

GOVERNMENT WINS EXTENSIVE LAND CASE

Federal Judge Wolverson Decides U. S. Land Reverts to U. S.

OVER TWO MILLION ACRES INVOLVED

Case Will be Appealed High, and to U. S. Supreme Court

Judge Wolverson, in the Portland Federal Court, Tuesday morning gave a decree that sets aside the title to 2,300,000 acres of land in Oregon now claimed by the U. S. C. and decides that the government is entitled to the land because the railway company has not lived up to the provisions of the original grant. Judge Wolverson stated that the argument had all been clear to him, and that the matter would rest with the higher courts.

In almost every county in the state are thousands of acres of land, and much of it has been sold under contract to settlers.

Special Prosecutor Townsend in charge of the case for the government and W. D. Fenton fought the defense for the railway company. The case was argued several months ago, after Lafferty, the Portland congressman, had started some irregular cases. Townsend alleged that the Lafferty cases should be reversed by the government cases, and Judge Wolverson so decided.

It will probably take several years for the higher courts to get through with the litigation. The status of the grant was given by the company was given in lands upon condition, by congressional act, that the railway could sell the land at not to exceed $2.50 per acre to actual settlers. This has not been done, thousands of acres yet being in the hands of the company. Much of the land, however, was sold to settlers at prices ranging all the way from ten to forty dollars per acre.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A German aged about 60, name unknown, was found near Tigar station, on the electric line, yesterday, badly bruised about the head and scalp. The man was insane and was brought here and examined by Dr. E. L. Sears. He was ordered committed by Judge Reamson. He says he was born in Germany, and came to this country in 1874, and to Oregon in 1883. He is unknown to anyone in that section, and was so demoralized that his name could not be learned. As near as could be learned, he was born at a place he called "Elsos," but it may be in "Alsace." When found he had but little clothing on him, and he was in a pitiable condition.

CITY COUNCIL HIRES NEW CITY ENGINEER

Herbert J. Flagg Underbids McGee on Improvement Work

MACADAM BIDS WERE THROWN OUT

New Advertisements for the Street Improvements Appear

The city council decided to throw out the bids for the macadam street improvement, and new bids were ordered, which appear in this issue of the press. The lowest bid was for 93 cents, and this is considered a trifle high.

The council opened bids Tuesday night for the engineering work for the city, and Herbert J. Flagg, now in charge of the McMinnville and Dallas engineering, was the successful bidder.

Mr. Flagg comes well recommended and says he will give the city an efficient service.

The call for bids sets the date of opening and awarding at May 10, at 7:30 in the evening.

MRS. HERMAN PRAHL

Mrs. Herman Prahl died suddenly at her home, two miles northeast of this city, Friday morning. Mrs. Prahl had not been well for several years, but her health had improved the past few months, and death was therefore a great shock to the family. Mr. Prahl, who left here a few weeks ago to visit his mother in Germany, was notified by cable, Friday morning, and eight hours later a cablegram was received that he would leave on the first steamer out of Hamburg.

Mrs. Prahl's maiden name was Christine Postel, and she and Mr. Prahl were married in Minnesota, Nov. 29, 1885. She came to Oregon with the family in 1913, from Renville, Minn.

She leaves the husband and the following children to mourn her loss: Waldemar, aged 24; Margaret, aged 22; Werner, Ralph, Herman, Emma, Homer and Sylvester, all under age, and all of whom are at home, excepting Waldemar. Mrs. Prahl was aged 47 years, 7 months and 6 days.

The body has been embalmed and will be held until Mr. Prahl arrives from Germany.

Eugene Franklin McNelly

Eugene Franklin McNelly, closely associated with the history of North Washington County for many years, died at Portland, April 25, 1913, after being removed there for an operation. Mr. McNelly was born at Clinton, Maine, May 16, 1849, and came to Oregon in 1874, settling on the Jolly donation, three miles north of Hillsboro. He was wedded, the second time, to Mrs. Emma J. Gray, at Vancouver, Wash., March 14, 1888. The widow and two sons survive.

Geo. F. McNelly, captain of the Port of Portland Steamer, Oklahoma, a son by his first wife, and Fred C. McNelly, residing at the home place.

Mr. McNelly was a man of strong convictions, was upright and honorable, and has a host of friends in this section.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon, services being held at the North Tualatin Plains Presbyterian Church, where he attended chapel for years, and interment was in the church burial lot.

