HILLSBORO, OREGON, OCTOBER 31, 1912

NO. 33

REGISTRATION OVER FIVE THOUSAND MARK

Covers Voters, Names Since the 24th Day of April

PERSONS OF EACH PARTY GIVEN

Republicans, 3607; Democrats, 835; Socialists, 128; Probi, 108

County Clerk Bailey has made a list of the registration to forward to the secretary of state. The total registration is 5,194, the largest in the history of the county by over 1,000.

As usual the republican registration covers about four voters the democratic registration, and the list is from April 24 to close of the books. The summary is:

Geo. T. Ledford and wife returned Friday from an extended trip to Mr. Ledford's old home, near Kirksville, Mo. They arrived in Portland Thursday evening and remained over night. The next morning Mr. Ledford was stricken with paralysis, and carried to the train in an ambulance. He is recovering slightly from his attack, and his family and friends hope he will soon be on the streets.

Nothing is more needed in this county than good roads. Judge Stevenson is building them. Why stop him when he is just getting started?—Paid adv.

Mr. and Mrs. John Olden, of Morrow County, arrived at the Hotel Washington, last week, in response to a telegram announcing the illness of D. T. Gifford, father of Mrs. Olden and Mine Host Gifford, of the Hotel. Mr. Olden started home Monday evening, Mrs. Olden remaining until there is an improvement in her father's condition.

W. F. Wohlsehlegel, Owner. John Vanderwal, Clerk.

A. Pierce, of near Oreno, in town Saturday afternoon.

Zimmer Miller, of Shady Brook, a city visitor Monday afternoon.

The county judgeship contest case of Rock Roads vs. Mud Lake. Judge Stevenson represents Rock Roads. Which do you want?—Paid adv.

Geo. Bantz Sr., Shady Brook, in the city Monday. He and wife returned a few days ago from an eight weeks trip to parts of Nebraska and Iowa. He says that section of United States very prosperous, with many improvements over the years when he left there. He states that the "blue grass" pastures back there were a revelation to him. It made quite a contrast to the Oregon clover and timothy.

ARCHIE NICHOLS SHOOT BIG ELK NEAR GROVE

Was Out Hunting Quail, and Says he Thought it Was Monster Deer

KILLED WITH A SHOT GUN, SATURDAY

Game Warden Takes it in Custody and Young man bound Over

Archie Nichols, aged seventeen years, residing near Forest Grove, last Saturday shot and killed an elk near the Buxton cemetery, using a shotgun with which he had been hunting quail. Nichols says when he jumped the elk, he thought it was a big deer, and he whanged away, little dreaming that his elkship carried with his carcass a $500 fine. Nichols had skirted the brush back of the cemetery hunting for native pheasant and quail when the elk jumped up within 25 feet of him.

He blazed away with both barrels and laid the big fellow low. When he examined the animal and found it was an elk he told his father, and Nichols senior forthwith took the boy to town and notified a game warden. Young Nichols was bound over to appear before the grand jury, while the game was brought to town and placed in cold storage.

Con McNamer, who knows an elk when he sees him, says the big fellow would weigh from 350 to 400 pounds, dressed.

The presence of his elkship was known to several, and Kople was hunting in the same vicinity the other day. When he came home he said he had tracked the biggest deer in the world in the brush above the burial ground, and that he was going out and get him—but he did not.

Nichols will probably plead ignorance of the knowledge that it was an elk—but it will be worth the money to have it on record that he actually killed an elk. Many a man will envy him the honor, although there are a few—well, quite a few—who would be willing to pay that much money to have the State of Oregon record the prowess on its archives, even if the fees are up to the half thousand mark.

The first reports said that Emerson Farrell, aged 14, had helped kill the big fellow, but this is said to be error.

The statute on elk follows: "Sec. 2283—It shall be unlawful to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, or destroy, or have in possession, except for scientific or breeding purposes, or for the purpose of exhibition in parks or public museums, or to sell, or offer for sale, barter, or exchange, any elk, or elk meat, at any time between the date of the passage of this act and the first day of August, 1919, and from and after the said first day of August, 1919, it shall be unlawful to hunt, pursue, take, kill, injure, or destroy an elk at any time between the first day of September of each year and the first day of August of the following year."

This statute was passed at the 1909 session of the legislature.

MASTER STATE GRANGE ON ROAD LEGISLATION

Write the Press, Asking Consideration on County Rule Bills AS TO HANDLING HIGHWAY AFFAIRS

Should be Read by Every Thoughtful Citizen—Grange Support

C. E. Spence, master of the Oregon State Grange, writes the press, asking the publication of an endorsement of two road bills, offered by the organization. He says a county, if these measures pass, can have the right to vote for or against bonding for roads. His letter follows:

"True rule by the people who pay is contemplated in road bills 324 and 326. The first bill covers the detail of road meetings and bond issues to pay for the work and the latter provides for the creation of a highway department. The bills have been carefully drawn and have been approved by the state grange, an organization composed of level-headed farmers and taxpayers.

The county bonding act requires that the taxpayers specify the amount of bonds, the roads to be improved, the material to be used and the terms of improvements. Work is to be done under the direction of a county engineer appointed by the county court and approved by the state highway engineers. Specifications are to be prepared by a competent engineer and approved by the state highway engineer. Work is to be awarded by contract after advertisement.

