

PHYSICIAN'S CERTIFICATE BEFORE YOU CAN MARRY

Some Authorities Contend It Takes a Day for Proper Exams

THIS MAY CUT OUT FOREIGN MONEY

Law Takes Effect Next Tuesday, and You Must Have the Papers

The crop of June marriages in Washington County is liable to a slight so far as outside licensees are concerned. Those who marry, on the masculine side of the contract, will, after June 3, 1913, be subjected to a medical examination by a regularly licensed physician, and a thorough overhauling, in order to comply with the statute, will require a day's time. This, of course, will work a hardship on the prospective groom who jumps on a car in Portland, and comes out to get a license and be wedded in Hillsboro. He will now have to hit Hillsboro on the first car, get his "exam" and wait until the physician can report in the afternoon or evening.

The law contemplates covering cases where the contracting groom is liable to leave a legacy of ill health to his children, and the physician can not charge to exceed $2.50. The statute has one clause saying that no charge can be made where the groom is indigent.

Hillsboro has long been a Mecca of Portland people contemplating marriages, and the ministers are likely to be loser.

SAWMILL TROUBLE

C. J. Cowanah, of near Connell Station, on the United, was brought to town the last of the week and discharged on an insanity charge. Cowanah has had trouble about a mill on property formerly belonging to him, and on which he holds a mortgage, and he had a notice posted notifying "no trespass," and E. L. Preble, who manages the mill, said he also had a bloody envelope tacked to the fence. Cowanah smiled when this evidence was produced. Drs. Bailey and Linklater were the examiners, and it seems the whole case was founded upon fear of the former owner of the land. It was admitted by Miss Nellie Todd, a stenographer in a law office, that the fact that Cowanah had at one time been in the asylum might have had some bearing on the fear. She testified that he had said he would "fix" them if they cut any more timber and nailed it from the place, and a few days ago he put a fence across the mill road. Cowanah is very much interested in the evidence, and was not at all nervous. It appeared as though he thought he was within his rights.

In the spring of 1910 Cowanah sold 80 acres of timber land to John Beckeli and John Langard, the purchase price being $5,200. They paid Cowanah $1,000 down and gave him a note for $4,200, due in six years, and secured by a mortgage on the property, as the balance. These gentlemen then sold the timber to H. F. Reese, F. M. Hathaway and Edw. Preble, who built a mill on the premises. Some months ago Cowanah brought suit to enjoin the millmen from cutting any more timber on the ground that his security was being endangered. The defense countered upon the ground that the land would be worth $200 per acre with the timber all taken off and the land cleared, and submitted affidavits from a man who alleged he had talked with Cowanah and he had said he would not consider an offer of $250 per acre for his cultivated land. They alleged in any event that the land with the timber off, being close to the United Railway, would be well worth $100 per acre, or eight thousand dollars, and as they had paid the interest promptly they asked the injunction be not signed.

Cowanah alleged in his complaint that they had already cut two million feet, leaving but one million feet standing.

Cowanah and his brother, Wm., were both in the asylum at Salem some time prior to 1910, but were released as cured.

Circuit court next Saturday, May 31.

John Welch and Ed. Thomas, of Beaverton, were up to the city Monday afternoon on probate business.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Waggener, of Newport, arrived Friday, for a month's visit with their children in Washington County. They will visit at Hillsboro and Kinton, and then go to Newberg for the state G. A. R. encampment, the middle of June. Mr. Waggener for years was Mine Host at the Hotel Tualatin, and the Waggener family has many friends in this section of the state.

There will be a big dance at Bethany Hall, given by L. M. Buell, Saturday, May 31. Tickets, including supper, $1. Finest of music, best of management, and splendid refreshments served in hall. Come and have a good time.

Wm. Gaetter, of Laurel, was in town Friday. He says that Laurel has a crackjack ball team, and the boys won three straight games with the season's opening. Chas. Fields, with the Turner store, is the manager, and the Laurelites want games. Gaetter states that you can get a trial any time if you will telephone Mr. Fields.

I saw cordwood, poles up to 12 inches in diameter, fence rails, and boards of all kinds, into stovewood lengths. Will go into the country. Write, phone or call on me. Carl Skow, corner 8th and Fir, Hillsboro, Oregon. Phone, City 822.

William Schulmerich, of Farmington, departed Friday morning for a month's lecture trip up to British Columbia points, on the Fraser River, where he will visit farmers' institutes and lecture on dairying. This is Mr. Schulmerich's third annual trip to the dominion on a like mission. He says that the dairy industry is growing rapidly in B. C.

