home people, when they make something they can guarantee—and Mr. Leis guarantees his spray to go 30 per Beaume scale.

Yours Truly,
S. J. Gallaway,
County Fruit Inspector,
Hillsboro, Ore., Jan. 2, 1911.

J. B. Imlay, of Reedville, was up to the county seat, Monday morning.

Fred Pritzlaff, of Gales Creek, and who runs a successful dairy up in that fertile section, spent Christmas in the county seat.

Work is progressing nicely on the Wehring Brick Block, and Contractor W. C. Moore expects in a few weeks to have the building ready for occupancy. Workmen commenced Monday morning to put the front in the store building room, south of where the National bank will be located.

Penn Frost, fireman on the Pacific Railway & Navigation Company, under Engineer Follert, became entangled in a belt in the pumping house, one day last week, and suffered a severe sprain of one of his feet and ankles. He was obliged to quit work for a few days, but is recovering rapidly.

Richard Sandford, son of Mrs. Alice Sandford, of Glencoe, returned the first of the week from the Philippines, where he has been in the United States service as a soldier. He arrived in San Francisco, last week, and received his discharge. The transport was expected to have arrived in time for the boys to reach their homes on Christmas, but bad weather kept them at sea longer than expected. Dick sees evidence of much improvement since he last was in Hillsboro.

Mayor H. T. Bagley, Saturday, appointed C. Blaser to the office of city marshal, and the new appointee assumed the star Sunday morning. Mr. Blaser succeeds Marshal Larsen, who has held the position a number of years. There were several applicants for the position. Mr. Blaser was the first to apply, under the understanding that Mr. Larsen would take up other work after the first of the year. Blaser will make a good official. He has been a resident of Hillsboro for many years, and was one of the pioneer boot and shoemakers here. He owns a nice property on the corner of Second and Oak. The outgoing marshal has been one of the best officials the city has known, and he retires with the best wishes of people of the city.

Albert Tozier, of Dec, Oregon, spent New Years with the family of T. S. Weathered. "Bert" is looking the "best ever," and old Father Time has been dealing leniently with him. He was census enumerator up in the Harney district, last Spring, and many times walked all day with out seeing a solitary person, or without breaking a fast. He says that he is delighted to see his old boyhood home improving so nicely.

John Peters, of Verboort, was in the city Saturday, accompanied by his cousin, John Peters, of Sheridan County, Neb., and who is visiting here for a few days prior to spending the Winter near Los Angeles. The guest has 700 acres of Nebraska agricultural and pasture lands, and is engaged in farming and stock raising. He says that he now knows where to locate should he make a change from the prairie state.

Jasper Keffer, of Glencoe, was in town Monday, and went to Salem to see the two Cowanahs, who are in the asylum. Mr. Keffer having been appointed guardian of Deuce Cowanah. It is reported that both of the boys are improving and are likely to be discharged in a few months.

A. W. Mills, of Cornelius, and who has been associated with the blacksmith firm of Broderick & Mills, for four months, has retired from the firm. He was in town Saturday, and the dissolution notice appears in another column. Mr. Broderick will continue the business.

Marion Wilkes, county surveyor of Benton County, was down from Corvallis, Sunday, the guest of his father, T. S. Wilkes. He has been over surveying for a bridge across the Willamette, at Newberg, doing the engineering work for a Portland bridge-building firm.

Business was suspended in the city Monday afternoon, as nearly all the business houses were closed. It was a legal holiday for the court house and banks and there seemed to be a general disposition to celebrate the afternoon as a sort of "rest time."

Mrs. Jay Bowerman and family, of Condon, are guests of the week at the home of Dr. F. A. Bailey and wife. Mr. Bowerman is now acting governor of Oregon, and will continue in that position until the legislature meets next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Siegrist returned last week after spending Christmas with Mrs. Siegrist's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Emrick, of Arlington. They also visited a day or so with William and Herman Siegrist, of La Grande.

The outgoing county court—the commissioners' court—held its closing session last Saturday, to wind up business developed by them. Nearly all the December claims were on hand and disposed of by the board.

Daniel Bailey, of South Tualatin, was over to the city Saturday—but it isn't necessary to say that he made the trip without his auto.

Thos. Bailey, A. W. Siegrist and Fred Siegrist are employed in extending the valuations and tax levies on the county tax roll.

E. N. Thomas, the Beaverton grower of onion seed, was in the city the last of the week, on business at the court house.

J. W. Hughes, of near Forest Grove, was down to the county capital, Saturday, greeting his county seat friends.

Money to loan on real estate security. We sell farms. Try us.—The Webfoot Realty Co., Hillsboro. 12tf

Daniel Baker, of near Forest Grove, was down to the county seat Saturday.

Ralph Wann, teaching at Reedville, was in the city Monday.

