WATER WAGON AUTO IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

Probi Candidate for U. S. Senator Makes Speeches Monday

B. LEE PAGET EXPOUNDS ON ACOIA Made First Speech at Sherwood Battling the Demon Rum

B. Lee Paget, wheel horse of prohibition, entered Washington County Monday morning, at Sherwood, and delivered a speech in the interests of his candidacy for the United States senate. Mr. Paget has been in the prohibition fight for a good many years, working hand in hand with I. H. Amos, and never a campaign passes but what he is taking the measure of Jonathan Barleycorn, a gentleman who is always no the job when an election rolls around.

Mr. Paget is a forceful speaker and believes in reaching the people. He spent the entire day in the county, and before he ended his campaign had spoken at Sherwood, Tualatin, Tygherville, Beaverton, Reedville, Cornelius, Hillsboro and Orenco. The fact that farmers are very busy meant not the largest crowds possible, but the old crusader cares nothing for this feature of his work.

Mr. Paget is interested in banking in the city of Portland, but always finds time to aggressively enter every prohibition fight that comes along.

Aside from Socialist speeches in the county a few weeks ago Mr. Paget's tour is the initial effort of the campaign.

After the dedication and Mass the party returned to the Grove from which place they returned on the Electric.

BIRTH AND DEATH

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mays, of North Plains, Thursday, Aug. 1, 1912, a son and daughter. The little ones passed away within a few hours of birth. These were the first children of Mr. and Mrs. Mays, and they deeply feel the loss.

Rev. Father Lappen departed Sunday evening for a horseback trip through the Nehalem, leaving out of Forest Grove, in company with three others.

Dr. S. M. Reagan, the veterinary, is "hors du combat," both phonetically and physically, these days, the result of sewing up some wounds in a two-year old colt, owned by Ed. Schulerich. The colt tangled in Hub Simpson's wire fence one day last week and Dr. Reagan went out to do some fine tailoring. He was working away with his needle last Thursday when the horse kicked him in the jaw, shattering the bone. Drs. Bailey and Robb fixed him up, and Dr. Marshall articulated his teeth with wire, to keep the jaw from spreading. He can eat nothing but soup, and will be unable to masticate for several weeks yet.

I saw cordwood, poles up to 12 inches in diameter, fence rails, and boards of all kinds, into stowewood lengths. Will go into the country. Write, phone or call on me. Carl Skow, Oak St., between First and Second, Hillsboro, Oregon. Phone, City 515.

"When you get Sain Creek water in your mains, next year, Hillsboro will have water second to none in the state, or in the Northwest. Turbidity, which has a Northwest reputation, has no better water than that which comes out of the coast range, and feeds Sain and other streams." This is what H. W. Scott says, and he probably knows more about Washington County's streams than any other individual in the county.

Registered Cotswold buck, 3 years old, fine stock and fine individual, for sale. Take him for $15. Herman Rehse, Farmington, Ore. Address Hillsboro, Ore., Route 2.

Clark Wood, the Weston Leader man tells of a man coming in from the harvest field so badly covered with dust that his own bulldog bit him. That's nothing. A Hillsboro dog held the master of the house at bay outside his own porch for an all-night wait, and his wife was so cranky she wouldn't call off the dog, although "hubby" had arrived at his gate at 1:00 a. m.

Brick will be on sale at my yard, North Hillsboro, by Saturday, Aug. 3. Leave orders if you are in the market. A fine kiln just unloaded.—J. G. Kline-man, Hillsboro, Ore. 20-21

R. E. Dunsmoor, of Orenco, was in town Monday. He says Hillsboro's present water supply comes from Clearwater, a tributary of Gales Creek, and that the system comes from one of the finest streams coming out of the coast range of mountains. Down this way, anything that comes from the valley is Gales Creek.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian Church will give an ice cream social at the Farmington Christian Church, Saturday evening, Aug. 3. Program. All are cordially invited. 20-21

Wilbur K. Newell, of above Dilley, was in town Saturday, looking over the Keppfresk plant. Mr. Newell is one of the electors on the Roosevelt ticket, and is confident that Washington County will give the ex-president a plurality, and that Oregon can safely be placed in the Roosevelt column.

Smokers want the best—therefore call for a Schiller or a Grand Marca, when you want to see the blue wreath curl.

Monday's Oregonian contained an excellent crop prospect report on Washington County, along with reports from all over the state. Bumper crops, as a rule, are being harvested everywhere in the Lewis & Clark country.

General blacksmithing, horse-shoeing and woodwork. All work guaranteed. At Grove-land, on the United.—O. Wil-son. 19-32

Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Baylee, of West Union, were in the city Monday. Mr. Baylee has cut back his big orchard, and does not expect to have much of a crop that cheers Oregon.

Contractor Foster received his terra cotta the last of the week, and workmen are engaged in laying at the corners of the court house annex.

Sheriff Hancock and Attorney T. H. Tongue were Kinton visitors, Monday, an attachment sale of some wood.

Mrs. Wm. Gaotter, of near Laurel, and Mrs. Alex Scott, of near Farmington, were visiting friends in the city Saturday.

John McCallen, near Farmington, was a city visitor Monday morning.

Archbishop Christie, of Portland, passed through town Sunday.

DR. VINCENT, SHERWOOD, HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Struck at Tigard by an Oregon Electric Train, Last Friday

TAKEN TO A PORTLAND HOSPITAL

Was Unconscious Several Hours—Deafness Prevented Hearing Train

Dr. Vincent, a physician of Sherwood, was struck Friday morning by an Oregon Electric Salem-Portland car at Tigard, and as a result was taken to the Portland hospital. For several hours his life was in the balance. Dr. Vincent had left Sherwood early in the morning to call on some patient at Tigardville, and was struck while crossing the track on a curve. Being deaf he did not hear the approach of the train. He was thrown from his machine which was badly demolished, and sustained a severe contusion on the head. The physician was taken to Portland in an unconscious condition, and remained so for several hours. Saturday he began to mend, and will now recover.

