

THE HILLSBORO ARGUS.

VOL. XVIII HILLSBORO, OREGON, JULY 20, 1911. NO. 19

COUNTY SUED FOR DAMAGES BY CRUSHER

Judge Campbell Grants and Signs Temporary Injunction

ROCK CRUSHER NOW LAYING IDLE

Plaintiff, B. Dethlefs, Alleges Lives of Family are Imperiled

Washington County is involved in a peculiar lawsuit, B. Dethlefs, of Patton Valley, having sued out an injunction against the commonwealth and Supervisor B. Fleischauer, asking that the defendants pay him damages, and that the rock crusher suspend operations at that point. The county has installed a crusher on the Bruce Purdy farm, adjoining the Dethlefs place, and the plaintiff alleges that prior to this season rocks were thrown by blasts to the damage of his land in the sum of $50; damage this season to the extent of $100; asks $25 for time and expense in interviewing the county court; and $1,000 for destroying the peace of mind of his family because of the flying rock and missiles. Dethlefs states in his complaint that he has three children, and that all are under four years of age, and that the family is in constant fear that some of them will be injured.

The work at the quarry was stopped upon the signing of the injunction order, and the case will go to trial as soon as possible. The District Attorney's office hopes to get to issue with the matter this week some time, and the road district is in hopes to get the case disposed of so that the special tax can be used this year on the roads.

A Forest Grove law firm has the case for Mr. Dethlefs, and District Attorney E. B. Tongue and his Deputy, Thos. H., will appear for the County of Washington and Supervisor Fleischauer.

PETERS ROBINSON

Raymond M. Peters and Miss Nellie M. Robinson, of Beaverton, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and F. M. Robinson, July 11, 1911. Rev. Father Deeney celebrating the ceremony. Both are popular young people, and have a host of friends who wish them every happiness.

Joseph Brandenberg was in the city from Oreco, Saturday.

Herman Collier, of Scholls, was a city visitor Friday afternoon.

Harlan Kelly, of above Mountandale, was over to the city Monday.

John Brock, of South Tualatin, was in the city Friday, taking a little rest from haying, and getting ready for harvest.

J. M. Jones, the Forest Grove monument man, was in the city Friday, calling on his customers, established and prospective.

It's no disgrace if your fowls become lousy—but it's a shame to let them stay lousy. Conkey's Lice Powder does the work.—R. C. Hartrampf.

T. R. Davis, of this side of North Plains, was in town Monday. He says that haying has been in full blast for some time in his section.

B. Fleischauer, road supervisor of District No. 4, near Gaston, was down to the city Monday, accompanied by Mr. Hoffman, of near Chehalum Mountain.

John V. Hale and wife and two children, are up from Southern Oregon, guests at the Alder Springs camp of Mr. and Mrs. Green Hale. John V. is a locomotive engineer for the Southern, and has a good run to the South.

Rev. Mr. Reese will preach at the Farmington M. E. Church, July 22, at 8 in the evening, and July 29, morning and evening. He will deliver illustrated sermons, pleasing to children, and he is an entertaining speaker—well worth hearing.

G. W. Gelwicks of Portland, associated with Jos. Gaston and others, in the compilation of a history of Oregon, together with biographical sketches of prominent citizens, is in the city, accompanied by Mrs. Gelwicks. They will remain here several days taking orders for the work, which is to be a comprehensive one of three volumes, or more.

Extra fine samples of hay or grain, vegetables, etc., should be saved by producers, for exhibit at the coming street fair this fall. Every year we have visitors from Portland, and all are unanimous in saying that Washington County has the "bulge" on any county in the state for production. As a rule there has been enough of "looking out ahead" for samples of what we can do on the farms and orchards of the county, and this year we should take time by the forelock, and do things of the reel. We shall have a fine street fair this year, and if the streets are not in shape to use in the business section, we shall find some other—and perhaps a better—place.

Geo. M. Weister, with the Harriman Lines, is in the county, getting photographs of local farm productions, and also taking testimonials from farmers, relating why they came to remain here. These evidences of our productive worth will be printed in a neatly bound work, and distributed in the East, while reproductions of the photos will be sent to all Eastern points. One of the first official photographs taken is the 10-foot vetch brought in by Frank Wallace, of Farmington.

R. G. Brooks and wife, of Hopkinton, Ia., arrived the last of the week for a visit with Mrs. Brook's brother, M. N. Bonham, and family. They leave in a few days for the East, via the Northern Pacific, and will visit the Yellowstone Park, enroute. Mr. Brooks likes the Oregon country and as he has been out here a time or two, his affection is liable to grow that he may become "one of us".

Chas. Johnson and wife, of Ellsworth, Wis., accompanied by their daughter, Miss Margaret, a teacher in the Chicago schools, were guests of the Johnson Brothers, of South Tualatin, the last of the week, returning East the first of the week, via Mountandale, where they will visit relatives at Hamilton. Mr. Johnson is a younger brother of the late Geo. Johnson.

F. C. Burgholzer, of Buxton, was down to the city Monday, filing his official bond in the sum of $1,000, as justice of the peace for his district. The party elected failed to qualify, moved away, or something like that, and the county court appointed Mr. Burgholzer to the position.

