Jas. H. Wilson Gets Bride Through Woman Writing Mayor Rushlight

MARRIED ROSATTE LILLYE, FRIDAY

As a Result of Publicity Judge Reasoner Ties Matrimonial Knot

That it pays to advertise has again been proven in the particular instance of the once Mrs. Rosatte Lillye, of Forest Grove. Mrs. Lillye resided near Gaston several months ago, and her husband was injured by the explosion of a gasoline engine. Lillye was badly burned, and died shortly after the accident. The widow had one child, and being left a widow she concluded that she might again find a husband by advertising. She accordingly sent a letter to Rushlight, of Portland, who sent the gist of the communication to the Oregonian, the paper publishing the following notice as a compliment to the Mayor:

"Mayor Accepts Cupid Role.—Here's a chance for some good-hearted bachelor to become a benedict. Mrs. W. D. Lillye, of Forest Grove, Ore., has written Mayor Rushlight asking him to find her a husband. The Mayor announced that he will act as cupid for all applicants who do not desire to enter into negotiations direct. Mrs. Lillye says that her husband burned to death February 10, that she is 22 years old and would be a good, true, loving wife."

The notice caught the eye of James H. Wilson, who was night officer in the city of Forest Grove. He at once called on Mrs. Lillye, and as a result last Friday morning, they came to the county seat and were united in the bonds of matrimony by County Judge Reasoner.

F. A. Moore and Edw. Sparks were the witnesses to the marriage, and the two were made one in a short and impressive ceremony.

The groom is a widower, and has children. The Argus extends its best wishes for their happiness, and if the bride lives up to the pre-nuptial promises published in the above note from the Portland paper.

Jeptha Garrigus, one of the old residents of the Banks section, was in town Monday.

F. E. and Bert Rowell, of Scholls, were in the county seat Monday.

Now is the time to have that house wired. See the Owl Electric Co. 1-tf

An Ohio organization is again sending out circulars asking for united support for a one-cent letter postage rate.

C. C. Smith, traveling over the state with a special reel for the motion picture plays, was in the city over Sunday.

R. F. Peters, of Portland, with Clark Bros., attorneys, in the Yeon Building, was out to Hillsboro, Sunday, greeting his many friends.

Percy L. Casteel and Vera Hall, of the Tualatin-Sherwood section, were united in marriage, May 3, 1913, Judge Reasoner officiating.

Peter Grossen, of near Helvetia, stated Monday that seeding is later this season, than for many years. There is still a considerable amount of Spring work out his way.

Nearly everybody remembers Toll Thompson, the insurance man, who formerly made frequent visits to Hillsboro. Mrs. Thompson died in Portland, Sunday, after being operated on by a surgeon. There were no children. The husband survives, with several brothers and sisters.

Mrs. E. Wolf, of near Reedville, was pleasantly surprised by her friends and neighbors, last Wednesday afternoon, April 30, the occasion being her 59th birthday. The guests enjoyed social conversation and music, and were seated to delightful refreshments which were brought for the event. Those present were: Mesdames E. A. Wolf, D. R. Wheeler, J. E. Hunt, G. A. Wellborn, Mary Hoben, M. M. Lyall, Bartlett Townsend, M. Hitchcock, Geo. Libby and F. Bockmann. When the afternoon was drawing to a close the visitors departed wishing the hostess many happy returns of the day.

Lot for sale or trade. On Baseline Street, Tongue Addition. Will take horse or cow as part payment. A bargain.—Address Box 186, Forest Grove, or see J. T. Young, Hillsboro, for particulars. 8-10

Two men from the capital came down Thursday, and started Friday morning to drive a herd of dairy cows, overland, to the asylum and penitentiary farms. There were 24 cows—12 registered Holsteins and 12 grade Holsteins, purchased by Gov. West and Dr. Lee Steiner from Geo. R. Bagley's herd. It is understood that the purchase price was $2,400. Mark Butler helped get the herd to their destination. The trip was made out by Dilley, the Spring Hill farm, and the Chehalis Gap, via LaFayette and the Eola Hills section.

For sale: Thoroughbred White Leghorn eggs, $1 for 15, or $6 per hundred; also hens and pullets; won second pen prize at Hillsboro in 1912.—Emil Stark, Bethany, address Portland, Ore., Route 2. 52-9

Seven or eight school boys have been robbing yards of bulbs and flowers, and shrubbery, and transplanting them in their family yards. Oscar Kelsay, who has been away from home for some time, found that his yard had been badly dealt with in this respect, and located some of the missing property. Sheriff Reeves rounded up a number of the youngsters and they returned the stolen articles, with profuse promises to "never again" indulge in petty larceny of this kind.