WAS AT FIRST FAIR HELD IN THE COUNTY

James Gibson, of Reedville, Remembers First Industrial Exhibit

FATHER ONE OF THE ORGANIZERS

Was Also Chief Marshal at Fair in 1881, at the Fair Grounds

James Gibson, of Reedville, was in town Saturday, and called at the Argus office. Mr. Gibson's father, W. O. Gibson, was one of the original stockholders of the Agricultural Society, which formed in June, 1854, and associated with him was T. J. Dryer, then editor of the Oregonian. Mr. Gibson attended the Fair, which was held that Fall, and he was then 20 years of age, having first seen the light of day in 1834. The Gibsons then lived at Dilley, and many prominent men were associated in the work.

T. G. Naylor, father of Ed. Naylor, who was shot at Forest Grove a few weeks ago, was the first president of the association. In 1881, Jas. Gibson was chief marshal at the Fair held at the old Fair Grounds, located on the Tongue estate, west of this city. In 1871, he won $10 prize for a draft team that was on exhibition.

Notwithstanding his seventy-six years, Mr. Gibson holds his age finely, and gets around like a colt.

ANNUAL MEETING

The members of the German Fire Insurance of Washington County will hold their annual meeting at the Grange Hall, Hillsboro, on January 9, 1911, at the hour of 11:30 in the morning. The officers say there will be no assessment this meeting as the Board of Directors have determined that there is sufficient means to carry the business on. Notices have been sent to the entire membership. Fred Berger and Erwin Ritter, both of Bethany, are president and secretary of the institution, respectively.

JUNK DEALER

Upon an information filed before Judge Barnes, last week, Sheriff Hancock Saturday arrested two Portland junk dealers, Jews by nationality, on the charge of having stolen two iron wheels from the Hawthorne estate, where John Sinclair has been running the hopyard. Sheriff Hancock found the two wheels in their possession at Orenco, and brought them to Hillsboro. Max Kane, one of the two, gave $500 bail, while Samuel Bell, the other defendant, was taken to jail. They have been riding around the county, buying old junk, and shortly after they passed the hopyard Sinclair discovered the loss of the wheels, both of which are valued at perhaps thirty or forty dollars. They will appear before Judge W. D. Smith, tomorrow, to see whether or not they will be bound over to appear at circuit court.

As the goods were found in their possession, it looks as though the state had a very good case against them. The wheels were laying around loose, and were not attached to the baler. Two stoves were missing down in that section, and the sheriff found a lot of broken stoves with them, but the pieces were not in shape to make identification.

An Italian, who worked in several hopyards here last Fall, during that period, forged the name of William Bagley Sr. to a check for a little over $18, and it was cashed without any suspicion. He left at once, and Zach Gragg, who cashed the paper, was that much loser. He notified the officers, but no trace of the forger could be found. The other day, Sheriff Hancock received a letter from Santa Ana, Cal., telling of the capture of an Italian, who had been arrested for forgery down there, and the California officers think from papers found on him that he might be the party who uttered the fraudulent check and turned it in to Mr. Gragg.

The new Gardner building, south of the Hotel Washington, has had its front installed, and C. S. Parker expects to have his new Wigwam moved into the structure by January 16.

F. Klatt, of Bethany, was in the city Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Imbrie, of West Union, were in the city Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nachbaur, of Newton, were in the city Saturday.

N. S. Prickett, of Banks, was a county seat visitor the last of the week.

Born, at Forest Grove, Dec. 29, 1910, to Wm. Long and wife, a daughter.

Born, December 28, 1910, at Mountindale, to Mr. and Mrs. Burt Wilkes, a daughter.

For Sale—Registered Poland China boar, yearling. Apply to John Vanderwal, Hillsboro. 42-4

Ferd Groner, of Scholls, and who is a good roads enthusiast, was up to the county seat Saturday.

Wallace Pasley, formerly of near Glencoe, and now of East Portland, was in town Saturday, and called on the Argus.

Now on sale—Nap-a-Tan, John Sharrow and W. L. Douglas shoes at Wyatt & Co. Store, corner Second and Main.

E. L. Slute and Jasper Keffer have bought a lot, 100x100, in the new town of North Plains, and expect to install a chopper and a feed store.

How many of you have made a circle and then drawn a line down through the center of it since Sunday morning? Don't all speak at once.

Theo. Nissen, of near Scholls, was a caller on the Argus, Monday. He says the roads between Hillsboro and Scholls are had enough for Arkansas, just now.

S. N. Sproat, of Reedville, and secretary of the fruit growers' association, and B. Leis, of Beaverton, were up to the meeting Saturday afternoon, at the city hall.

When the kitchen is properly equipped there is sunshine in the house. Come in and see our Champion and Charter Oak ranges. They are the best.—Emrick & Corwin

N. Noland, the Cornelius pioneer, was down Monday, extending New Year's greetings to his many county seat friends. Mrs. Noland spent the New Year with relatives in Portland.