Geo. W. Yerta, Immigration agent for the Great Northern Railway, was in Hillsboro, Saturday, procuring samples of fruit for the big transportation company's display at Portland, Seattle and Eastern points. He will return here at the coming street fair.

Nox-i-cide disinfects and kills the germs. Mixes with water and is cheap and effective. Use it now and prevent disease. For sale by R. C. Hartrampf.

Orley Haney and Aidelaide McDonald were united in marriage at Forest Grove, at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Stivers, July 12, 1911.

Taken up—Dehorned cow, probably fresh in Fall. Owner prove property and pay charges.—J. A. Vandehey, Cornelius, R. 1, on Harrington place.

Henry P. Hocking and Lota B. Laughlin were united in marriage at Forest Grove, July 12, 1911, in the parlors of the officiating minister, Rev. Stivers.

Registered Berkshire pigs, four weeks old, for sale. Two male and five female. Choicest stock. Geo. Harrow, Hillsboro, R. 4, near Oak Park.

Carl Ward, who recently bought part of the Frank Unger place, over in South Tualatin, was in the city Friday, and called on the Argus.

Wm. Darcy, of beyond Glenocoe, was over to the city Saturday. Will say the mosquito crop is a "hummer" out his way.

Smokers want the best—therefore call for a Schiller or a Grand Marca, when you want to see the blue wreath curl. 12tf

Albert Hartrampf, W. G. Hare and Dr. W. E. Pittenger went to Sheridan, Saturday, on business.

Robt. Thompson, of Cedar Mill, was in the city Monday afternoon.

Elmer Miller, of Shady Brook, was in the city the first of the week.

Christ Grand, of West Union, was a county seat visitor Saturday.

Wm. Mohr, of Oak Park, was over town Saturday.

C. E. Lytle, General Manager of the P. R. & N., came over from the coast the first of the week, after enjoying some of the Tillamook sea breezes. C. E. says that during the hot wave of last week it was necessary to wear overcoats in the evening, along the coast line.

The Reedville White Sox were defeated by the Peninsulars, one of Portland's strong young amateur teams, Sunday, by a score of 6 to 4, in one of the fastest games of the Reedville season. Next Sunday, Reedville will play the Portland Colts, game called at one o'clock. Everybody invited to come out and see the White Sox put up a good game.

Sheriff Hancock went out to the Lunow place, near North Plains, last Saturday, and brought away two children, offsprings of the late Peter Asp, who recently suicided at Tillamook. The little ones had been remanded to the Boys' & Girls' Aid Society, Portland, and their grandfather, Mr. Lunow, feeling that blood was thicker than water, got possession of the youngsters and wanted to keep them. His affection was not allowed to exert itself, however, and the strong arm of the State stepped in and delivered them to Gardner, Superintendent of the Society.

Frank Wallace, of Farmington, brought in a bundle of vetch for exhibit at the Imbrie Land Co.'s display, the other day, and the "fodder" measured 10 feet to an inch—and that is going some, even for Washington County. Herman Collier, of Scholls, also brought in something to enliven the exhibit—his offering being alfalfa which was of the first cut, and three feet in height. Farmers who have a fine stand of grain are requested to bring in full bundles to N. H. Alexander, and he will send any sample to the Hill lines, or to the Harriman bureaus, for Eastern exhibition. 10tf

MAYOR RUSHLIGHT PUTS A VETO ON ORDINANCE

Refuses to Acquiesce in Releasing United Railways

SAYS ORIGINAL FRANCHISE STANDS

This Means, Unless Further Action, That Road Must Build Here

Unless the United Railways shall build their line to Mt. Calvary, and also extend their line to Hillsboro, they will have no franchise in Portland, according to the decision of Mayor Rushlight, last Thursday, in vetoing the ordinance releasing the company from building to Mt. Calvary. The ordinance was drafted under the Simon administration, and the express purpose, as given out to the public, was to allow the Oregon Electric and United to use joint tracks, and permit a transfer of freight and passenger business from one line to the other. On the other hand, contained in the ordinance, was a joker, releasing the United from building to Mt. Calvary, and also absolving the United from putting the line into Hillsboro. Mayor Rushlight says that the franchise was given, and made operative only, when the lines as above should be constructed. He doubted the right of the council to repeal the measure, and therefore added a little addenda to the paper in the shape of a veto.

As the matter now stands the United really has no franchise—and can have none unless it shall build to the two points. The ordinance killed by Mayor Rushlight would have passed and received Mayor Simon's signature, in all probability, had it not been for Dr. Tamiesie, N. H. Alexander and Mayor Bagley, all of whom went before the municipal body, to protest against the release of the provisions.

The original franchise was refused by Portland, the council alleging that a Mr. Graydon, who was promoting the road, was simply asking for something which he would attempt to "peddle." The body was obdurate, and a delegation of Hillsboro's business men went to the metropolis, and after much argument, secured the provisional franchise, and to protect both Portland and Hillsboro, had the measure inoperative, except for city work, until the company should build and operate to the above points. Graydon finally sold his rights, and ultimately the United was purchased by the Hill system. Hillsboro was ignored, Hill also having secured the Oregon Electric, which built from Garden Home, through Hillsboro, to the Grove.

Rushlight avers that the release could not be effected without publication in a newspaper—and there was no ordinance so published.

Hillsboro seems to have a "friend at court."

CHICKENS FOR SALE
