PATRONS ASKED OUT TO VIEW NEW SCHOOL

District Board and Clerk Request Tax Payers to See the Structure

AT SCHOOL MEETING NOVEMBER 22ND

Carl Boscow Says Hundred Have Never Seen Interior and Equipment

The school clerk, Peter Boscow, has posted notices calling for a school district meeting at the new High School building, at 2 p. m. November 22. As this date comes on Saturday many should take advantage of the day to not only attend the school meeting, but to view the new structure and its equipment. The board and citizens generally are very proud of the building, and Clerk Boscow says that very few have inspected its interior.

The purpose of the called meeting is to vote a tax for the coming school year, so that it may be placed on the tax roll.

The Argus suggests that there be a good turnout. Patrons, generally, should take more interest in school affairs. For many years, unless there was some building proposition before the district, eight or nine, and some times three or four people, met and voted the tax. Where thousands of dollars are involved this shows a lack of interest that is unbusinesslike.

The board, through the clerk, will tell the voters just about what sum of money is needed, and how much interest must be met, as well as what amount in bonds must be retired. Take a ref. Mr. and Mrs. Voter, and attend this meeting.

John C. Kurmann, aged about 55, was found dead in bed, at a ranch between Raleigh and Whitford, below Beaverton, Saturday morning. Kurmann was badly burned, nearly all his clothing having been consumed by fire. The body was in an upstairs bedroom, and on the stairway was a shattered lamp. He evidently had started to retire, and must have stumbled on the way up the stairway. The lamp probably exploded and ignited his clothing. From tracks about the place Kurmann is thought to have ran around the house while enveloped in flames, and after getting the fire extinguished crawled off to bed and expired. He was on a place owned by a man who resides in Alameda County, Cal. Coroner Barrett and Sheriff Reeves went to the place Saturday afternoon. No letters were found indicating that the man had relatives here. He was here prior to 1906 for he had taken out his first papers before E. J. Goldman, during his incumbency at the court house. Kurmann was a native of Switzerland.

I represent Spirella corsets—not sold in stores. Will call at homes on request, and do the fitting, and teach how to adjust and wear the corset. Our tailor-made-to-measure corsets, including the latest front lace, with an experienced corsetier service, cost no more than high class corsets purchased in stores. Mrs. M. E. Caudle, Hillsboro, Fifth and Jackson Streets, Phone No. 584.

It is now County Attorney E. R. Tongue, instead of District Attorney. Mr. Tongue was paid a very nice compliment by the newly appointed attorney of Columbia County, when he asked that the court appoint the old official to prosecute the Pender case, at St. Helens. Mr. Tongue will get $2,100 per year until his term expires, and from this will perhaps have more net gain than he had with the old salary. Of course, it will cost the county more, but the people appear satisfied with the new arrangement.

The many friends of Albert Dixon, formerly of Forest Grove, will be pleased to learn that he has been able to leave the hospital at Roseburg, and withstand the trip to his home at McMinnville. It will be remembered that Mr. Dixon was shot in the hips by a friend, while hunting down in Southern Oregon. He is now able to sit up, and his surgeons say that he may in time be able to walk. At the time of the accident it was thought he would not recover.

If you want a range that beats the world for the money, call on David Corwin, Bank Annex Building, and see his Quality Ranges, all the way from $25 to $55. These are the best ranges ever placed on the market in Hillsboro. Call in and see them.

Quite a number of Washington County farmers have signified their intentions of going to Corvallis, December 8, for the purpose of attending the Farmers' Week Course, lasting six days, and also to attend the Short Course, which dates January 5 to January 30. A number attended last year, and all spoke highly of the advantage of the instruction.

When wanting an ice cream soda, why not get it at a modern, up-to-date fountain where the syrup is kept in sanitary wells, pumped into the glass by a sanitary pump. That's the kind of fountain you will find at Koerber's.

Hillsboro High will play football with Estacada on the new High School grounds, tomorrow, game to be called at 2:30. Estacada beat the boys in their first game and the locals are hoping for a victory tomorrow.

CRESCENT THEATRE, NOV. 20

Eugene Walter's play, "The Wolf," which comes to the Crescent Theatre, on Thursday, Nov. 20, might be called a poem play of pictures. It is very seldom that one sees a play that grips the interest and piques the curiosity with its first line. "The Wolf" does that. The curtain rises upon a beautiful scene: Indian Summer in the Northern woods. Pines and golden foliage mingle their light and shade. A stream winds down the avenues of cottonwoods, and in the back ground are the blue foot hills. To the right is the log house of MacTavish, with a great tree in front of it. Under the tree sits Battiste, the Canuck, puffing at his pipe. In the porchway is the gaunt form of MacTavish, he, too, is smoking. The two men puff in silence for a moment, while the auditor takes in the perfect coloring perspective and grouping of the scene. Then MacTavish says "you say she died, mon!"

UNION STOCK YARDS

Receipts for the week have been cattle, 1143; calves, 35; hogs, 3901; sheep, 4873.

Although cattle liquidation has been a third less than total for same period last week, beef values have not been lifted appreciably, so demoralizing was the condition of the market ten days ago. The remainder of the week's business was transacted in poor grade stock of which there was a large quantity. Generally the cattle market is steady to a shade firmer than it was seven days since, and the outlet for strictly prime steers and cows is better. Top quotations are steers, 7 at 7.35; cows, 6 and 6.50; heifers, 6.50 at 6.75; calves, at 9; bulls, 5.50 at 5.75.

