CORNELIUS OFFICIALS GET INJUNCTION

District Attorney E. B. Tongue Files Suit for T. A. McCourt

CASE GOES TO CIRCUIT COURT

Contents Ordinance for Wet and Dry Election was Null and Void

Cornelius, the thriving little city between Hillsboro and Forest Grove, is now in the contending class before circuit court. District Attorney E. B. Tongue, as counsel for T. A. McCourt, a Cornelius saloon proprietor, has filed suit against that city, asking for a permanent injunction restraining Mayor Sholes from making proclamation that the people of the city returned a "dry" majority at the recent election.

The complaint sets forth that the charter was not complied with in preparing the ordinance because the Mayor did not sign the instrument, and also that the charter was not followed in printing and circulating the pamphlets.

The election in question took place April 7, and the dry element cast nine more votes than the wets.

The charter, which was adopted when Cornelius began to put on city airs, provided ways and means for such an election event, and sets forth just how the procedure should be carried on, and if the contentions of the McCourt complaint are proved to be true it begins to look as though the election was of no consequence except to point out the sentiment of the voters.

I saw cordwood, poles up to 12 inches in diameter, fence rails, and boards of all kinds, into stove-wood lengths. Will go into the country. Write, phone or call on me. Carl Skow, corner 8th and Fir, Hillsboro, Oregon. Phone, City 822.

Frank Jackson, a son of Editor Jackson, of the Journal, and Fred Locksley, a special writer on that paper, came out from Portland, Friday afternoon, in a machine. They reported the roads good in places, but very spotted. They were stuck but twice, however, on their trip out here. The special writer is getting up an article touching on Washington County's pioneer history.

For sale: Thoroughbred White Leghorn eggs, $1 for 15, or $6 per hundred; also hens and pullets; won second prize at Hillsboro in 1912.—Emil Stark, Bethany, address Portland, Ore., Route 2. 52-9

A great many Washington County people will remember John Cordano, the detective, who died in San Francisco, the other day. Cordano has for years been a help to our officials, especially when he was connected with the Portland detective force. His widow will receive $4,000, which Cordano accumulated by investing in Rose City realty.

Dreer's Early Standard potato seed for sale. Potatoes mature in 90 days. Something new, and something fine. Have about 40 bushels.—Geo. R. Bagley, or apply at Oak Cove Farm. 45tf

Somebody who wanted some rolling stock badly appropriated two wheelbarrows from the Rock-olite people. The Irish buggies were left on Second Street, opposite the water and light office. E. A. Gordon offers five dollars reward for information leading to the parties who took the barrows.

For sale—Several incubators and brooders, latest makes.—J. P. Adams, near Jabez Wilkes' place, south of City Park, Hillsboro. 5tf

Sam Loudon, the pioneer dairyman of Lincoln County, was in town Friday, accompanying his brother, James Loudon, of Iowa Hill. This is his first trip over here in 30 years, and he hardly knew the town. Mr. Loudon shipped in the first registered cattle to feed on Lincoln County's pastures.

AMOS E. MEAD

Amos E. Mead, of the Buxton section, died April 12, after being indisposed for several months. He was born in Dundee, Michigan, in June, 1858, and married Miss Lucinda Nichols, about 30 years ago. They came to Oregon about 25 years ago, and settled within four miles of Buxton, making that their home ever since. The widow and the following children survive: Mrs. W. E. Kelley, Buxton; Irvine, Fay and Agnes, all at home.

Of his immediate family, he leaves the following brothers and sisters: A. A. Mead, Hillsboro; M. M. Mead, Tillamook; Cassius Mead, Springfield; J. H., of Plymouth, Indiana; Lewis, of St. Louis; Mrs. Maria Beckler, Chicago, and Mrs. Helen Horton, of Morenci, Mich.

Deceased was a good neighbor, and had hosts of friends in the northern portion of the county.

AGED WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Harriet Webber, grandmother of J. W. Enochs, of this section, died at Stanberry, Mo., March 25, 1913. Mrs. Webber, at death, was aged 98 years, 4 months and 9 days. She was wedded to Robert Webber, in Ohio, in 1883, and leaves four children, one of whom is Mrs. Lydia Enochs, the mother of Mr. Enochs. In this remarkable family there are 60 grandchildren, 150 great grandchildren and 50 great-great grandchildren—a record that few women attain. Death was due to pneumonia. She was a remarkable woman, and held her faculties to the very last. Her four living children are aged 66, 72 and 79 years.

The Wilkes Garage recently sold August Tews a Ford auto, and August will soon be beating up the roads of Washington County.

Al. Wirtz, of above Mountaindale, was in town Monday, and said that while a number of farmers were working the soil, it was too wet for good results.

Thos. Withycombe, of Portland, was out the first of the week, visiting his ranch, near Farmington. He and his son expect to have registered Jersey stock sale in a short time.

Contractor Gordon states that he has nearly enough material on hand to finish his Hillsboro contract. He thinks that six weeks of good weather would put his street contracts through.

Capt. Collins, who has been suffering with laGrippe all winter, is now beginning to feel like a new man. With a few Spring days the Captain would be able to make his daily trip to the business section.

That new car for the men in charge of the Washington-Oregon Corporation is getting to be quite a familiar figure these days, and the boys will be able to make a trip to headwaters of their water system, without trouble, when the roads dry a little. Manager Turner and Art Gilmore are becoming more than proficient at the wheel.

Iowa Hill: Farmers are busy putting in crops—John Koehnke was down to the county seat Thursday.—S. T. Loudon, of Ed-dyville, Ore., is looking over this section, while visiting his brother, Jas. Loudon.—Mrs. Julian is very ill, her affliction being carcinoma of the breast.—The teachers and pupils of District 52 gave a basket social Saturday evening, with a good program consisting of songs, recitations and tableaux. The house was crowded, and the receipts were $25.75—Cor.

The Mimi, the German schooner, which was wrecked off the Nehalem coast, a few weeks ago, and which turned turtle the other day, has entirely disappeared from view. William Sipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sipp, of Mountaindale, was on the Mimi when she capsized, and his body was not at latest reports, recovered. The action of the life saving crew at Garibaldi, is now under investigation, to see whether or not charges of cowardice shall be brought.

JAMES LUCK DEAD AT FOREST GROVE

Was Born When Napoleon Was at Head of Great French Empire

SAW QUEEN VICTORIA TAKE CROWN

Was Ninety-Eight Years of Age and Held Mentality Remarkably

Few men live to the age of James Luck, of Forest Grove, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Bailey, last Thursday, April 19. Luck was an infant when Napoleon rode at the head of his legions and was at war with combined continental Europe, allied as well with England. Although ninety-eight years of age he held his mentality remarkably well in his declining years. The Forest Grove News-Times gives the following sketch of his life:

"James Luck was born in Suffolk county, England, March 9, 1815, just three months before the battle of Waterloo, when the Iron Duke defeated the great Napoleon. He was five years of age when George IV was crowned King of England, and attended the coronation ceremonies of William IV when he was fifteen. When Victoria was crowned queen he was a young man of twenty-two. He came to America in 1839, and was married to a New England girl in 1844. He cast his first ballot for Zachary Taylor. Mr. Luck lived for some time in New York, but decided to locate farther west, and moved to a farm at Oconowoc, Wis. He had learned the milling business in England, and his neighbors in the Wisconsin town persuaded him to establish a mill there. He followed the occupation for forty years, and retired from active business at the age of 75 years. Mrs. Bailey is his only child, and he has made his home with her for many years."
