SUPREME COURT HOLDS Sheriff Reeves Tuesday arrested a man by the name of Cheek.

The One Dissenting Opinion Rendered by Judge Burnett

DECISION HANDED DOWN ON THESDAY

five Saloons Clear Out, With no Chance of Resuming Business

The Supreme Court, Tuesday, dry last November is still dry, the court holding that the elections in Hilisboro, Salem, Oregon City, and other places in the state were valid, and that there was no law by which to set aside the result of the election,

As Hillsboro's case covered all argument is brief and authori- Beaverton, Ore, ties that the others did not, it was taken as the initial case and the decision hinged there.

With the decision the five Hillsboro saloons remain closed, and there will be no dispensation of fiquor in Washington's county

Judge Barnett, a prohibitionist at heart, was the author of the one dissenting opinion, and he held that the election was voidthat when the local option law required registered voters on the petition it meant registered opinion that declares the election valid, said.

The Supreme Court having held that the permanent regisits provisions and that if it is unconstitutionni it is unconstitutional for saloonkeepers and prohitationists alike.

County Courts had no jurisdiction to order local option Co. elections, because the petitions were not signed by the requisite number of voters.

Signing a petition is not an exerese of the electoral franchise vote is not involved.

The definition of the term 1913, for that has been declared unconstitutional.
