B. W. BARNES FILES FOR CO. SCHOOL SUPT.

Hillsboro Educator Enters Primaries on Republican Ticket

EDUCATOR OF WIDE EXPERIENCE

Has Had Superintendency of Local School Many Years

B. W. Barnes, superintendent of the Hillsboro public school and who for many years has held that position, has filed his petition for nomination in the republican primaries for the office of county school superintendent. His papers were filed last Friday morning, and it is anticipated that he will make a splendid race in the county.

Mr. Barnes is a graduate of a state Normal back in Nebraska, and during the many years that he has had control of the local schools he steadily built up the grades and standing of the curriculum and today there is no educator in the county that has a better reputation as an instructor.

Mr. Barnes has his home in this city and his wife, a daughter of the late E. H. Warren, is a graduate of Pacific University.

MISS JAMES KILLED

Miss Mary James, aged 71, was struck by an Oregon Electric car, Sunday, at noon, on Second Street, Forest Grove, and died within 30 minutes. Miss James was enroute home from church and being deaf, did not hear the alarm of the motorman. He was going at a speed of from six to eight miles an hour, and although he put on the air and brakes the car could not be stopped until after Miss James was struck. She lived about a half hour, a fracture of the skull being the cause of death. The crossing where the accident took place is but a block distant from the depot. Miss James has resided in Forest Grove for about 12 years. She has a brother, James, residing at Laidlaw, Oregon.

Feed Chopping Notice

Beginning with first Saturday in February, we will run chopper and roller every Saturday throughout February, commencing promptly at noon.—Croeni, Bethany.

W. H. Connell, of East Portland, was out to the old county seat Monday afternoon.

Dusow Kuyezervick, an Austrian, having an alias of Mike Miller, entered a car on the P. R. & N. tracks, Friday evening, after supper and tried to hold up J. C. Gordon, an American, timekeeper, and two Austrians. He pulled a long revolver and told them to hold up their hands. Being a little slow to obey he thrust the revolver against the temple of the one of the Austrians, causing a scalp wound. The other Austrian grappled with the robber, and the three fell out of the car, during the struggle the robber being discharged. The robber ran, but was located an hour later at the Oregon Electric depot by Deputy Sheriff Applegate, who placed him in the county jail. Applegate took from his person a huge revolver. From papers on his person it was found that he is a member of the Steamboat Men's Union of California, and that he has an accident policy, and that he gives his occupation as a bartender, with an address at 47 N. 2nd Street, Portland.

A. J. Fanno, president of the Confederated Onion Growers, of Oregon went to Seattle a short time ago, and found that the onion market was "strong" over that way, with but few shipments on hand, and with less than 20 cars on hand at home in the Yakima district. Accordingly the association officers met and placed the market at $2 per sack. The crop in this county was excellent in yield and quality are not up to the usual standard. Two dollars per sack, however, is a pretty good price, and there are prospects of higher values inside on 30 days.

Why pay ten dollars for a map which merely shows Washington County, when you can get one on a larger scale, showing everything from the Willamette River west to the west boundary of the county, size 50x67 inches, for $7.50, or a pocket size, 24x33 inches, for $2.00? Get it of your bookseller, or address T. S. Wilkes & Son, Hillsboro, Oregon.

The Oregon Electric is extending its track up the street from its present depot site, at Forest Grove, and it is stated that a new depot will be built, closer to the business district. The S. P. and Electric will run "side by side" up the same street, except that the Southern had to buy a big lot of private property in order to get to their objective point.

See our dishes for our customers. When you expend $100 with us you get a fine dining room set of dishes. Call for cards and have the amount of your purchases punched each time you buy. When you buy that amount you get the dishes, or you have a dandy game and fish set.—Emmott Bros

A. A. Mead, of "any old place, but Hillsboro more than any where else," returned last week from a trip down to the Sacramento Valley, California. He still thinks that Oregon offers more to the farmer, the speculator, and the fellow looking for the "best place," than any other state on the coast, or any coast in the world.

If you want remedies that are standard, and always make good, try the Watkins—the best poultry and stock tonic made. Every bottle or package is a "prize" in itself, as users will testify.—Z. M. LaRue, the Watkins' Remedy man. Letters will reach him at Forest Grove, and his team is always on the road. 44-6

From Thursday until Sunday evening this section of Oregon enjoyed beautiful weather, there being more sunshine than dark and cloudy, and oldtimers all have a year, back in the dim and misty past, that was "just exactly like this year."

I saw cordwood, poles up to 12 inches in diameter, fence rails, and boards of all kinds, into stovewood lengths. Will go into the country. Write, phone or call on me.—Carl Skow, Tualatin Hotel, Hillsboro, Oregon.