Dr. Smith made the trip to Portland, Friday, in his Hippomobile, in exactly 40 minutes, and then made the return in the same time. He went in on the Cornell road, via Cedar Mill, and returned on the Canyon road, via the R. H. Walker place. He said that the roads were the best this year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hartley, accompanied by Mrs. E. F. Wilkins and daughter, and Miss Gladys Benefiel, of Banks, were in town the last of the week. J. J. thinks his company has about as fine a looking hop prospect as any yard in the county.

Rough lumber, 16-foot lengths, all widths, constantly on hand.—S. R. Cogan, Hillsboro, Ore., R. 1, 3 miles north of town, on C. D. Farnham place. We sell at $9 per M. 6-17

B. J. Pranger Friday and Saturday loaded a car for the Nez Perces, Idaho, where he has bought a farm. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Pranger, and came west from Illinois, last Fall. He says he will have to haul his firewood a distance of fifteen miles.

For sale—Several incubators and brooders, latest makes.—J. P. Adams, near Jabez Wilkes' place, south of City Park, Hillsboro. 5tf

Mrs. J. C. Applegate and little daughter departed Friday morning for an extended visit with relatives and friends in Southern Oregon, and before returning will go down to the Shasta country.

Do not forget to ask for a Schiller when you want a good 10 cent smoke—no "cough dust" in the Schiller. 12tf

Burt Wilkes, now with the timber cruise for Clatsop county, with headquarters at Astoria, was in town the last of the week, visiting relatives. While here he visited the Wilkes dredge up on Gales Creek.

John Powell, who has been working in the Santa Fe train service, from Needles to Bakersfield, arrived home the last of the week, on a visit to his mother, Mrs. M. A. Powell.

J. W. Jameson, of Farmington, was in town Saturday.

PORTLAND REPORT SAYS FINE BUSINESS PREVAILS

Bumper Year Is Promised, Judging From All Indications

SEVENTY-FIVE MILLION EXPENDITURE

Manufacturers Busy and Crop Prospects Were Never Better

Portland, Ore., May 27.—Despite its unlucky final figures, the year 1913 promises to set a high record for business and industrial progress. A report just made by a leading commercial agency states that prospects for a good year were never better throughout the Pacific northwest territory. Sales and collections are good, manufacturing is going ahead well and, best of all, the prospects for good crops are excellent.

An indication of the confidence felt in the future is shown in the announced expenditure of about $75,000,000 by the various corporations in and about Portland during the current year on improvements, extensions and betterments. Bank clearings show a gain every month over the corresponding months of former years and 1913 looks like a big year for the whole Oregon country.

From the interest shown in the O. W. R. & N. Co.'s corn contest, it appears that Oregon will become a big corn producing state. More than five tons of selected seed corn, enough to plant 1,000 acres, has been distributed free of charge by the company, while the Southern Pacific has distributed more than two tons additional. This seed will be planted throughout the Pacific Northwest and means the corn acreage of this year will be twice as large as last.

The battleship Oregon will not be used as a target by the navy department if this state can help it. Resolutions strongly protesting against this action have been adopted by many organizations and a petition, as long as the famous battleship itself, has been signed and forwarded to President Wilson by school children asking that the Oregon lead the naval parade through the Panama Canal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Campbell, of above North Plains, were in the city Monday. Mrs. Campbell was enroute to Salem, where she will visit with relatives.

L. B. Reeder, of Portland, was out the first of the week, on probate business. Mr. Reeder was at one time speaker of the House of Representatives at Salem.

Attorneys E. B. Tongue and Geo. R. Bagley returned from a three days trip to Salem, Friday. While there they visited the asylum farm with Dr. Lee Steiner.

Mrs. Grace McAllister, of La Grande, Ore., visited over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. James, of Varley. She has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cronkite, at Santa Ana, Cal., and is returning home after a winter's stay in the state of flowers.

The city and county have jointly installed another drinking fountain, located on the court house corner, Second and Main. The fountain will be well patronized, and is an evidence of progressiveness. They cost about $35 or $40, fountain, material and labor, and are well worth the money. Percy Long connected the third abater.

C. W. Loudon, who is down in Florida, writes Clerk Luce that he expects to come back to the coast, as his time is out June 14. He says his health is not the best down in the Florida section, and that Oregon is good enough for him, although he may make a stay down in the Los Angeles country.

R. Bremer, a deputy game warden, known in the Gaston section, went into a camp of four fishermen on the Nestucca, the other day, and found they had been fishing all night, and had exceeded the limit. He told them they were under arrest, when they drew revolvers and ordered him out of camp. He went to a telephone and sent a wire for assistance, and when a deputy sheriff arrived the four men had lifted their camp and gone to other fields. Bremer knows the men, and will have them arrested as soon as he locates them.

H. H. Hall, one of the old timers of the Shady Brook section, was over to the city Friday morning.

J. T. Rooks, one of the early settlers of the upper Vinelands section, where he has hewed out a fine ranch, was down to the county seat Friday morning.