Depression hit the swine market late in the week, but was not entirely unexpected. Portland has been 25 to 40c; higher than other American markets for ten days and has maintained strength up to Thursday of this week. Prime light hogs sold steady at 8.30 first half, but buyers refused to bid that price at the close and tops dropped to 8.20. Trade opinion is not so optimistic as the week comes to a close.

Mutton and lambs sold strong and freely supported the high price range established a few days ago. Prime yearlings at 4.75; old wethers at 4.50, and ewes at 4.10, were sheep house features. Lambs were strong at 5.75. Receipts comparatively light and demand exceeded supply. All prices steady to firm and trade brisk.

Mouldings, mouldings, at wholesale. See the Hillsboro Planing Mill. 33-6

John Ritter, of Helvetia, was in town Saturday. John lives on one of the high points of his section, and can see 90 per cent. of the county from his doorstep.

J. W. Marsh, of Centerville, was greeting his friends in Hillsboro, Saturday. Ben Marsh, of the same section, was also a visitor.

S. F. Goodwin, of Oak Park, has been hauling supplies into the Wilson River section for two weeks, and he has had a three weeks' siege. He spent Sunday with his family and returned to the assault of the hill, yesterday.

Wanted: Young Jersey bull, old enough for service, eligible to registry; also five or six young heifers, either fresh or coming fresh soon.—George Denton, Reedville, Oregon, Ladd & Reed Farm.

T. P. Buzhard is nursing a bad shoulder, injured by a fall from the E. G. White barn, where he was working. He slipped on some moss, and came near fracturing the collar bone.

We cut dimension lumber and timbers to order. Rough lumber, all sizes, on hand.—S. R. Cogan, on Jas. A. Sewell place, Hillsboro, Ore., Route 1. Phone, Farmers 468. 25-37

J. F. Woods, formerly editor of the Washington County News, was in the city Monday. Mr. Woods is now traveling for the American Type Founders' Co., out of Portland. For several years he has been foreman in their composing room in Portland.

Andrew Heckman, of below Bethany, was in town Saturday. Andrew says the people in his section are after rock roads with a vengeance. A great portion of the people down that way have but a mile or two to go before they have a good, solid highway clear into the Portland business district.

Ernest Kroner, one of Portland's successful architects, was out from Portland, Saturday, conferring with the Carnegie committee, on the question of the proposed library building. Dr. F. A. Bailey, the chairman, and Councilmen Stevenson, Taggart and Kerr lent him all the aid possible. The city's agreement to support the property by a small tax has made the building of the library possible, and only the preliminaries are now in the way. The building most likely will be located on the Linklater block, north of the Dr.'s residence.

On Thursday, Nov. 20, at the Crescent Theatre, John J. Holland will offer "The Wolf," that famous play of the Canadian woods, written by Eugene Walter. One of the many striking features of the play is the finale of the last act, which is played upon a dark stage, with the moon hidden by dark clouds. The fight between the two star characters is not seen by the audience, but the exchange of defiance, the pistol shot, the scuffle, with the sound of a falling body at last are heard, and until the winner of the fight reveals his face by the glare of a match with which he is calmly lighting a cigarette, the audience is in doubt as to the outcome. The seat sale will open Monday.

INJUNCTION SUITS FILED IN CIRCUIT

Bagley & Hare, Attorneys for Wets, Start Legal Ball Rolling

VITAL IRREGULARITIES ARE CHARGED

Hillsboro and Sherwood Saloon Men Will Try Issue in Court

Attorneys Bagley & Hare have filed injunction suits against the County Commissioners' Court of Washington County, asking that the Circuit Court enjoin that body from declaring the results of the election, to-wit: That Hillsboro and Sherwood are dry territory. Hillsboro voted dry by 23 votes, and the village of Sherwood voted dry by four votes.

In the Hillsboro case the election on the liquor question was counted by the regular election officials that presided over the two precincts in the referendum vote, while in Sherwood, at the last minute, the village appointed its own election board.

In the Sherwood case the suit declares that there were 13 illegal votes cast, all of whom were in the dry column, and it also brings other irregularities into the matter.

The Hillsboro case bristles with charges of irregularities. The complaint alleges that special boards should have been appointed by the County Court, if at all; alleges that there was one notice calling the liquor election stating that the polls would be open from 8 in the morning until 7 in the evening, and another calling the referendum election with polls open from 8 until 8—and the allegation is made that the polls were all open until 8 o'clock, and that for an hour after 7 o'clock city votes were allowed, and counted in the local option result.

The complaint also says that there were some illegal votes cast in the city.

Another contention is that the local option election could be held only at the regular city election.

County Clerk Luce says he followed the exact form prescribed in the code in issuing the election notices for both the prohibition and the state election, and that one form says that the local option polls should close at 7, while the special election calls for closing at 8.

Clerk Luce says he also notified the city authorities of the petition, and the order of election, in both the Hillsboro and Sherwood cases, holding that the city authorities were the agents to name the election boards and count the ballot, but that he printed the ballots when Judge Campbell held that the county must print them.

Attorney-General Crawford held that the city must appoint the election machinery, the city of Sherwood following the opinion, while Hillsboro officials declined to name judges and clerks, but stipulated that Judge Campbell decide.

The outcome will be watched with interest. If the cases filed, win, no local option election will hold for over a year. Win or lose, the case doubtless will go to the Supreme Court.