W. E. Smith, South Tualatin, and Herman Boge, Farmington, were in the city Saturday. Both are members of the Washington County Horsemen Association, and each is in favor of a big horse show.

For sale: A fifteen-sixteenths Jersey bull, a fine animal, and perfectly gentle.—F. R. Kincade, R. F. D. 3, Hillsboro, Ore., Box 49. Three miles north of North Plains.

Geo. Schulmerich and wife visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cooper, at Carlton. Mr. Cooper was formerly operator at the S. P. depot, here.

A. L. Grebe, of Laurel, was in town Friday, greeting friends.

BEAVERTON REPORTER FOUNDER IS INSANE

Unfortunate Man Taken to Asylum Last Sunday Evening

PATIENT VIOLENT AND DANGEROUS

"Tramp Printer" by Name of Whitmore. Adjudged Crazy

L. M. Whitmore, aged 52 years, founder of the Beaverton Reporter, was adjudged insane the first of the week, and Dr. W. D. Wood advised that he be sent to the asylum at Salem. Whitmore is a native of New York, and came to Oregon eight years ago. He was a first class printer, but owing to his habit of drink could not long hold a position. He has had an incurable disease for years, and this probably had much to do with his mental weakness. Whitmore has been married and has a son somewhere.

Some months ago he founded the Beaverton Reporter, but could not make a success of the paper, and finally suspended publication, to be taken up later by Chas. Fry. Whitmore failed in health, and was at the county poor farm about five days before a complaint was sworn against him. He has lost his powers of locomotion.

Guard Geo. Harrington came down from Salem Sunday evening, and conveyed the unfortunate man to the asylum. Whitmore was a good workman, and was at one time on the Oregon Journal, and also worked a few days on the Oregonian. He said that he was in the habit of drinking from one pint to one quart of whisky per day for many years—when he had the money to buy. He was possessed of a fair education, and claimed, before his commitment that he had tuberculosis, and had been in Arizona for his health.

There are 48 distinct diseases of the eye. No other organ of the human body has so many. Dr. Lowe's 20 years experience as an eye specialist, coupled with education in the best schools, enables him to recognize at once any of the above diseases. He does not mistake a disease for defective sight or an anomaly of refraction and fit glasses when they are not needed, as is often done. If your eye trouble is not amenable to optical treatment he will tell you so. Remember, phisic is not phisics. Neither is a lens a pill. Consult him at Hillsboro, Feb. 2, Forest Grove, Feb. 6. Scores of Washington County references.

W. W. Hostetler, of Reedville, who with his wife and family, are in the East, left Barr's Mills, Ohio, the first of the week, for Fargo, Okla., where they are visiting today. By Feb. 1, they will be at San Jacinto, Cal., and from there, after a few days, they return to old Reedville. W. W. writes that his section of Ohio has been giving them a 30 below zero temperature for some weeks, and he wants to hit for the warmer climate.

E. E. Yarnell, the Timber hotel man, was in town Monday morning, enroute home from a business trip to Portland. He says that Timber expects to boom as soon as Spring opens. Mrs. Yarnell has just returned from an extended visit with her relatives at Eugene.

County roads are now about at their worst, and yet, there are districts which have highways where a horse and buggy can "hump" right along. Down in Andy Heckman's district, and J. A. Johnson's district, the roads are still pretty fair for even heavy hauling.

Washington Grange No. 313, of above North Plains, netted a neat little sum at the recent basket social. This is one of the progressive granges of the county and always has entertaining sessions.

Perry Gardner, of Quatama, was in town the last of the week. Perry is just completing an addition to his home opposite Quatama station.

You and your children are safe if you wear Dr. Lowe's glasses—eye safe and price safe. Consult him at Hotel Washington, Friday, Feb. 2. Remember day and date.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Peterson, formerly of Cornelius, now of Portland, passed through town Sunday, enroute for a short visit at the old home.

Sherman Rhodes, of Reedville, was in the city Friday evening.

J. L. Barngrover, of beyond Varley, was in the city Saturday.

Jos. Zimmerman, of Roseland Farm, was in town Saturday afternoon.

J. H. Haase, of South Tualatin, was in town Friday, and called on the Argus.

P. J. Vanderzanden, of the Roy-Banks section, was an Argus caller Friday.

Christian Zuercher, of Cedar Mill, was a county seat caller, Saturday afternoon.

Don't laif do it, make it Liggett's Chocolates or nothing. Get them at The Delta.

Martin Bernards, of Verboort, was in the city, calling on friends and transacting business, Friday.

Judge Eakin, of Astoria, was out the last of the week, hearing the Galbreath case, from Tualatin.

John and Fred Berger, of Bethany, were in town Saturday, registering at the clerk's office.

