HARVEST IN FULL BLAST IN COUNTY

Threshermen Report Good Yields
on Early Fall Grain

SPRING GRAIN IS NOT SO GOOD

Filling Not up to Earlier Prospects,
Owing to Warm Wave

Threshing is in full blast in Washington county, and threshermen are turning out a variety of yields. Where wheat was sown early and filled before the warm wave struck this region, it is yielding all the way from 25 to 40 bushels per acre, and oats in the same condition are going from 50 to 70 bushels.

Later sown fall grain and the Spring sown, however, were just at the point where the warm weather made a shortage in filling, and the yields are not so heavy. Taken all in all, however, the harvest is a good one, and considering that the hay crop was extra heavy, and grain fully as good on the average as last year, and a little better in places, there is no cause for complaint.

The potato crop is not going to be very heavy on the plains, but up in the hills it is said the vines are looking up fine.

A STATEMENT

Reedville, Aug. 14, 1911.
To the Editor of the Argus—
Dear Sir: You will kindly give me space in your valuable paper to correct a statement made in the Oregonian, under the head of "A Cherry Appetite Curbed," dated August 9th. I will say a part, if not all, are absolutely false. Mr. Hitchcock knew who owned the place, as he was so informed by the man on the place, but he made free use of my berries and cherries at different times, always when I had left the place, and the man on the land denies ever giving him permission as claimed. Mr. Hitchcock was not satisfied with taking what fruit he could eat, but brought with him his wife and one or two men and a market basket, in which they were putting the cherries. Some were in the tree picking at the same time, breaking off the limbs and throwing them down for Mrs. Hitchcock to pick. The limbs I found scattered around the tree. I was informed by one of the party that the cherries were taken to Portland. I was informed by the party who caught them in the orchard, that they had gathered about half a basketful. Mr. Hitchcock has never offered to pay for the fruit at any time, as I have never seen the man, and what he says in that respect is absolutely false, but I will sure make his acquaintance after threshing season is over.
E. W. Dant.

Thos. Rhea and Mrs. Lydia J. Bigelow were united in marriage in Portland, Thursday, August 11, 1911. Rev. Canse, M. E. minister, officiating.

The groom is the father of Mrs. H. T. Bagley and the bride has been a resident of Hillsboro several years.

Geo. Vandecoeving, of near Roy, threshed 408 bushels of wheat from a ten acre field, and Theodore Vanderzanden went this a trifle better, his harvest bringing him 41.5 bushels to the acre. Wheat raising pays this year in Washington County.

Emerson Quick and wife, of St. Helens, arrived in Saturday, and are out at Mountandale, guests of Thos. Fowles and family, and other Mountandale people. Emerson was in the city Monday and says he is glad to see the old home county seat going ahead.

Milton W. Bush, of Portland, and for years a member of the J. A. Imbrie household, was out from Portland, Sunday, the guest of the Imbries. He has just returned from a trip to Rochester, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., taking in the Shriners' meeting. On his return he stopped at the Yellowstone Park.

A. O. Johnson, of South Tualatin, is trying a departure for this section of the state. The other day he bought a carload of Idaho lambs—251 in number—and had them shipped out to feed for 90 days for the Portland market. He is going to make a try of it, and thinks he can make a few dollars on the deal. He will feed them hay and grain, and give them all they will eat.

The Groner & Rowell Co. have a large stock of drain tile, from 3 to 14 inch; also building blocks and brick. It will pay you to place your orders with us, as we burn our tile to a better color than our competitors, as our wood only costs us a trifle. We also have a good stock of rough and dressed lumber, which we invite the public to inspect, before purchasing elsewhere. Our flooring is made from red fir timber and will wear much better than flooring made from the soft yellow fir timber. 5tf

R. H. Heineman, of Seattle, and Florence Gray came out from Portland, Sunday, after the groom-elect had telephoned the county clerk to remain in the city in order to issue a license, and were married by Rev. Valandigham. After Clerk Bailey had cancelled an out-of-town trip to accommodate the sighing swain, the groom laid down six dollars to be divided between the county and the officiating minister. This left "Val" but $3 for his nuptial ceremony, and gave no courtesy to Clerk Bailey for the loss of his trip out of town. The tightness of the groom occasioned considerable joshing, the recipients of which were the clerk and minister.

