Woodrow Wilson is no doubt very thankful that it's a long and tedious swim to the Bermudas.

If hanging is the real thing let us give it a show, and make a free show in the county where the crime is committed—as they did at the Tynwald on the Isle of Man centuries ago. Barbarous? Well, don't look at it—but give the rest a chance to see a good thing once in a while.

Why should William Jennings Bryan go into the cabinet? Why? Does he owe it to his country? Not on your life! Bryan, the private citizen, with a heart for his country's weal, is better than Bryan tied down by the conventionalities in politics. He is the greatest man in America today. With the country progressive, it was Bryan who evolved the progressive idea. Follow the platforms and see if this be not true. Every progressive thought in either the Roosevelt or Taft platform is from ten to twelve years behind the Nebraska; every great burning public question has been sounded by Bryan years ago. Let Bryan stay where he is—the one man who fights for right and justice without fear of kicking over the political pot. Stay where you are, Willam, and "take keer of yerse'f."

The thousand times that you were right
Won't gain you any song,
But they'll remember day and night
The one time you were wrong.

"You will enlarge your vocabulary after using one for an hour in a rocky garden."—Washington Herald.

"What's new in the news?" "Terrible scandal at Oldport. It has leaked out that Mrs. Wallaby Wombat, the society leader, exacts a percentage of her servants' tips."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Artie chokes on artichokes
And writhes about in pain,
But auntie dotes on antidotes,
And soon he's well again.
