HILLSBORO, OREGON, JULY 18, 1912

NO. 19

TO ORGANIZE EARLY FOR ANNUAL FAIR

Range of Exhibits Will Eclipse all Former Efforts

EXHIBITS TO BE CALLED EARLY

Committee Will Get Together and Organize by August First

Hillsboro will soon organize for the annual street fair, so as to enable the gathering of proper exhibits and eclipse all past efforts at display of what Washington county can do in fruits, vegetables, grains and grasses and all products. A prominent business man, who has traveled extensively, in taking a perusal of the situation, says:

"We have had some mighty fine fairs in Hillsboro, but we have the field and the products to beat anything yet placed on public exhibition. We can beat the world in production of grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables, and we should spare no effort to make the coming fair the best in the state. We should organize at once, so as growers can prepare to bring us their best efforts. A drive over the county shows that we are to have a bumper crop, and we should be enabled to produce an exhibition that will open the eyes of all visitors. We can get reduced rates from Portland, and this should bring thousands to the fair. Last year our streets were so torn up that a fair was next to impossible. This year we will have everything our own way. I would suggest that we have more livestock in the next meeting, and that the business men offer substantial prizes, and pay promptly like the officials of that last horse show—when every winner received their check at once."

The organization will take place before the first of August, so as to give plenty of time for work, and the dates selected will probably be those not interfering with the state fair.

FOR SALE

A good eight-room house with halls, wide porches, bathroom, pantry and basement. Everything clean and new; in good location. Will accept small cash payment down. Balance like rent, if desired. Or, will lease to desirable tenant. For particulars see or address F. M. Heidel, Hillsboro, Ore. Phone, Main 144.

WILLIAM RINGLE

The funeral of the late William Ringle took place Friday, at Forest Grove, interment being in the Baxton cemetery. Mr. Ringle died July 9, after many months of illness. The Forest Grove fire department attended the services and burial in uniform. Mr. Ringle at one time having been a member of the organization. He was born in Indiana, Aug. 29, 1868. He wedded Mrs. Rose Thomas in Kansas, in 1890. The widow and four children survive. George, with the Washington-Oregon Corporation, Hillsboro; and Earl, Paul and May, of Forest Grove. Ringle had charge of the Hillsboro water and light plant during municipal ownership of the system, and was also in charge of the Forest Grove plant for two or three years.

Contractor must furnish material of all kinds, including painting, and leave the building ready for occupancy. Plans and specifications may be seen at the home of the undersigned, or at the office of county school superintendent, Hillsboro, Ore.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Carl Her, Clerk, Timber, Oregon, June 28, 1912. By order school district board of directors.

Ulrich Kemp, of Helvetia, was down to the county seat Friday, with one of his Swiss cheese outputs.

The anonymous letter writer again has been sending out his screeds to several Hillsboro people. If there is anything downright rascally it is the party who writes anonymous letters to people, attacking them in the dark, or saying bitter and unseemly things about neighbors of the recipients of the screeds. If there is a hill, and the writing of anonymous filth proclaims the possibility of such a place—it's a cinch that down in that boiling region of malbolge there is a little eddy several times hotter than the main pool, and this special vat is saved for the man or woman who writes villainous screeds and send them broadcast without signing a name so as to not give the U. S. authorities a chance to send them to McNeil's Island for a vacation. There are several things unable of analysis, and one of them is just how the putrid anonymous letter-writers can possibly sleep with themselves.

I saw cordwood, poles up to 12 inches in diameter, fence rails, and boards of all kinds, into storewood lengths. Will go into the country. Write, phone or call on me. Carl Skow, Oak St., between First and Second, Hillsboro, Oregon. Phone, City 515.

All Hillsboro—particularly that portion which visited Portland last Thursday—was proud of the showing made by the Hillsboro band. The boys were there with the music, and they gave the Bremerton Elks the best repertoire going. When it came to classical music old Hillsboro was there with the jingles, and many spectators thought it was the naval band from Bremerton, and many were heard to remark:

"Oh, well, those fellows ought to outplay the balance of the bunch, for they do nothing but play music all the time, in season, and out of season." When they were told that it was a band from Hillstown several were heard to say that the old county seat must be a hummer to support a musical aggregation that could reel off anything from rag to operatic. And they were certainly right.

For sale—Three heavy mule teams, harness and wagons. These mules weigh about 3,000 per span, are young, and all in good condition. Wm. Musgrove, Oreoco, Oregon, on Borwick place.

Many conversant with the history of Pacific University will remember Jennie Norelli, the famous singer, who at one time had charge of the choir of music. The diva has since charmed the courts of Europe with her singing, and she is now making a Western Chautauqua tour. Last week she had an engagement at Albany, and owing to a wreck on the Oregon Electric, was obliged to walk two miles over Linn County roads before telephoning for an auto to take her to the grounds. She is now the wife of Dr. Barton, a Portland physician, and last year she toured with the Mississippi Valley Symphony Company. Mrs. Barton has hundreds of friends in Washington County all of whom admire the pluck of the little singer.