Irving Higginbotham is Making

HUSTON TELLS OF EASTERN TRIP

He and Family Saw Fine Games While Making the Grand Circuit

Hon. S. B. Huston, of Portland, was out to the city Friday, on legal business, and says he thoroughly enjoyed his Eastern trip, from which he and his family recently returned. He saw the Chicago Cubs play at Chicago, and win their game, and says that Joe Tinker, the old-time Portland favorite, was on the diamond.

While in Louisville, Ky., he went to see the national game as played in the city of "Mars Henri" Watterson, and Irving Higginbotham, the former Hillsboro boy, was pitching for the home team. Higginbotham won his game in the box, and was batting 400. Mr. Huston says that the old-time Hillsborite is now married and settled down, and living in the chief Kentucky city. He is playing great ball, contrary to the expectations of many who had hung the Indian sign on the young chap when he was here, and in the tri-city league. While in Pittsburgh, Mr. Huston saw another slabster who has pitched against Hillsboro many a time—Southpaw Gardner, and he is one of the best in the big leagues, and Huston predicts that he will be a top-notch before another season rolls around.

The visitor says he motored all over the East, and had a splendid time, although the weather back there is really too warm for an acclimated Oregonian.

GREEN FLAGS GO

That green flags, one at each side of the rear end of the last passenger coach on a train, have served their use on the Southern Pacific and other Harriman roads, and will no longer be seen on any passenger trains on these lines. The first of August saw the last of the green flags and all of the Southern Pacific passenger trains are now running with lamp markers in place of the flags. Green flags have been used for many years on the rear of trains to designate to trains in the opposite direction and to the engineer of the train displaying the flag markers, that the train was intact. This was necessary in the days when all of the cars in trains were not equipped with automatic air brakes. Sometimes, when the link and pin couplings were in use, a pin would break and a car would be left behind. There was no way for the engineer to tell whether or not he had all of his cars with him unless he could look out of his cab and see the green flag waving from the last coach. All of the cars of the Southern Pacific Company are now equipped with the automatic air brakes, and so the green flag is unnecessary.

CAMP RODERICK

A visit to the Summer camp of Attorney John M. Wall and family, at Roderick Falls, on Gales Creek, near Gales Peak, Sunday, disclosed the fact that one of the pretty and wild sites of the county is within seven or eight miles of Forest Grove. Roderick Falls, a beautiful cascade of water, with a fall of nearly 300 feet within a distance of an eighth of a mile, is located in a three minutes walk from the Wall bungalow, and Gales Peak is but a half hour's walk. Some of these days this will be a resort worth while. Mr. Wall makes the trip back and forth to the county seat with an auto, and covers the distance in an hour of easy coasting. Judge Stevenson's famous "Elk Horn" ranch is just across the valley from Roderick Falls, and he rides in and out of the city with Wall. Mrs. Wall and children have been camping there several weeks, and will remain there until the first of the month.

Peter Grossen, of Phillips, was a county seat visitor Saturday.

Wolf Brothers are hauling rock to beat the band for the macadam road, northeast of the city, and Mr. Stokesbury is putting down the usual fine road.

Chas. Holcomb, of Bethany, was a county seat caller, Saturday.

Frederick Johansen and son, Oscar, were up from Farmington Saturday.

Mrs. Ernest Keehn and daughter, of Elmonica, were in town Saturday.

W. E. Boucsein, of above Mountandale, was down to the county seat Saturday.

Geo. Russell, deputy game warden, of Gaston, was down to the county seat Saturday morning.

