PLAINT OF A NOISE HATER.

This Rich Man Would Like to Kill a Whole Lot of People.

As a public protest against shricking motor horns and yelping dogs a retired Manchester merchant has canceled a bequest of £30,000 to the local hospitais. Writing to the London Mail, be

"I have become so disgusted by the stupidity of the authorities who allow the health of the people to be ruined by fiendish noises from motorcars. yelping dogs, etc., that I have made up my mind as a protest to cancel a bequest in my will of £30,000 to Manchester hospitals. I shall divert the money to other channels, where I hope it will be put to better use than patch ing up people who do not appear to have sense enough to protest against these brutal and unnecessary nul sonces, which are destroying the health of thousands of people, including myself.

"I am suffering from pervous irritachester, Southport and St. Anns-on-the-Sea. They are all bad. Now I am going to live in Cheltenham. The bylaws against yelping dogs, bawling hawkers, shrieking motorcar horns and They report the county busy erowing fowls if these bylaws are not properly enforced at Cheltenham I shall go to live in the Hartz mountains under a sensible government. I have not definitely decided what I shall do with my money. I would like to spend it all on powder and shot for the people who make and encour nge unnecessary noise."

No Cure For Cancer Yet.

In his annual report Dr. E. F. Bashford, general superintendent of research in the inboratories of the imperial cancer research fund, total the members of the society that during the past year there had been twelve claims to the discovery of a cure for cancer. All of these had been investigated and no justification for any one of these claims had been obtained. Dr. Bashford also said women were more liable to cancer than men. In England and Wales in 1910 the death rate from cancer was $56 per million for men and 1.070 for women

As the London Times says editorially in commenting upon this report, "The only reasonable expectation of curing cancer still rests upon its complete removal by the surgeon at the earliest possible time after it is discovered."

New Words For China.

One of the most curious features of the awakening of China is the necessity which has arisen for the addition of new words to the language. This does not mean merely names for such western importations as motorcars, neroplanes, einematographs, etc., but words which have had to be invented to express ideas bitherto unknown to the Chinese mind For instance, China had no indigenous word for "ideal." Again, "reform" had to be built up as an entirely new word, as also "to take the initiative," "protection of life" and "educate" as different from "instruct" -instances which throw a vivid light on certain aspects of the Chinese temperament.

the fact that the most valuable literary prize ever offered is now open to competition. The subject appointed is a study of the life and work of Czar Alexander I., and the prize fund was deposited in the Bank of St. Petersburg by Alexander's minister, Ararktcheef, in 1833, with directions that it should accumulate at compound interest until the year 1925. The first prize, it is computed, will then amount to about £200,000, while a further sum of nearly £100,000 will be distributed in consola-
