

LEAD HUNGARIAN EDITOR AT ORENCO

He Will Learn Nursery Business While the Ban is on

Another to Strangler Smith

Not Return to Hungary Until Party is in Power

Melius Bakcsy de Kezdi Alibis Etfaia, head of a leading newspaper in Budapest, Hungary, exiled for his political position to Count Tisza, the head of the present Ministry, taken a humble position as a nurseryman at Orenco, Ore.

Mr. Bakcsy was a political companion of Ferencz Kossuth, son of Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, who was learning the nursery business from the beginning. He will attempt to start a similar industry in his country if the ban is lifted.

Mr. Bakcsy was managing editor of the Hungarian Notifier, which maintained a news service over Eastern Europe. His political influence cost him his position, shortly after Count Tisza's death. He was expelled from the Liberal minority from the parliament after they had refused to vote favorably for the military budget a year ago. Three newspapers of Liberal tendencies were suppressed at the same time and their editors jailed, and Bakcsy's position was the price paid by the owner of the Notifier to keep his news service running.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Notice is hereby given that the 1913 tax roll for Washington County, Oregon, will be open for collection and payment of taxes on Monday, February 2, 1914. No rebate will be allowed. The last issue of "Mineral Resources of Oregon," published by O. A. C. contains a sketch of the Boos quarry, a Washington County institution, although the quarry is located in the edge of Yamhill county. It is owned by the Boos family, of Forest Grove. The base wall of the court house is constructed of this stone, and Marsh Hall, of Forest Grove, was built of the same while the government building at Ft. Stevens is trimmed with this stone.

Superintendent Easter reports that his company, the Washington-Oregon Corporation, will by April 10, have a 190 H. P. motor installed on Wapato Lake, for the Garden Tracts, for pumping the water from 800 acres of onion land. The Tracts people diked the tract last Fall, and when the pump throws out the water it is hoped that cultivation can follow in the early Spring. The company will experiment with onions, and as the soil is more than rich it should make good returns. The trouble in the past has been the fact that water remained too late on the lake lands.

The Argus this week starts its twenty-first year of existence as a newspaper. Twenty years ago thirty or forty items of news was considered a big thing. The Argus was the first paper in the county to put large headings over important news, and at the time the other county newspapers men had great glee over the feature. Within a year or so all followed suit, however, and the large heading was a feature in Washington County journalism. The Argus has had its ups and downs, and all that, but it is still alive, and has a list of which any paper should be proud.

Mrs. G. W. Hines will put in a small stock of Millinery in connection with Dress Making parlors. She invites the ladies of Hillsboro and those of the surrounding country to call and examine her stock, and also would like them to inspect her work in the dress making department, which is of the best. Residence, corner of First and Oak. Phone City 167.

G. E. Koontz caught a fine specimen of trout one day last week, the beauty measuring at least 18 inches. The specimen all are a bit in saying that never in the history of angling have such fine trout been caught as the past season. This is due, mainly, to the state game and fish commission closing McKay Creek, so the youngsters have had a chance to develop. After they got to be adults they naturally want to go visiting and take a run out into Dairy and the Tualatin.

The Portland, Eugene & Eastern the last of the week transformed the orange-colored poles to black, and the wire supporters now have a funeral appearance. On St. Patrick's Day the painters turned them from green to orange, and many speculated as to whether they would remain so bright a vermilion. By Friday noon, however, the undertaker color had been spread.

Jos. Bishop, of Helvetia, was in town Friday. He brought in the largest egg exhibited here this year, the fruit measuring 8x7. A Plymouth Rock hen mothered the egg, and Mr. Bishop says that she repeats the feat every few days. Mr. Bishop states that his sons, Wm. and Herman, will start their mill at once, above Mountindale.

Mrs. Frank Schulmerich, of Farmington, was operated on for appendicitis, the first of the week, at one of the Portland hospitals. Dr. Wylie, of Portland, and Dr. Robb, of Hillsboro, operating.

