

REMINGTON UMC
AUTO-LOADING RIFLE

Better than The Remington Co. ever made an Autoloader

BEFORE you buy a big game rifle, by all means ask your dealer to show you the Remington Autoloading Rifle.

They are five-shot repeaters—operated by the recoil. Always a shot ready for the emergency, for the cripple, for the deer that is getting away, or the charging beast that promises to be troublesome if you don't get him quick.

The Remington Autoloading Rifles and Shot-guns are the latest achievement in ninety-six years of producing fine firearms.

Ray Reasoner now has the Dairy Creek bridge, west of town, in condition for travel, and in a day or so will have it entirely completed. The decking consumed 130,000 feet of lumber, and the cost of the material is $12 per thousand, delivered. The Jackson Bottom bridge, south of the city, will be re-decked, commencing today or tomorrow, and this will require 120,000 feet. The workmen will see to it that this bridge will not be closed, although a team may occasionally be delayed for a few minutes.

The order of Moose held a big session Tuesday evening in the Crescent Theatre, with over 300 present. The Portland degree team came out and exemplified the work, making the trip to the county seat in a special car. After the work the entertainment committee delighted the boys with some class vaudeville, the program concluding with a four-round boxing contest between two Portland 118-pounders. The evening's entertainment closed at midnight.