"Sleep on, dear one, in Jesus sleep. Thy toils and cares are o'er; The victor's crown is won at last. Thou wilt wear it evermore.

Farewell, Father, till we meet in Heaven. In that land where there's no night, No sorrow pain or death can come. But all is joy and light."

FLOSSIE BROWN

(Contributed) Flossie Brown passed to the beyond, April 27, 1913, at the home of her uncle E. E. Lyon, of this city, after an illness extending over a period of many months. She joined the Christian Church less than a year ago and her faith helped her to bear her sufferings. She was born in Portland, Oregon, March 15, 1894. She leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, Mrs. B. E. Ford, her grandmother, Mrs. S. N. Lyon, her uncles, E. E. and F. O. Lyon, and her aunts, Miss Rhoda Lyon, all this city, and Mrs. A. S. Danner, of Portland. The funeral took place Tuesday.

COMMERCIAL CLUB IS TO BE REVIVED

Call is Out for Meeting in Tamsie Building, Next Thursday

WILL FIT UP WEST SIDE UPPER FLOOR

City has Long Needed Quarters for Civic Organization

Hillsboro is going to make an attempt to get down to business in the way of the formation of a successful Commercial Club. Primary action has been initiated in buying outright the carpets and furnishings of the west half of the upper floor of the Tamsie Building, occupied by a store on the lower floor, and it is understood that the rental figures are to be so low that it will not be a hardship on the club. The idea is to have a smoker next Thursday evening, at which time the matter of adding members to the club will be taken up, as well as the furnishing of the proposed quarters.

A good, live commercial club has long been Hillsboro's need—and the first great need is a home for the organization.

It comes from good authority that Dr. Tamsie will rent the rooms in question—which constitute a half of the upper floors—for $30 per month, including the heat. The carpet has already been bargained for by individuals who are members of the organization.

A few more fixtures, in the way of chairs, rockers, tables, billiard tables etc., will be needed, and if the membership can be augmented with any degree of success Hillsboro promises to come out from under, and show the state at large one of the best clubs and neatest club houses in any city in the state, outside of Portland. All business men and citizens, who are taking an interest in the future of the town are requested to come out next Thursday night, and become members. It isn't going to break anyone, and the Argus trusts that the meeting will lead to the successful organization of a club that will stand among the best in the best town in the best state in the union. The call for the meeting follows:

To the Business Men and Residents of Hillsboro:

The Hillsboro Commercial Club will give a smoker in the club rooms in the new Tamsie building on Thursday, May 8, 1913, at 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of outlining the future of the club; to secure additional members; to discuss ways and means and the purchase of such club furniture and fixtures as may be necessary; to discuss the social and business future of the club and promote entertainments. All those desiring to become members are respectfully invited to attend the smoker.

Geo. R. Bagley, President.

A. C. Shute, Secretary.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Sunday morning, May 4, Evan P. Hughes will present to his church and congregation the reasons why he should accept their invitation to the leadership of the work here, and also the reasons why he should decline the same invitation, with a statement of his final decision in the matter.

Several months ago the church issued the call, but Mr. Hughes declined to consider the possibility of his coming, owing to business circumstances. He was requested to name the conditions on which it would be possible for him to give such a proposition serious consideration. He did so. The church promptly met all the conditions, except one. Without waiting further to hear the church's action relative to that one remaining condition, the acting pastor will tender his decision next Sunday morning. He feels now, as he has felt for some time, that the church needs the entire time and thought of a pastor. Three years ago the membership was discouraged to a degree, talk of disbanding was indulged in; and now, there is no such feeling, and the largest salary in the history of the church has been already subscribed.

A very general interest is felt in the coming meeting Sunday morning. The membership and congregation of the church will be largely represented, and everyone interested in its work and prosperity, is cordially invited to be present.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McCann, Sixth and Washington, April 25, 1913, a son, Mr. McCann is with the roadmaster's department on the P. R. & N.

Florence A. Holland has sued Herbert Holland for divorce, alleging that the husband, who wedded her in Clatsop county in 1911, has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment. She alleges that in December, 1911, he choked her the day after Christmas, and told her: "D— you, I will kill you." She also says that he told her that if she had half sense she would leave him, as he had a wife in the East. She wants a separation, but says nothing about the custody of a child, which was an infant when she married him.