S. L. Hollenbeck, of Mountandale, was down to the city Saturday. He has been running a prune drier for several years.

Claude Strahan, a Portland attorney, was out to Hillsboro, Saturday, counsel for the plaintiff in the Kennington case.

J. A. Moore, of Roy, was down to the city Saturday, on probate business. He has been appointed administrator of the estate of his father, the late J. A. Moore Sr.

C. C. Nelson, of Bacona, was down to the city Saturday, with about a hundredweight of wild blackberries, for which he received 12½ cents per pound. He says they are very scarce this season.

The Grand Marca is the most wholesome "two for a quarter" smoke on market—made in Oregon, by E. Schiller. When you indulge in a good smoke buy a Grand Marca. 12tf

H. A. Kurattli, of Phillips, was in the city Saturday. He recently advertised some school bonds in the Argus, and three readers of the Argus have taken them all. It pays to advertise.

Ranch for cash rent—40 acres; 35 under plow; house and barn; 2 running streams; orchard; one mile west of Laurel.—James Patterson, Laurel, Oregon, Route one. 22-4

J. S. Miller, of Scholls, was up to the city Saturday—and he was one of the many from down that way who was not a witness, one side or other, on the Kennington case, on trial in circuit court.

We have what you want in vegetable plants—over 200,000 kale plants; 100,000 cabbage plants; 50,000 tomato plants, and most any kind of vegetable plants. Come and see for yourself, at Morton's Greenhouse, Hillsboro. 8tf

M. M. Mead departed for Lake Lytle, this week, to go to work on a contract of grading for the company that owns the beach site and resort at that place. Thousands of dollars will be spent on the project to have the place ready for next Summer's travel.

J. T. Powell, well known here, was out Saturday, from one of the Portland hospitals, where he has been nursing a sprained ankle, caused by jumping from the cab of a locomotive at the Umattilla Yards, where he is hostler, and resulting in a severe strain. He expects to leave for his work in two or three weeks.

Jack Dragoun, who worked here, a few miles east of Hillsboro, a few years ago, lost an arm and had three ribs broken, the result of being drawn into a separator cylinder, in the Walla Walla country, last week. He was taken to the hospital at Walla Walla, and surgeons reported little hope for his recovery.

Arthur B. Flint, of Scholls, was up to the city Saturday morning. His threshing outfit has been out several days, and he reports Winter oats yielding fine, and many fields of Winter wheat going as high as 25 bushels to the acre. He thinks that the wheat would have yielded much heavier but for the warm wave coming just as it was filling.

Prof. Jos. W. Marsh Completes Life
Work at Forest Grove

Professor Joseph W. Marsh, after spending 44 years at Pacific University, as the head of several departments of learning, and all these years librarian at the college, resigned his position last week, and will spend the remainder of his life reading and enjoying the fruit of his labors. He retires at the age of 75 years, and has instructed some of the brightest minds of the Northwest. The late Congressman T. H. Tongue was one of his early students.

Prof. Marsh graduated from the University of Vermont in 1857, and later attended the Union Theological Seminary. He came to Oregon in 1867 and ever since has been identified with Pacific University. For a number of years he has worked to get a Carnegie Library, and his hopes are to be realized next year.

He came from a family of educators, his father being President of the University of Vermont, and his great-grandfather was one of the founders of Dartmouth College.

Despite his years, Prof. Marsh is still quite active, and until a few months ago regularly assisted at the county teachers' examinations.

TO CONNECT OCT. 1

The Pacific Railway & Navigation Company expects to have the track finished so that trains can run between this city and Tillamook, by October 1. This, of course, will largely depend on whether or not it rains any during September. If the weather shall remain fair, so that bridge-work can be prosecuted to the limit, October 1 will crowd the time of track connection between the two ends. Hillsboro and Tillamook are to have a big doings, jointly, over at the Tillamook capitol, and a special excursion will be conducted to take Washington county people over and return, the same day.