The argument advanced in favor of this measure is that it grants the taxpayers full control of the road building situation, both as to the amount of bonds and location of roads to be improved and nature of improvement, while at the same time availing the supervision of the state highway engineer who shall be in close touch with the county engineer whose appointment by the county court he will have approved.

Home Rule in the matter of good roads is what the people of Oregon need. The people of a county ought to be allowed to spend their own money for good roads, and in the manner they see fit. With this idea in mind it would be well for the voter interested in good roads to vote yes on bills 324 and 326."

AUCTION SALE

We will sell at public auction, at our place, one mile north of Cornelius, on the old Centerville road, at ten a. m., on THURSDAY, NOV. 7

Schulerich herd; seven-eighths Jersey bull, 2 yrs old; bay driving horse, 3 years in Spring; buggy, No. 2 Empire cream separator; several 10-gal and 5-gal milk cans; 100-egg Mandy Lee incubator. Lunch at Noon.

Terms of Sale—Ten and under, cash; over, 1 year bankable note, at 8 per cent. 2 per cent off for cash.

A. O. Cook & Son, Owners. J. W. Hughes, Auctioneer. Frank Sholes, Clerk.

Congressman W. C. Hawley, of Salem, was in the city Friday afternoon and evening, arriving in on the Oregon Electric shortly after two in the afternoon. Hawley was in the smoker coming out from Portland, and was enjoying a Havana. He says he is confident of victory, and that he will distance both the Roosevelt and democratic candidates. Hawley's prohibition rival is probably giving him a little trouble, for Stillman appears to be getting some of the republican votes where there is a prohibition tendency. This, of course, would tend to help both the democratic and progressive candidates. While in the city, Mr. Hawley was a guest at the Hotel Washington.

MASS MEETING

A mass meeting is hereby called to convene at the court house, in Hillsboro, at 8 p. m., on Monday, November 4, 1912, for the purpose of nominating city officers for the coming city election.

H. T. Bagley, Mayor. Hillsboro, Ore. Oct. 24, 1912.

Jake Milne, of North Tualatin Plains, was in the city Saturday morning.

Dr. Lowe, Friday.

T. R. Davis, of North Tualatin Plains, was in the city the last of the week.

Jos. Brandenberg, of Oreno, was a city visitor the last of the week.

Coal and wood of all kinds. Leave orders by Telephone City 477.—H. D. Schmeltzer, 31-1f

Alfred Heywood, of Oak Park, was a city visitor Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Carstens, of Banks, were guests over Sunday at the home of Mrs. E. C. McKinney.

A vote for Judge Stevenson for County Judge is a vote to fill mud holes with crushed rock.—Paid adv.

I. C. Nealeigh, the orchardist, and Frank Fischer, an onion grower, were up from Scholls Saturday, and called on the Argus.

Wanted—An apprentice for dressmaking.—Mrs. Mary Malone, on Second, between Edison and Jefferson, telephone City 107.

A private letter from Boyd Long, with the First Regiment, at Honolulu, states that he may stay in the Islands this winter, after he receives his discharge in December.

Attorney John M. Wall went to Vancouver, Wash., Monday, to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the World Keepfresh Company, representing Hillsboro stockholders.

For sale: About 60 Angoras, mixed; some kids. Will sell from $1 upward.—L. J. Francis, Tualatin, Oregon. 32-4

P. G. Higdon has completed painting a very fine and commodious bungalow for Mr. Hitchcock, of Reedville, and he expects to start plastering this week.

D. P. Corrieri always keeps the finest fish in the county. All kinds in season. Also a fine supply of the freshest vegetables. Try him, Second Street, one door South of Koerber's. 25-1f

Findley McLeod, of above Gaston, was to the city Monday, on probate affairs, settling up his administration of the estate of his brother, the late Agnus McLeod.

By the next issue of the Argus we will all know who is to be the next president of the United States. That is to say, unless a situation unlooked for shall present itself, that no candidate shall have a majority in the electoral college.

Do not forget that Dave Corwin will do your plumbing and give you estimates. Satisfactory work always, and prices that can't be given by others. Chennette Row, Second Street.

N. Womer, of Oakville, Washington, near Grays Harbor, is over for a two weeks visit with relatives, at Laurel, making the trip to see his brother, Daniel, who is an invalid. This is Mr. Womer's first trip here in some months, and he is gratified at the way Hillsboro is doing things.

For sale: Span of mules; 12 years old; weight about 2300; never been injured; gentle, and good workers and travelers. Will take young mare as part payment—must weigh at least 1200.—I. C. Nealeigh, Scholls, Oregon, Sherwood, Ore., Route 33-5

Sam Paisley, of Buxton, was down Saturday. Sam says that the Argus is in error in thinking that Roosevelt has any advantage over Taft in Washington County, and that Buxton will roll up the usual republican vote for the Ohio man next Tuesday. Sam is very emphatic about it, too.

John Reichen, of West Union, was in town Saturday, and says that the Oreno-Helvetia cutoff of the Electric line badly cuts up his place. He finds it necessary to move every building but his house in order to get them off the right of way. Active work has commenced on both ends of the line.

Jos. Downs and crew, in charge of the Sweeney cement work, put in the Wilkes Abstract sidewalk, Monday, with but one mishap. Some elderly gentleman, who was in a hurry to ward off the chills of morning at a thirst emporium, plowed through the top dressing like a full-rigged bark at sea under a heavy gale. It took only five minutes to repair the damage as the cement had not yet set.