Registered Cotswold buck, 3 years old, fine stock and fine individual, for sale. Take him for $15.—Herman Rehse, Farmington, Ore. Address Hillsboro, Ore., Route 2.

These are the days when the youth sports himself in the waters of Dairy and the Tualatin, and gets more enjoyment to each square inch of his blistered hide than any other person on the face of the globe. The millionaire, in his limousine, or the party taking a European trip, has no "aid" on the youngster who is now having his limbs in the waters of Washington County.

Smokers want the best—therefore call for a Schiller or a Grand Marca, when you want to see the blue wreath curl.

July jurors were very anxious to be allowed a vacation from service Monday, owing to the busy season. Many had just waded into their bay, and were not over-anxious to settle litigation between those who have petitioned the "blind goddess" to settle their disputes.

Furnished rooms to rent. Also a barn. Inquire at 5-10-15 Cent Store.

A. J. Killin, one of the pioneers of the Greenville-Thatcher section, was in the city Monday. Mrs. K. is slowly recovering from an attack of paralysis, sustained about seven weeks ago.

John Ashbaugh has a position as sawyer at the Cogan Mill, on the United, east of Connell Station.

IDEAS ON GAME LAWS ASKED BY COMMISSION

Statutes Will be Revised at Earliest Opportunity

WRITE AND GIVE YOUR OPINIONS

Board Wishes Popular Expression From all Concerned

The State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners sends the Argus a letter for publication. If you are interested in your fish and game laws, read it, for it is self-explanatory:

"The State Board of Fish and Game Commissioners have undertaken a thorough revision of the present system of the game laws. The idea is to present a code for adoption at the next legislature, which will give more complete protection to fish and game, and correct numerous errors in the present system of laws.

The commission desires in making up this new game code to present it to the legislature. For this reason the members of the commission ask that residents in different parts of the state, especially farmers, fruit growers, as well as sportsmen, send in any suggestions so that the commission may act upon them. Suggestions are also sought from the granges, commercial bodies, rod and gun clubs and other organizations, in order to get a game code suitable for different parts of the state.

All communications and suggestions should be sent to Mr. J. F. Hughes, Secretary of the Fish and Game Commission, Salem, Oregon.

At present there are a number of questions under discussion, that will be of interest to sportsmen in different parts of the state, such as the question of bounties on predatory animals. The Commission is in favor of a more rigid effort to exterminate cougar and wolves. The question has been agitated in certain parts of the state to reduce the non-resident hunting and fishing license to the same price as the resident license. Many sportsmen are also in favor of reducing the limits on deer and other game."

FOR INQUIRIES

Washington county is now the first in dairy production in the state of Oregon, and the records will bear out the statement that there is less mortgage indebtedness on farms than any other county in the Pacific Northwest. In dairy products the county is not only leader, but it raises more onions and more potatoes than any other like territory in the Willamette Valley. Cherries, apples, pears, prunes, small fruits of all kinds, grow in abundance, and the fertility of the soil leads all Oregon. For running water no like acreage excels in Oregon.

For transportation facilities—the county is cut up with steam and electric lines. For the benefit of inquirers—and the Argus has foreign inquiries every week—it might be well to state that there is not a farmer in the county but who can drive to Portland, a city of a quarter of a million, within a day, and half of the farmers can drive to the city in a day, with a load, and return the same evening. By this fall the main thoroughfare between the head of Gales Creek, and Portland, will have a rock road, a distance of 35 miles, with the exception of perhaps a lap of three or four miles, and next season will see this covered with macadam.

HOUSE BURNS

A CARD

The undersigned has sold the Pharmacy to Messrs. L. P. McPheeters and G. B. Payne, and all accounts due are payable to the retiring proprietor. Thanking the people of Hillsboro and vicinity for the patronage of the past, and soliciting a continuance for the new firm, I am

Yours truly,
Page Gardner,
Hillsboro, Ore., June 12, 1912.

Born, July 11, 1912, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holz, of beyond Oak Park, a daughter.

Fred Goetz, of above Bloomington, was in the city Saturday, and called on the Argus.

Mercury went to 96 in Portland, Sunday afternoon, but old Hillsboro was content to ring up 94. And even that was warm enough for you. Deputy Jacobs, it is reported, started to jail with a fellow who had landed on the right eye of a man from Newberg. When within a block of the bastle Jacobs asked the prisoner why he had struck the Yamhiller. "Well," said the delinquent, "the darned fool asked me if it was hot enough for me, and I just couldn't resist the temptation to bang him once." Jacobs let go of him and said, "Scot." And he scoted.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Syfert, of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived at Forest Grove the first of the week, and will locate in Washington County. Mrs. Syfert is a sister of J. H. Fletcher, of the Grove, and the two had not met for 48 years, when Mr. Fletcher left Iowa for the West. She was a little girl, and when the brother departed, was suffering from an attack of the measles. The brother and sister were more than pleased to meet after nearly a half century of separation.