Dreer's Early Standard potato seed for sale. Potatoes mature in 90 days. Something new, and something fine. Have about 40 bushels.—Geo. R. Bagley, or apply at Oak Cove Farm. 45tf

H. M. Basford and sister, who left Farmington a few weeks ago, wrote Mrs. Emma Adams that they enjoyed themselves immensely in California, and from San Francisco were enroute to Los Angeles. They spent two days in the Golden Gate City, visiting all points of interest, as well as the United States mint at that point, where they were given a pass to see the dies turn out twenty dollar pieces.

Angora goats for sale, 100 head, 60 of them nannies. Two and one-half miles southeast of Hillsboro, on Farmington-Hillsboro road, Route 2, Box 98A.—R. Courtney. 8-10

Mr. and Mrs. John Kamna and children, the Misses Betty and Lena and Master Johnnie, depart Saturday for Germany, to be absent from four to six months. Their immediate destination is Achim, Germany, but they expect to tour all over continental Europe in a motor. They will take their time and see all points of interest. Mr. Kamna and family have many friends here who wish for them a delightful trip.

The Grand Marca is the most wholesome "two for a quarter" smoke on market—made in Oregon, by E. Schiller. When you indulge in a good smoke buy a Grand Marca. 12tf

Ray Soehren, well known at Banks and Greenville, was married May 20 to Miss Belle G. Enos, at Sacramento, Cal. They will make their home in California's capital city, where the groom has a position as manager of a Lumber Company.

I have for sale about 30 or 40 bushels of drought proof potatoes, earlier than the Burbank, and something fine. Inquire at Second and Jackson Streets, Oral Gardner. 7-9

Born, to Frank Waibel and wife, Hillsboro, May 4, 1913, a son. Mother and child are doing well, and Frank will be able to settle down to work in a few days.

For sale—Several incubators and brooders, latest makes.—J. P. Adams, near Jabez Wilkes place, south of City Park, Hillsboro. 6tf

CHAMPOEG HAS DAY OF CELEBRATION

Hundreds Gather Last Friday to Celebrate American Occupation

HOW J. L. MEEK MADE HISTORY

Was the Leader of the Forces Favoring the United States

Hundreds of people gathered at Champoeg, on the Willamette River, Marion County, last Friday, to celebrate the day when history was made in 1843, when 102 men voted for and against provisional government under the United States. After much talk Col. J. L. Meek, father of S. A. D. Meek, of North Plains, stopped proceedings by calling for a vote. Meek, who at that time resided near the present site of North Plains, stepped out of the crowd, and drawing a line with the toe of his boot, said: "Who's for a Divide?" All who are for the United States come on this side. There was a moment of hesitation and then enough walked across to Meek's side of the line to declare for American provisional government. Last Friday there was but one survivor of that famous meeting there—F. X. Matthieux, now living in Portland.

Oldtimers have always given Meek the credit of calling for the vote at the right time, and in recognition of that service President Polk made him a United States Marshal for the district of Oregon.

Those who are well known in this county attending last Friday's meeting were:

Albert Tozier, now of Portland and Salem, with a homestead at Dee, in the Cascade Range.

Mrs. Olive Riley, a daughter of Col. Meek.

Mrs. C. E. Shinn, a granddaughter of Mr. Meek.

Janey McE. Galbreath, of Tualatin.

State Senator W. H. Hollis, of Forest Grove.

W. B. Jolly, a son of the late Rev. Jolly, one of the earliest pioneers, now living in Portland.

Mrs. C. W. Purdin, who crossed the Isthmus in the fifties.

Addison Bennett, in writing of the meeting, says:

"It is only necessary to mention three names—Joe Meek, F. X. Matthieux and his next friend, Etienne Lucier. The latter two, as their names will show, were of French descent. When the question finally came fairly before the meeting, there was for a brief period a lack of knowledge of how to proceed. But Joe Meek stepped out from the crowd and waving aloft his coonskin cap he shouted: "Let all of those who favor a divide follow me." Perhaps those were not his exact words, but the intent of his utterance was to have those wishing to become a part of the American government to join his line, and those favoring England to oppose them.

