Some of the Oregon delegation voted with the Taft forces on organization—full aid and comfort to exactly opposite that for which they were sent to the Chicago convention. Another straw on the camel's back—and another reason why the convention system must die a death by strangulation. Let your state primaries say who is wanted to lead a ticket, and let that be sufficient. Do not send men back to conventions where they will sell out—either for promise of office or for the money that makes the politician go—and go crooked.

It was the expected—as well as the unexpected! The Taft delegates, supported by the National committeemen, a large majority of whom were "left-overs" and with the Taft forces, discredited all of Roosevelt's contending delegates, elected Root temporary and permanent chairman; took some delegates away from Roosevelt in California, took the entire state of Washington, and after that met with no resistance from the ex-president. Roosevelt called off his forces, and will lead a new party. He will be nominated in mid-summer, and promises a campaign full of pyrotechnics. There are states that he will carry without trouble, and he thinks he will get pluralities in several Southern states. He is out for the presidency and if the mounted horseman, the mailed fist, the stentorian voice, and a love of fighting does not equip him for a memorable campaign then the Argus will miss its guess. Roosevelt asserts that he was robbed of a nomination that was rightfully his. We who are of a younger generation will now see three candidates in the field which will grant us a guessing contest. Provided Teddy carries some Western states and New York; Taft carries New England, and the democrat the solid South, there will be some great distractions and attractions along about next November. So gird on your armor—run for the storm cellar—put on your spurs—go to the timber—or take whatever attitude you want—"everybody's doin' it", and we'll soon see "Who's Who" in the domain of your uncle Samuel.

The democrats nominate at Baltimore today. It looks like a progressive, although Tammany, backed by Ryan, in a bargain with the Clark forces, foisted Alton B. Parker, as temporary chairman, against Bryan, beating him by about 60 votes. Bryan then cleared the decks for action, and Ollie James, a staunch Bryan man, was made permanent chairman. Bryan remains in the fight, and won three victories yesterday. He will probably dominate the platform, and will be satisfied with a progressive. Otherwise, he will probably fight the ticket, and if a reactionary is named it is doubtful if the party can poll four million votes.

The Keepfresh plant entertained a number of people Tuesday evening, and showed the magnificent work being done. Officials of the company were present, and demonstrated the worth of the institution by the product turned out, and showed how prices were kept up by the presence of the plant. The Keepfresh people will save thousands of dollars annually to local growers, and it should receive hearty support. When the strawberry market tumbled it was this plant that kept up the values and saved many a dollar for growers by making demand outside the usual channels.

Taken up, June 13—Gray gelding, 4 years, 1400; black mare, 8 years, 1350; black and bay stallion colts, yearlings. Owner prove property, pay damages, feed and adv., and take same away.—C. H. Freer, Box 23, Route 1, Hillsboro. One mile southwest West Union church, 5 miles N. E. of Hillsboro. 15-7

On Sunday, June 30, the Portland Social Turn Verein will hold their annual outing at North Plains, on the United Railways. Special trains leave North Bank depot at 9:30 a. m., Sunday morning. The park at North Plains is a delightful picnic place, and elaborate preparations have been made by the Society for the entertainment of all. The Choral Society, with a membership of 65, and an orchestra, have special features on the program. Successful participants in the games will be awarded with prizes most liberally, for which the Social Turn Verein is noted.

Taken Up—Black horse and bay mare, each wearing halter.—Peter Vanasche, Cornelius, Ore., Route 2, Box 37. On the T. H. Tongue place. 14-6

Just as Argus goes to press F. J. Sewell gives out that the Columbus Knights can not come Sunday, and have cancelled the game with Hillsboro. The Portland Weonas, the only team that has beaten Tillamook, this year, will be on the diamond and the game should be one of the best of the season, as this is a hard nine to beat. The Cardinals have strengthened their nine. Scott will pitch.

I still have a good line of children's hats at very low prices.—Mrs. I. Bath.

LITTLEHALES GETS FIRST BLOOD IN CASE

Circuit Judge Decides That Injunction Will not be Dissolved

CASE TO BE HEARD ON MERITS

Motion of Forest Grove Attorneys Denied Yesterday Afternoon

The case of T. H. Littlehales against the City of Forest Grove, heard on motion to dissolve the injunction secured by Littlehales, against the city letting a contract for paving on Second street, resulted in a decision for Mr. Littlehales, Tuesday, the court denying the motion to dissolve the temporary injunction. Hollis & Graham, of the Grove, appeared for the city, and Bagley & Hare appeared for Littlehales. The latter attorneys fought dissolution of the injunction, alleging that Mr. Littlehales and colleagues had a necessary majority to defeat the paving, and that the council overrode their wishes contrary to ordinance. The case must now be tried on the merits and fidelity of the remonstrance.

Judge Campbell yesterday granted divorces in Phalon vs Phalon, and Parr vs Parr. Emmott vs Marks, default and decree. Allen vs Beimrohr, judgment opened. Fred and Ed Colfelt, charged with selling liquor to a minor, were given further time to plead, and were allowed to go on their own recognizance.

Tannock vs Tannock, decree of partition.

Sales confirmed—The Tualatin Brick Co. vs McNicholas; Bump vs Maine.

Fred Hibberd was denied a divorce from his wife. He alleged she was crazy at the time of marriage, but the fact that he lived with her three years caused the court to deny the request for divorce. Clerk John W. Bailey will draw the jury for the July term some time next week.
