DRAINAGE PROJECT

Settlers and Home Owners of Dairy Bottoms Petition for Relief

THOUSANDS OF ACRES EFFECTED

County Court May Enlarge District, or Cut Down Boundaries

For many years the bottom lands of Dairy Creek and tributaries, ranging from the Gales East bluffs to Mountaindale and Centerville, have suffered from too much water, and drainage has been the only relief. The owners of 45 pieces of land were in county court last week, trying to get a drainage district established. Casper Jasper, Peter Vanderzanden and Hugh Moore protested-not against the drainage district, but against it terminating at a point that would make them take the flow-and Kumpe, A C Alexander, A Gross, Alex the matter was held under advisement. The court may enlarge the district; cut it down; or disallow. There are thousands of acres up there that would be benefitted by practical drainage, but this would mean drainage clear down to Centerville, and further. The settlers were before the court, Friday, and Hon. Hubert Bernards addressed the court on the petition, which is signed by E. J. Boos et als. Mr. Bernards' suggestions, if adopted and carried through, would redeem thousands of acres of the richest kind of beaverdam and bottom lands for cultivation. The district proposed by Boos and others is intended to drain about a thousand acres, and is an old district which was established some years ago and was successful in a measure until the west fork of Dairy Creek got stopped up with brush and logs, and raised the water level until the ditch would not carry off the

It developed in the discussion of the case before the court, that the county court has authority to extend the boundaries of any proposed drainage dis-trict. Now would seem to be the time for the county court to make a master stroke for the development of the county, by establishing a large drainage district clear to the river. This would result in untold benefits to property owners, and drain the county roads as well. By the use of powerful donkey engines and giant powder, it is said that the creek can be freed of all debris, at a very small expense compared with the methods here-

Admiral Sisbee's HOWARD WATCH went down with it. It lay in sea water for five days-was recovered by a navy diver, and today it varies less than ten seconds a month, which is a ratio of one second in 260,000, Admiral Sigsbee bought this in 1868.

It has cruised in 18 vessels of the U.S. navy over a distance of two hundred and eighty-eight thousand miles. It has set the standard time in taking observations for navigation where a few seconds error may spell disaster to the ship.

I have a very complete stock of these incomparable watches, which I will be pleased to show you.
