A RIOT OF LAUGHTER

"The Missouri Girl" will be at the Crescent Theatre, Monday, February 23. Comedy applied to "The Missouri Girl" is more or less a misnomer.

That is why "The Missouri Girl" has been so popular all over the United States for several years.

There is just sufficient of serious matter in it to afford a pleasing contrast to the farcical side.

Really funny incidents are numerous and perhaps it is as well that the audience is afforded a breathing spell at times for the crisis and counter-sentiment of the play.

To the play's success the great characters of "Zeke" and "Daisy" contribute much of the comedy. They carry most of the production, but while these two are outstanding, other characters of the play are equally excellent and on the whole, the cast is well balanced and sustained.

The Company will present this play here next Monday, Feb. 23. Prices, 25, 35 and 50 cents. Seats on sale at McCormick's.

A Knowing Parrot.

"What a fine parrot you have," said Harold to the young woman on whom he was calling. "How is he on imitating?" "Grent," said the hostess. "He can imitate almost anything."

"Over at Smith's," continued Harold. "They have a bird that can imitate a kiss to perfection. Can your bird do that?"

"No, indeed," answered Mabel indignantly. "Parrots can only imitate and it is not likely that our bird would repeat a sound it is not accustomed to hear."

Then Polly spoke: "Don't, Will; don't, dear," it said. "Wait until I take this wretched bird out of the room."—Lippincott's.