Smokers want the best—therefore call for a Schiller or a Grand Marca, when you want to see the blue wreath curl.

Gus Wehrung, who has been at Ingleswood, Cal., the past year, where he is engaged in managing a poultry ranch, came up to see the Elks carnival and convention in Portland, last week, and visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wehrung, the first of the week. Gus looks fine, and says he is surprised at the way Hillsboro is humming to the front. He expects to remain here about 30 days.

Green Hale and wife, of East Portland, are now in their Summer home at Alder Springs, Oak Park, to remain throughout the warm season. They have an ideal camping place, with a dense shade on the banks of classic old Dairy, with the coolest of spring water as a consolator on the days when mercury goes rampant to the top of the tube.

Wanted—Three dining room girls, at the National Restaurant.

The South Tualatin Grays beat the Hillsboro Grays, Sunday afternoon, by the score of six to four. Schulmerich and Schulmerich, for the South Tualatins, and VanKirk and Harrington were the batteries. The game was replete with interest, and the weather just warm enough to limber the players up to good working order.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holcomb passed through from Bethany, Monday, enroute to Ocean Park, on the Tillamook beach, for an outing. They went by auto, and carried a complete camping outfit. This is Mrs. Holcomb's first trip to the coast, at that point, and she anticipates a fine time. They expected to make the trip through in one day without much hardship.

Will Nelson, Herman Dannel and Cliff Long returned Sunday from their "hike" to Tillamook and Garibaldi. Their bill of fare while making the Wilson River territory was trout for breakfast, dinner and supper, and at Garibaldi it was crab diet straight.

Miss Mary Reeves, teaching at Laurel, departed Monday for DeLand, Florida, where she will remain through the Summer, returning to Oregon this Fall. Miss Reeves made the trip East via the Oregon Electric and Hill lines.

M. E. Everett departed the first of the week for his home in North Bend. Miles always holds a warm spot in his heart for old Hillsboro, and makes it an annual visit. He is still in the drug business, and making good.

General blacksmithing, horse-shoeing and woodwork. All work guaranteed. At Grove-land, on the United. O. Wilson. 19-32

Warren Construction people commenced excavating for the pavement on Washington, between Third and Sixth, Monday morning.

Bowery dance at the City Park, Saturday evening, July 20. The best dance of the season. Fine orchestra and out-door dancing.

J. H. Westcott, the Gaston hardware dealer, was in the city Monday morning.

Dance at Helvetia Hall, Saturday evening, July 27. Good music and the best time of the season. 19-20

MOUNTAIN WATER BY THE FIRST OF AUGUST

Messrs. Boyakin and J. L. Stannard, of Wash.-Ore., Pledge.

SCORES ALONG ROUTE WANT SUPPLY

Trench Dug to Within a Mile of the County Seat, Saturday

Hurrah and Hooray! Hillsboro and Cornelius will have mountain water by the first of August unless some great and unwarranted obstruction bowls over the prophecies of Messrs. Boyakin, of the Washington-Oregon Corporation, and their consulting engineer, J. L. Stannard, of Stannard & Richardson. These gentlemen were in the county seat Saturday, conferring with the local officials of the company. They had the trenches dug to Dairy Creek, a mile west of town, by Saturday, and the crew is now working on this side. They expect to have the pipe layers follow up closely after the ditchers, and then inside of ten days from today, or the first of the month at the latest, Gales Creek water, tapped in the mountains, will rush into Hillsboro's mains, as well as be ready for the city of Cornelius, as soon as their circulating system is ready for acqua.

What is more than gratifying there are scores of farmers between here and the Grove, and beyond that point, who are clamoring for mountain water. Wells they allege, are very good in their place, and some of them are good all the time, but they do not wish to pass up pure mountain distilled dew, and they are willing to pay the price if they can have taps for house and barn.

E. L. Mapes, of near Laurel, was in town Saturday. Mr. Mapes says he has a fine hop prospect.

S. A. Holcomb, of Portland, formerly of the Bethany section, was an Argus caller, Monday afternoon.

W. H. Morton, of the Greenhouse, left Tuesday for a two-weeks visit with a son, up at the base of Mt. Hood, where he says he intends having a good time fishing and eating his own catch.

Calvin Whitmore and brother, G. W., of Chehalis Mountain, where the products grow big, the air is pure, and one can see all over Washington county, were in the city Saturday afternoon.

Cal. Jack Jr., was the only member of the Hillsboro band who failed to find a suit at the Elks parade in Portland, last Thursday. The coat was too small, and the trousers were not large enough, so Jack wore nothing of the uniform but the cap, along with his "cit" clothes. Jack asked the Bremerton Elks "why they did not make their clothes man's size."