PICTURE IS RECALLED.

I wish I could picture that division of forces. I wish I could picture the meeting, the personnel of it. I stood yesterday on the spot and endeavored to look back 70 years to that day—day of all days for the Oregon country. Try for yourself to bring that historic gathering of honest and intrepid men, such men as build nations and establish empires and make for civilization. Picture their dress. Most of them were coatless; many of them, like Joe Meek, were dressed in the garb of the hunter and trapper of those days—buckskin shirts and trousers, moccasins on their feet, coonskin caps upon their heads, faces unknown to the razor, hair hanging well over their shoulders."

It is safe to say that farmers have worked more Sundays this Spring than for many years. A trip through the country the last two Sabbath days disclosed the fact that numbers of the tillers of the soil were plowing or seeding.

The fountain on the post office corner is having considerable patronage these days. Another will be placed by the corner of the court house square. You do not need any sanitary drinking cup, as the little "squirt" will get the water to you without any trouble. The one now installed is connected with the pipe that feeds the Heidelberg building, and when a faucet is turned on upstairs, however, the force of the stream is diminished and you are likely to lose your "nip" on the water, as it subsides into the cup.

Mrs. Lyda Aker, the widowed mother of a four-year-old child, Genira May Aker, signed a release Monday, before Judge Reasoner, and upon her petition, the child was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Herrington, who give every evidence of affording the child an excellent home. Mr. and Mrs. Herrington have no children of their own, and appear to think the world of the little one. It is such acts as this that make this old world brighter and better, and may the Herrington family increase to the extent that there will be no small children uncared for.

DON'T FORGET THE BIG CLUB MEETING TONIGHT

Time for Business Men to Get out From Under Animositities

PROSPECTS FOR BIG CLUB BRIGHT

Organization Can Effect Much Good for City of Hillsboro

Every business man should make it a point to attend the smoker in the Tamiesie Block this evening, and be one of the many who will start the Commercial Club to a field of usefulness. Hillsboro needs a successful Commercial Club, and the only way to get it is to put your shoulders to the wheel.

An organization of this kind will be of vast business importance to the interests of the city.

There is a future ahead for Hillsboro, and it cries out for concerted action by business men and citizens generally. There are many things that Hillsboro can get if the business interests of the city will pull together. Hillsboro is now at the stage when petty animosities should be laid aside and all should act in concert for a better and greater city.

A good commercial club, with a home for its members, will redound to the credit of the community. Matters of civic importance can be discussed with mutual benefit to each and every member and every citizen of the city. We are no longer in the throes of small "towndom."

The village period has passed, and the day of better conditions; the days when invitation to outside capital should be extended are here; and a good, live club, with a desire within all to promote the city's best interests, is a necessity.

Come out tonight, and lend the movement your support. Let by-gones be by-gones, and put water on the wheel of progress.

TO THE PUBLIC

Notice is hereby given that my wife has left my bed and board without just cause or provocation, and I hereby warn all persons not to extend her credit on my account as I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her.

HUNTEMANN—OLAINE

William Huntemann and Edith Irene Oline were united in marriage, Saturday, May 3, 1913, Judge D. B. Reasoner officiating. They will reside on the Huntemann place near Oak Park.

Dr. Lowe, May 23.

Carl Meier, of near Leisyville, was in town Monday.

Henry Wirtz, who has resided at Oak Park for an extended period, has moved back to Forest Grove, so as to be close to his tin business.

Contractors are again busy at grading and putting in poles and overhead on the Orengo cut-off. Steel will be laid within a few weeks at the most.

The Watts sale of Jerseys was well attended last Saturday, and prices ranged fairly high. C. Heim, formerly of this city, bought the most of the cows.

Col. Sam White, of Portland, formerly of Baker City, has been in the city this week, counsel in the defense in the case of the Commercial Bank against Crabtree et als.

Miss Conklin, teacher in District No. 105, near Scholls, was given a dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raynard, one evening last week, at which thirty were present. Miss Conklin departed Monday for her home at Crabtree, Oregon. She made many friends in the district, and departs with the best wishes of the entire community.

A trip over the county in W. G. Hare's car, Sunday, showed all farmers in the last throes of getting in their Spring crops. The farms are looking well, and the roads are getting into good condition. A big dinner at the Hare ranch, near West Union, and then a trip to the foothills above the Ira Purdin place, gave one a better idea of what Washington County has in the way of husbandry.