The curve where he was struck is said to be one of the danger points on the line. Dr. Vincent is well known in the Tualatin-Sherwood section, and has a large practice in that community.

BERRY-NOLAND

Sirard, and after a short wedding trip will be at home to their friends in Portland. The groom is in the abstract business in the Rose City, and the bride is well known at Cornelius, where she has made her residence for many years. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Noland.

BARRETT-MOORE

Dr. Ira E. Barrett and Miss Mabel Ethel Moore were united in marriage at Portland, in the Episcopal Church, Thursday, August 1, 1912. The bride is a sister of W. G. Moore, of Portland, and the groom is well known as the eldest son of Hon. W. N. Barrett and wife. He is a practicing physician of Hillsboro, with offices in the Hillsboro Commercial Building, and is a graduate of the medical school of the University of Oregon. They will take up their residence in Hillsboro, and will be at home to their friends after September 1.

W. F. Desinger, the Beaverton contractor, was up from near Farmington, the last of the week. He is putting up a $1,400 school building in the Rehse district. This will be one of the neatest little school buildings in the rural districts. He expects to complete it by September 1, or, at the latest, by the time school begins.

Louis Holz, the well known haybaler, was down to the John Kamna ranch, last week, and in 41 hours baled 170 tons, 730 pounds of timothy and clover. This means over 40 tons per day, and it is supposed to be one of the best records ever made in the county with a baling outfit.

John Kamna, of Farmington, was up to the city the last of the week. John has 70 acres of oats in one piece—a pretty good acreage for Washington County. Of course, it would not mean much in a prairie and grain section, but for this part of Oregon it is something rare.

Arthur E. Dailey, of Laurel, one of the carriers on the rural route, was in town Friday. He recently returned from a visit with his brother, Frank R., who is now located at Halsey.

H. W. Scott, the Forest Grove timber dealer, was down to the city Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. M. A. Powell departed Tuesday for an extended visit with relatives over in the Tillamook country. She will camp at Netarts for a few days.

Frank C. Francis, of Oak Park, was over Saturday. Mr. Francis has one of the fine onion stands of his section this year.

County Clerk J. W. Bailey went up to the Murphy Camp, above Mountaineer, Saturday, to visit a few days with his family, returning Tuesday.

Huckleberries are not overly plentiful this year, but A. L. Grebe, of Laurel, remembered the force with enough for a palate-pleaser, Saturday.

Notice to Hop Pickers—Regular pickers who pick at the Bagley hop yard are requested to register at once, so list can be taken care of early.—Wm. Bagley Sr.

S. L. Hollenbeck and wife, of above Mountaineer, were in the city Monday. Steve has one of the best fruit driers in his section, but the prune crop will cut down his run this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wall and family spent Sunday at the Tillamook beaches. They leave for near Prineville, this week, making the trip from The Dalles in the auto, which will be taken to that point by steamer. They expect to be there several days, and John will look over his Crook County ranch, recently purchased.

Judge Rodolph Crandall and wife departed Tuesday morning for the East. Mrs. Crandall stops at Anoka, Minn., to visit her mother, Mrs. Shannon, while the Judge will go on to Sheboygan, Mich., to visit relatives. They expect to start home about October 1, and will stop at Myers, Mont., to visit their son, Jesse O. Crandall.

The beach excursion train, J. H. Dobbins, conductor, was wrecked near Tillamook, Sunday, while carrying passengers from Nehalem to Tillamook, running special. The engine was thrown on its side, together with two cars, but fortunately they were thrown against the bank, and no one was injured except the engineer, who suffered a bruised leg. Conductor Dobbins says it was a wonder that the engineer got out of the wreck alive. Penn Frost brought the regular excursion into Portland, and arrived in the metropolis early Monday morning, having a break of the eccentric near Witch Hazel.

MOUNTAIN WATER WENT INTO MAINS ON SUNDAY

Engineer J. L. Stannard Well Pleased With Despatch of Work

ALL KINDS OF WATER FOR THE CITY

Supply of Pure Mountain Water Turned From Grove System

Hillsboro, since last Sunday, has been enjoying Gales Creek mountain water, and there will be plenty for domestic uses, irrigation and for fire purposes. The big pipe line was completed at noon, Friday, running to Third Street, coming into the city on Baseline. Gates were installed and the circulating mains connected in the afternoon.

The getting of water from the mountains was accomplished in record time. When the Washington-Oregon Corporation found that their deep well would not begin to give an adequate water supply last year, another was installed on the Garden Tracts plot, west of town. During the Winter there was evidently all kinds of water, but with the advent of a Spring with but little waterfall, shortage was at once pronounced. The company asked for a separation of the water and light franchise, giving one for each, and pledged the city that were this done mountain water would be flowing by August 10, if not earlier. There appeared at first to be a determined opposition to segregation, but all at once it dropped, and the new franchises went through with a whoop. Work was at once started; a contract was made with the city of Forest Grove for Clear Creek water until January, 1913; right of way was secured from the county; and today we have mountain water.

Engineer, Stannard, who was in the city Friday, feeling good over the result, states that work will now start on extending the pipe line to Sain Creek. A great deal of work will be necessary, for a big reservoir will have to be built on an elevation near Dilley, and ten miles or more of pipe laid.

The company expects to have the entire system completed by January 1.