Mrs. H. H. Cronise, wife of the former Hillsboro agent for the Oregon Electric, departed Friday for Albany, where she will reside. Mr. Cronise is now agent for the same company at Wilsonville.

W. F. Hollenbeck, of Clark County, Wash., and who for years lived up above Mountindale, where he owned a nice ranch until sale was perfected last week, was over to Hillsboro and Mountindale, the last of the week.

The Oregonian Annual will be published February 4. Leave your orders for your extra numbers with J. W. Cave, at the McCormick Music Store. This will be the finest number ever issued out of the office, and will be a splendid paper to send to your Eastern friends.

The photographer's art is being called into play in advertising Washington County's fruit possibilities. Nearly every mail carries postals with photographic prints of apple bearing trees, laden with pippins, and it affords fine evidence of what we can do in this avenue of horticulture.

C. W. Nelson and Sam Pooley, of Hillsboro, left Monday night, for a ten days' trip to the Sacramento Valley, where they go to look at some lands owned by Mr. Nelson's uncle and brother. Both expect to invest, and from its location it is thought that the values will increase considerably in the next few years.

John F. Forbis, who has about 100 acres in orchard, his trees being apples, prunes, walnuts and cherries, was down to the fruit meeting, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Forbis has a great deal of faith in the future of the Washington County fruit industry, and has evidenced his confidence by the expenditure of a good deal of money on his ranch. He was a former Montana man.

Homer Emmott returned the last of the week from a month's trip to Arizona, Kansas City, Iowa and other mid-Western points. He stopped several days in Arizona, and witnessed a snowfall in Iowa. Homer says that Arizona has the most wonderful winter climate of any place in the union—but somehow, old Oregon was always foremost in my mind, and I'm mighty glad to get back.

WOULD HAVE STATUTES TO PAY FOR SLAUGHTER

Committee of Tuberculous Inspection Would Re-Imburse

RATE OF TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS

Austin Buxton, of Forest Grove, a Member of the Committee

If the Consumers' League committee, which met in Portland, last week, and of whom Austin Buxton, of Forest Grove, is a member, can get legislation passed in accordance with their wishes, those who hereafter have cows killed because of tuberculosis, will get $25 for each animal found infected and killed by the authorities. In the past, much loss has been sustained by farmers and dairymen losing animals under the old law. In many instances in Multnomah county, whole herds have been sacrificed, and in a very few instances dairymen in this county have sustained losses.

If the recommendations of Mr. Buxton's committee go into law the owner will get $25 flat for the loss, besides having the right to dispose of the carcass to the best legal advantage.

Washington county cows are said to be very free of the disease, and there are hundreds of herds wherein there is not a trace of the tubercule. One ranchman, Eff. Schieffelin, of Centerville, recently had his whole herd tested with the result that there was not a single case of infection found.

The committee desires that herds be tested first in Multnomah, owing to the population, and after the tests have been made there, to take up the outlying districts and counties.

Cattle slain under the proposed law must not be sold for food.

NOW WE WILL PAVE

The day of paved streets will be welcomed by all of Hillsboro, and the farmers who come to the city to trade. Anent last week's article, telling of a blonde lady from Portland, who visited here Christmas Day, and relating how she was splashed by several gallons of mud centrifugized by a milk wagon, it is not necessary to say that the "story" was a Munchausen yarn that never happened. There was no blonde lady out here from the metropolis, and no such incident took place—not that she would not have been splashed had she been here—and none of the gentlemen whose names were used as witnessing the "splashing" were on the street (excepting Cal. Jack) Christmas morning. Consequently the poor little lady whose existence lived only in the fertile brain of a youthful chap who worked the Argus columns for a story that was read by hundreds of people last week. But Hillsboro is bound to pave, anyway.

Thos. Talbot, of Cornelius, was in town Monday forenoon.

Imperial Hard Wheat Flour, $1.45 per sack, at Connell & Co. Every sack guaranteed. 37tf

G. A. Plieth, of Tigardville, was up to the city Saturday, attending the closing session of the old county court.

Jacob Buchele, of Cornelius, was in town Monday. He and his wife recently returned from a month in California. When in Oakland he saw E. Kraus, who is wintering at that point.

Chas. Schneider, formerly a farmer here on the North Plains, and now successfully ranching down at Creswell, Lane County, writes to the Argus for renewal, and has the distinction of being advanced on the list farther ahead than any of its two thousand subscribers.

"It is a new Hillsboro," said Albert Tozier, Monday morning. "Your little city is having a splendid growth, and the new buildings and other improvements are being talked about all over the state. Your condenser, your sawmill, your various lines of railways, and your superb country, of which your city is the center, all go to make this a very desirable community. It pleases me to see my old boyhood home coming to the front, and if you don't have 5,000 people here within three or four years all indications of growth will go far wrong."
