Every old man is the ripened fruit of his younger days. A man does not grow old over night. Age creeps upon us, and if extravagance is stealing away our money, age is stealing our capacity for work and preparing us for a desolate old age. If you wish to be comfortable, you must begin putting away your money now, then when old age comes you can fall back upon the money you BANKED when you were younger.

Do your banking with us. We pay 4 per cent. interest.

Oregon Electric Will at Once Install New System of Dispatching

EQUIPMENT SIMPLIFIES TRAIN ORDERS

Thirty-Five Stations Will be Equipped With the New Device

The Oregon Electric has contracted with the Western Electric Co. to install a telephone system for dispatching of trains on the Eugene and the Hillsboro-Forest Grove lines. The company's circular says:

"The type of equipment to be installed makes use of the standard Western Electric telephone selector set. The 'Selector,' as its name implies, is an instrument so designed that when properly adjusted it will respond only to certain electrical signals or impulses which are regulated and sent out over the line by the train dispatcher. The latter can, therefore, signal any one of the way stations at which these selector sets are located without signalling any of the others on the same line. Two circuits will be equipped, one from Portland to Forest Grove and the other from Portland to Eugene. The former division is approximately 40 miles; while the other is approximately 125 miles in length. There are to be two train dispatchers both located at Hoyt Street Station, Portland. Thirty-five way stations are to be equipped with telephones and selective signalling apparatus while every train will be furnished with a portable telephone set and line pole so that in case of an emergency, communication with headquarters may be established by the train crew from any point between way stations. All sidings will be equipped with a jack device for making connection with the telephone line.

The many advantages accruing from the use of the telephone instead of the telegraph for the dispatching of trains alone were responsible for its adoption. The telephone, in the first place, is quicker. It has been observed that the ring of the bell will insure a prompt answer, and for this purpose large, so-called 'extension' bells are used, which can be heard several hundred feet away. In the four years that the telephone has been used for dispatching, not a railroad accident has been laid to its door, so that it may be said to be as safe as, if not safer than, the telegraph. Furthermore, it has been made possible to increase the length of a division handled by one dispatcher by as much as 50 per cent.

The telephone, making possible, as it does, direct personal communication by word of mouth between the dispatcher and the men under him, has the effect of a warm, hearty handclasp every time it is used. A spoken sentence, even when an order, is infinitely more inspiring and impressive than a succession of cold and formal dots and dashes, and it is this feature as much as any other which has made for the success of the telephone as an improver of discipline and increaser of efficiency on railroad systems."

C. J. Cowanah, of near Connel station, on the United, has sued out an injunction against John Boeckli et al., asking the court to stop them from cutting and sawing any more timber on 80 acres of land, which they purchased from him some time ago for $5,200, paying him $1,000 in cash, and giving a mortgage for the remaining $4,200. The plaintiff states that the men have already cut two million feet, and there is still a million feet remaining, and that the loss of the timber will impair the value of the place, as well as his security. The Boeckli partners have erected a sawmill on the place, and have been doing quite a sawmill business. The mortgage ran for five or six years from the time of the purchase, and is not yet due.

The Bethany Grange has installed a new piano in their hall, and will give a dance, Saturday evening, Feb. 8. Music by Johnson & Davis. Tickets, $1.00. Everybody cordially invited.

If you drink because of a craving for stimulants—if you've reached the stage where nothing will satisfy excepting rough, high-proof, strong whiskey—our story is not for you. But if it's mellowness, age and flavor you're looking for—you'll like Cyrus Noble.

Because it's pure—because it's palatable—because you don't have to dilute it with water to be able to swallow it. It costs no more than any other good whiskey.
