Senator Jonathan Bourne was defeated at the primaries recently, and with his defeat ends the career of a man who did more to put the Oregon system into our state's organic law than any other single person working for the cause. Bourne was beaten by a progressive, and yet, carried his own city—Portland, against a Portland man. Bourne counted too much on the public temperament, and was not aware of the fact that printer's ink, with no contra effort, oft goes a long way in bringing about a defeat. Bourne has left his impress on the state—an impress for good, and one that will long endure. Graduating out of the class of machine politicians he took up the fight for popular rights at the crucial time, and was a powerful factor in getting legislation that has meant thousands of dollars to Oregon, and much education in general administration.

Roosevelt captured half of the Massachusetts delegates, but, because the state preferential vote went for Taft by about 3,000, asks his delegates to feel themselves bound for Taft, as the Dutchman says he stands for a principle, and he does not want what he is not entitled to receive. Roosevelt has strengthened himself by the declaration, and he probably thinks he will have enough votes anyway when the convention meets.

CLUB MAKES VISIT

Members of the Scholls Commercial Club met with the people of Laurel, Tuesday evening, April 30, to talk over the question of better transportation for the Tualatin Valley. The most popular idea appeared to be the "tunnel plan," under Council Crest, with a rapid transit line out through the South Tualatin section. This proposition is meeting with hearty support from all the business men in Portland, and seems to be the most feasible plan to tap the valley, which is capable of sustaining a dense population. The Laurel people turned out handsomely to the session, about 30 representative citizens being in attendance.

Laurel is at once to organize a Commercial Club which will work in harmony with Scholls for the general development and betterment of the long-neglected territory, which is one of the most fertile in the state.

The Pacific Specialty Co., manufacturers of a "5-minute washing powder," want to come to Hillsboro to put in a factory, employing several people. They are now located on the peninsula, and are selling their product in all stores, but they want to sell more stock and enlarge their plant. Hillsboro looks good to them.

Turner Bros., of Connell, Ore., and E. A. Prebles, of Portland, are putting in a 30 M. capacity saw and planing mill at the former place, and will be ready for business by the 1st of June.

The Southern Pacific has a crew of engineers running the lines on Sixth and Main, and on out to connect with main line, to the west of town.

HUMPHRYS BROTHERS
GUILTY OF MURDER

Jury out Four Hours and Return First Degree Finding

JUDGE TO SENTENCE TOMORROW

Repetition of Confession of Brothers Did Not Avail

George M. and Chas. Humphrys, the brothers who settled above Banks, last Fall, and who were arrested this Spring, and subsequently made confessions to the murder of Mrs. Ella Griffith, at Philomath, June 2, 1911, were found guilty last evening, by a Corvallis jury, the finding being murder in the first degree. It will be remembered that the elder brother was first brought to the county seat by Sheriff Hancock, and that a confession followed. George, however, held that he went to the widow Griffith's house alone, and that no one else was implicated. Two days later, when George was taken to Corvallis, Chas. was brought to the county seat and after a severe questioning, broke down and confessed to complicity in the crime. John A. Jeffrey, who defended Rosclair, was counsel for the two brothers, and he tried to discredit the confessions, just as he did when trying the Timber murder case. District Attorney E. B. Tongue, in securing George's confession, was very careful to get the instrument in line with first degree murder, and his deputy, Thos. H. Jr., in securing the admissions of the younger brother, was equally careful. The court held that the confessions must be admitted, and that they were valid.

The Humphrys are of a very low order of intelligence. The court will sentence them this Friday morning.

The Mexican Turkey.
 According to the natives, the Mexican turkey in its wild state is not a very intelligent bird, for they declare that the coyotes capture it by running in circles under the trees in which the birds are roosting until the latter get dizzy through watching them and fall down one by one.

Australian Pine Bark.
 From Australian pine bark experts have extracted 14 to 40 per cent of tannin against the 8 per cent obtained in England from oak bark.

Caterpillar Barometers.
 Caterpillars are good weather prophets, especially those that shelter themselves in webs. When rain is due they stay at home instead of foraging on the leaves of the trees which they inhabit. Their sense of barometrical change is keener than that of the oldest weather prophet.

A Bookmark.
 A corner cut out of a large envelope makes a good bookmark, especially useful where several leaves in a book are to be held together.

Coal in India.
 India mines over 11,000,000 tons of coal a year.

Nut Butter.
 Nut butter is a very good substitute for meat. Run walnuts through a food chopper and rub into them about one third as much good fresh butter. Spread on crisp crackers.

A Leap Year Chance.
 "Have you made a resolution to marry this year, colonel?" asked the determined young person anxiously.
 "No," replied the colonel in his pre-occupied manner. "Have you?"—Buffalo Express.

A Disappointment.
 Smith—How is your new furnace working these cold days?
 Jones—It doesn't give as much hot air as the man who sold it to me.—Chicago Engineer.
