WALTER MARTIN STEALS OVER 50 GOLD WATCHES

Entered McCormick Store Saturday Night and Helped Himself WAS CAUGHT SUNDAY IN PORTLAND Two Officers Suspicioned Martin and Caught Him With Jewelry

Walter Martin, a pronounced yeggman, entered the McCormick store, Saturday night, and robbed the show cases of over fifty watches. Martin made his way into the building by opening a rear window, and must have been in a hurry, for within two or three feet from where he grabbed the watches were several hundred dollars worth of rings, some of which were diamonds. These rings were in a drawer, and from indications Martin did not look around very much. He must have grabbed the watches and made his getaway in a hurry.

Sunday morning, Martin arrived in Portland, and Detective Hellyer and Howell suspicioned Martin of being into something crooked. They shadowed him until he made his way into a jewelry store, First and Madison, when they walked in on the thief just in time to see him slip about fifty watches on the counter, offering them for sale. They placed him under arrest and in a few minutes he admitted that he had robbed a store at Hillsboro. Captain Baty called the Hillsboro authorities, and reported the arrest. It was not until after the telephone message was received that Mr. McCormick knew his store had been entered. Sheriff Reeves brought Martin to this city Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Gillenwater, of Hillsboro, departed over the Hill lines this week, for Cedar Gap, Mo., where they own property, and expect to reside in the future—but the Argus will wager they will be back to Oregon inside of two years.

Judge Campbell was in town Saturday, and heard the case of C. A. Yergen, asking for the custody of his little daughter, aged about 5 years. Yergen was divorced from his wife in 1912, and was given the custody of the son, older than the girl. Yergen was given his decree by default, and after the wife again married he opened the case and applied for the custody of the daughter, alleging he wanted to keep the children together. Mrs. Yergen, who subsequently wedded Chas. A. Purdin, was in court with her mother, to show that Yergen could not take care of the little girl, but the jury appeared to think that the father would do the right thing. The twelve men were out about 15 minutes, when they returned a verdict awarding the child to Mr. Yergen. Yergen is a hopgrower of the Laurel section, and bears a splendid reputation. W. G. Hare was attorney for Yergen, and two Portland attorneys appeared for Mrs. Purdin. An amusing incident of the case was the fact that the mother-in-law swore Yergen never helped clothed the children. When a check, with her indorsement was presented, she swore she never saw the check, and that it was not her endorsement. When pressed, she refused to write her name. The daughter afterward said that it was her mother's signature.

Don't wear glasses before have it proved to your satisfaction that your trouble will be relieved by their use. At the present day, too many glasses are sold simply for what is made out of them, without any regard to the eyes. What you need is a thoroughly sound, honest opinion, supported by the necessary skill, experience, qualification and reputation. Dr. Lowe will explain why your eyes need glasses, and give you every proof of the benefits you will get from their use. More than 21 years experience is behind his methods. Consult him at Hotel Washington, Friday, May 23, to 4 o'clock only. Remember day, date and time limit. Scores of Hillsboro references.

Albert Whitlaw, of Newberg, was granted a parole last Saturday, and allowed to go on his way rejoicing. Young Whitlaw cut a man down on the Metzger tract, in a quarrel over a dog. Whitlaw was sentenced to a year in the county jail, and was tried at the March term. He is a hot tempered young fellow, and aside from that is a pretty good citizen. Judge Campbell paroled him because of Whitlaw's wife and child, and Whitlaw promises to be a good Indian from now on. He and his family departed Saturday evening for Newberg. The paroled man must write once each month to the sheriff, and if he shall fail to do this the officer is authorized to bring in the recalcitrant. The wife waited in circuit court from one o'clock until after four to see the parole granted, and then met the husband outside the court corridor. Whitlaw says he is going to turn over a new leaf, and quit getting into mixups. He is a good worker, but has an uncontrollable temper.

Orengo is getting busy on sidewalks clear out in the country. It is said that money has been raised for a walk out to Wm. Cuddy place, and as far north as the W. G. Hare and T. P. Goodin in places. This would make it convenient for the boys in bad weather, but when the weather is dry and the machines are working, it will make little difference.

COMMERCIAL BANK WINS $2,000 SUIT

Five Days of Litigation Ends With Verdict for Plaintiff

ECHO OF PEOPLES STORE BUBBLE

Case Expected to be Appealed to Supreme Court at Once

The Commercial Bank of Hillsboro was late Friday evening given a verdict of $2,000 and interest from March, 1912, in circuit court, after five days of trial. This was a suit brought for collection of a note given by Crabtree for stock in the Peoples Store Company, the stock having been sold by Cook & Clark, brokers. In all there are outstanding notes to the aggregate of over $8,000, given mostly by farmers.

The defense was given ten days to appeal for a new trial, and it is stated that the suit will be carried to the Supreme Court.

The Peoples' Store went into bankruptcy during the past winter, and the entire stock was taken for preferred claims.

Sam White, of Portland, formerly of Baker City, defended the action, and Tongue & Tongue were attorneys for the bank.

For high finance the store business had the Mississippi bubble whipped a note to a fizzle, and the defense rested its case on the allegation of fraud. The bank contended that it loaned money to the payees of the note in good faith, taking them as security.

The jury was out but a few minutes, and it is reported on the streets that the first ballot was ten to two for the bank verdict.

Judge Kavanaugh, of Portland presided at the trial, and the case was stubbornly contested at all times.

The jury: J A Moore, S F Goodwin, Chas H Bamford, R C Vaught, Lewis Sagert, Martin Vandehy, R B Collins, Herman Rehse, JAC Miller, Richard Beamish, J S Millier, G W Bondurant.

Mrs. Anna Lurch, of Portland, married to Fred Lurch in 1906, has sued for divorce, alleging that he deserted her six months later. Mrs. Lurch has quite a story of domestic troubles to tell in her divorce complaint.

Clinton W. Pease, aged 74, died at the Forest Grove hospital, Saturday, after a prolonged illness. He formerly resided in Portland and Albany. He was the father of Myrtle Pease Hatfield, who died March 14. Mr. Pease has been failing rapidly since that time. The funeral took place Monday.

Herman Prahll will arrive in Hillsboro next Sunday, returning from his trip to Europe, where he visited his mother and brother. Mr. Prahll expected to remain in Germany several weeks, but was called home suddenly, on account of the death of Mrs. Prahll. The remains have been embalmed and the funeral of the wife will take place immediately upon the arrival of the husband and father. Mr. Prahll was at his mother's home but two or three days.
