

WEST LECTURED TO BIG AUDIENCE

His Prison Policies in Illustrated Talk

HE IS NOT CANDIDATE

Gov. West delivered an initial prison reform lecture at the Crescent Theatre, Sunday evening, to a representative audience, and many of his listeners came from ten and fifteen miles from the county seat. Gov. West is in earnest in his ideas of prison reform goes without saying, and that he is more when he says it is better help one unfortunate to a better life even at the expense of making mistakes in several cases, in evidence to all his auditors. His lecture was illustrated slides, showing scenes of prison life, work of convicts on the prison grounds, and on county roads, etc. He was given the best attention, and during his address, stated that he was not a candidate for election.

The Governor exhibited no fear against his critics, and handled his subject in a manner that fact, without appealing to the emotions of his hearers. With him it is a matter of humanitarianism, and he drives his points clear. He said that he is a believer in the tenets of justice, and he intended doing all his power to better prison conditions, and where possible, to make prison service a matter of reformation rather than punitive. He stated that he had served two or three sentences of capital punishment, and that he would have a chance to sit on the jury on the proposed law abolishing capital punishment this coming Fall. If the people voted to sustain capital punishment, he said there would be a "be" at Salem shortly after the election, and if possible to get over the execution shambles as some ardent public advocate of hanging, and let him have a holiday, and do the work at those in charge have always had to perform.

Gov. West was introduced to the audience by Mayor H. T. Bagley, who asked the people to give the executive a respectful hearing. Mr. West was frequently applauded, and all who attended the lecture—even those who disagreed with him, spoke well of his effort.

The Governor mentioned his trip East with the Governors' special, and said the people back "the states" were taking a great interest in the West.

A six o'clock dinner was tendered Gov. West by Father Lappen, at the Parish home, on First street, and the following were at the table with the Executive: Father Lappen, Father LeMiller, Father Daum, Beaverport, Father Soland, Tigard; Father Buck, Forest Grove, and F. S. Hamilton, of the Pacific States Telephone, Portland, and a representative of the press.

CO. SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR COUNTY EXHIBIT

Will Have Big Fair in Hillsboro This Fall, Early

THEN SEND TO STATE FAIR

Teachers Will Give Plan an Earnest Co-Operation

It has been decided that Washington County is to have a big school fair early this Fall, in the county seat, probably at the same time the street fair will be held. State Superintendent of Public Instruction Alderman was attending the teachers' meeting in this city last Saturday, and in company with Calvin C. Thomason, started the ball rolling. The plan was approved by the county educational board, Friday afternoon, and Supt. Alderman, in his address, dwelt upon the spirit of interest such an affair will create in public school circles.

The plan has been financed by the state bankers, under the direction of Supt. Alderman, and the system will bring up a statewide contest, that will be productive of creating a great interest in school work. The state fair takes place at Salem, Oct. 2-9, and the plan will be to have the school fairs, local in districts, first, and then have the exhibits brought to Hillsboro, at the street fair, which will be held early enough to enable the displays to be taken to Salem and entered in the state contests.

Mr. Thomason has been all over the state, and finds that all counties are taking an active interest in the plan of Supt. Alderman.

Washington County has some of the finest schools in the state, and the exhibits will make some of the contestant counties bring in some great work, if they are to sweep away the prizes.

Commercial clubs, teachers, citizens, and parents of pupils are all asked to take an active part in helping the movement, and the Educational Board of the County has promised to assist all in its power. If the local street fair is held sufficiently early—and it will—it will be the means of bringing in many people whose children will have entries of school work.