Do not forget to ask for a Schiller when you want a good 10 cent smoke—no "cough dust" in the Schiller. 12tf

Henry Holtz, ex-police officer of the Portland force, now living near Oak Park, was over to the city Saturday.

Bobt. Robinson, of Farmington, was in town Saturday. Bobt. has one of the rich bottom land ranches of his section.

F. M. Crabtree went to Laurel, Thursday, to accept 12 or 13 acres of grubbing, just completed by Jack Robinson and brother.

For sale or trade: Twelve acres, 2½ miles southeast of Hillsboro; also a house and 2½ acres at McMinville. Will sell at a bargain, or trade for Hillsboro residence property, close in.—C. F. Bunsen, Hillsboro, Ore.

Architect Gaunt has submitted a rough sketch of the proposed court house improvement. He proposes building to the rear, in the shape of a rectangle east and west, and so construct it that when the county wishes it can close in the sides, or enlarge, and still have the building modern in both appearance and convenience. Mr. Gaunt thinks that the new addition can be built well within an appropriation of from $32,000 to $35,000.

M. N. Bonham, who teaches in District 17, below Farmington, was in town Saturday. His district has a new school house, and progressive and modern apparatus. The building is heated by a Waterbury heater, and the blackboard service and other apparatus is in the lead of nearly all the outlying districts. The directors are John Boge, S. E. Olson and J. T. Heard, and the clerk is Geo. Jack.

Forest Grove's new city officials were sworn in last Friday evening, with G. S. Allen as mayor. Mr. Allen has been a resident of the Grove for five years. He was born in Crawford Co., Pa., and is just turned 50 years in this vale of tears.

The other officials for the year are: W. F. Schultz, J. M. Barber, H. B. Johnson and John Wirtz, councilmen; Marian Markham, recorder, and Robt. Wirtz, treasurer. The city contemplates more paving this Summer.

Fifty years ago, pioneers tells us, was the hardest Winter since Oregon started to roll its ball of history. Fifty years ago last week people skated across the Willamette River, and teams were driven, laden, across the ice. Thousands of head of cattle perished east of the mountains, and many an opulent stock raiser lost a fortune. The prediction of a hard Winter for 1912 seems to have fallen out of bed—with warm, sunshiny days, last week, and frosts hardly sufficient to form ice.

The Williams Jubilee Singers held forth at the Crescent last Friday evening, and it is safe to say that no people ever visited the city in the capacity of entertainers and took away with them a better reputation for giving what they advertised. They had some of the best voices in the United States with them, and their evening of old-fashioned song was more than worth while. They had a fair house, and were given round after round of applause. One young fellow who come in ten miles to hear them, said: "It was mud all the way, but we certainly received our money's worth." They will come again next year, and that they will get a capacity house goes without saying.

VERDICT OF GUILTY TUALATIN GUN CASE

Mrs. Nancy McE. Galbreath Found Guilty as Indicted

CHARGE OF POINTING FIREARM

Two Days of Trial Ended Saturday Evening—Five Days for New Trial

"Guilty as charged" was the verdict in State vs. Mrs. Galbreath, Friday and Saturday in circuit court were consumed in the famous Tualatin case of the State of Oregon versus Mrs. Nancy McE. Galbreath, charged with pointing a firearm on August 29, at road supervisor Chas. Casteel and several workmen who were removing—or attempting to remove—a fence in front of the Galbreath residence in the classic little village of Tualatin. Mrs. Galbreath had erected a fence in what the county claimed was a highway, but was on her property. Casteel, as supervisor, was ordered to take down the fence. Sheriff Hancock went to Tualatin, Aug. 29, to see that the peace was kept while the obstruction was being removed. He went into the Galbreath home to see that no untoward demonstration was made while the workmen were busy reducing the fence to a vacuum. While he was talking with Mrs. Galbreath, according to his testimony, she excused herself and left the room. Hearing a shot a short time later the official ran upstairs and found Mrs. Galbreath sitting in a chair. Asking her if she had shot he swears that she made no answer. He found the gun, with one cartridge empty. Mrs. Galbreath was bound over to the grand jury, which indicted her in December. Casteel, Asa Mack, Wm. Ray, Walter Thompson and Sam Galbreath were witnesses introduced by the state. Galbreath is the defendant's husband, but knew nothing of the case.

After the verdict of guilty was read the defense was given five days in which to appeal for a new trial. The jury trying the case deliberated in the neighborhood of an hour or two. The men who tried the case were: J. T. Young, foreman, Chas. Schomburg, Leander Chowning, Jasper E. Reeves, J. T. Croeni, Franklin Doughty, Robt. McCracken, Jos McCormick, Milton Cole, J. E. Bailey, Herman Kamna and W. H. Lyda.