Jos. Bishop, of Helvetia, and Christ Grand of West Union, were county seat visitors, Friday, on business at the court house.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hickethier, of Cedar Mill, were in the city Saturday. Mrs. Hickethier will go to Salem Decoration Day, and Chas. will visit Harrisburg, Ore., after an absence of thirty years.

The Women of Woodcraft will give a dance at W. O. W. Hall, near Cedar Mill, Saturday night, June 7. Tickets, including supper, $1.00. Everybody invited.

H. Snook, of Snook & Traver, the contracting firm on the new Forest Grove school building, contract price, $24,900, was in the city Monday morning. He resides at Salem.

R. K. Simpson, of East Hillsboro, thinks he has the champion strawberry patch in his section of town. He says he doesn't see how the berries are going to find room to grow and ripen, so thick are the blooms.

Wm. Haase, of Iowa Hill, was in town Friday morning. The hill people have had a hard year on the sale of potatoes—and that crop is generally a source of much revenue to the foothill section.

Sam Stott, one of Oregon's pioneer lawyers, and T. W. Thompson, his brother-in-law, were in town from Portland, Saturday. Mr. Stott is an uncle of the new Portland postmaster, F. W. Myers.

Julius Cafmeyer, working for some time on the John Kamna farm, near Farmington, last week bought a ticket from Agt. Cooper, over the Hill lines East, and sails Saturday from New York, on the Lapland, for Antwerp, Europe.

P. W. Craig, aged 38 years, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, Friday morning, May 23. He had been ill for some time. He leaves a wife and a little daughter. The funeral took place from the M. E. church, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and interment was in the Odd Fellows Cemetery.

Those who take an interest in the fighting game were considerably agitated, Saturday, over the fact that Luther McCarthy, contender for the world's championship, was killed at Calgary, in a fight with Pelky. The blow that caused death was the famous solar plexus punch, discovered by Bob Fitzsimmons.

PYTHIAN NINE LOST TO PORTLAND K. O. T. M.

Score was Six to Four in a Fairly Well-Played Game, Sunday

THREE HILLSBORO PLAYERS INJURED

Opposing Pitchers Strike Out Eight Men Each—Phelps Breaks Finger

The initial ball game was played on the Athletic Park diamond, Sunday, between the Knights of Pythias and K. O. T. M. teams, the latter from Portland. Considering the practice the locals have had, the game was fairly well played, and a near rally in the ninth which was ended by Bunsen flying out to second, came near tying up the score. The boys were weak on the batting proposition. The K. O. T. M.'s left the field with a score of 6 to 4 in their favor.

It was a game full of accidents. E. L. Moore was struck on the knee by a bounding ball; Dode Bettis was spiked, accidentally, and Catcher Phelps broke one of his fingers, Moore relieving him. Freeman and Harris each gleaned two hits when they were badly needed, but the poor batting by others clinched the game for the visitors. It was a good game, after all, and worth the money. The crowd was not very large, but the management made a little more than expenses.

TEN DOLLARS FOR A NAME

The City Bakery will pay $10 for a name that will best describe the good qualities of the famous twin loaves sold over the counter and by many Washington county dealers.

The contest will be open to any resident of the county. Pick your name and write it on a sheet of paper. Inclose the sheet in a sealed envelope and leave at the bakery on Main street. There it will be given a number and the corresponding number written with the name on a list. This will prevent the name of any contestants being known until the award is made.

All well known makes of bread have a name. Our bread has made a reputation merely as "City Bakery Bread," but we want a name that will best describe it and its good qualities. The shorter the name the better, and brevity and description will count in making the award. You may offer as many names as you want, but each must be in a separate envelope. The contest will end May 31, and the judges will announce their verdict as soon thereafter as possible and the money will be paid to the winner.

The names of the judges are: Mrs. W. D. Wood, Mrs. J. J. Krebs and Mrs. Susie Morgan.

CAREY-DERSHAM

Hugh H. Carey and Eva Letitia Dersham were united in marriage, at the home of Mrs. L. O. Dersham, May 22, 1913, Rev. H. L. Pratt, of Portland, officiating.

Chas. Grabel has returned from British Columbia.

Thos. Murphy, of above Mountindale, was a city caller the first of the week.

Mrs. O. B. Scofield returned to her home in Portland Friday, after a short visit with her sister, Mrs. Mary Malone.

Sunday was the warmest day of the season, and autos were out in full force. The roads, barring a few chuck holes here and there, were like boulevards.

M. Cantwell, of Clackamas, was in town Monday, enroute to Tillamook, for a short stay. He has not been here for two years and says that he hardly knew the town. He formerly lived above Mountindale.