SHERIFF REEVES LANDS PORTER AT ELCENTRO

Defendant Waives Extradition and Will Come Back to Hillsboro

CHARGED WITH LARCENY BY BAILEE

Appropriation of Milk Money is Charge of Plains Farmers

After eighteen months of constant search Sheriff Reeves has at last landed Guy Porter, wanted for appropriating to his own use money that belonged to farmers and dairymen residing out in the Roy-North Plains and North Tualatin Plains sections. Sheriff Reeves first located Porter near Los Angeles, but as fast as he could get California officers on his train Porter would take a hike. He was then located at Oxnard, in the sugar beet district, and when traced, again flew the coop, going to the Imperial Valley, in the Southern tier of counties in the state. He went to work down there, just across the Mexican line, where he imagined he was free from pursuit. Sheriff Reeves meantime had located Porter's relatives, and found they lived near Eugene. He had an express package sent to Porter from Eugene to El Centro, and the agent there notified Porter at Calexico, Mexico, that the shipment was there. Thinking it was from home, Porter called in a day or so, and Sheriff Mobley Meadows, of Imperial County, served the warrant on him. Sheriff Reeves wired to see if Porter would come without tradition, and Saturday morning a wire was received from the prisoner, which read: "Will waive extradition papers. Come at once.—Guy Porter."

It is estimated that Porter received money from farmers amounting to between $1000 and $2000, before he made himself scarce.

He was shipping into Portland, acting as agent, for a Portland concern.

The sheriff's office will have Porter here by the first of next week, unless there arises some obstacle. Just how the officials will get Porter back is more or less a matter of conjecture. The state's extradition fund is exhausted, and the governor is quoted as saying that no extraditions will be granted in the future unless the request is accompanied by a statement by the various county courts saying the individual counties will stand for the expense. This leaves the matter up to the county courts of the state, and this being the case, criminals may go unwhipped. Should county courts refuse to pay the state expense then the situation will be complicated, for a criminal would need only to get into another state and be free from prosecution unless private funds were deposited with the county wanting the criminal.

COURT ADJOURNS

Circuit court adjourned last Friday at noon, and will not again convene until Judge Campbell makes the call. Judge Harris Thursday evening sentenced Jno Howard to pay $250 fine for selling liquor without a license, at Buxton. The court fixed a 125 days jail sentence in default of payment of the fine, but paroled the defendant during good behavior and during such time as no state law or city ordinance is violated. Howard pleaded guilty.

DH LeMaster was given a default in a divorce proceeding against Mary Jane LeMaster. Ada L Nunn was granted a divorce from John L Nunn. Stoup vs Stoup—decree of divorce.

In the case of Lockwood vs J H Cogan, a judgment was given Lockwood for $210.58, the amount tendered. The injunction against Cogan operating his mill was dismissed, and the decree affects only the timber put through the mill. Cogan had a check for the amount of the judgment in court the day before determination.

J. H. Cogan, of near Cornelius, was in the city the last of the week.

W. F. Frenzel has built a fine new bungalow on the Garden Tracts, near the Emmott house.

Mayor W. O. Hocken, of Beaverton, was in town Saturday. He is proud of Beaverton's progress the past year.

Wm. Thornburgh, near Banks, was in the city Friday.

Otto Galloway, of Banks, was in town Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Parker are Portland visitors this week.

C. F. Robinson, of Route 5, was in town Friday.

J. T. Martin and little sons, Amos and Noel, of Dilley, were in town Saturday, and called on the Argus, where the youngsters were shown a few of the intricacies of the printers' art preservative.

Lewis Ennes and family have departed for Tacoma, and will reside within a few miles of that city the coming Summer, and perhaps longer. Mr. Ennes and his brother, Isaac, well known here, are putting up a sawmill, and will operate it this year.

Bernard Ostermann, of Centerville, was in town Saturday, and called on the Argus for his twentieth consecutive year of the religious weekly. He says the farmers out his way are all complaining of the high taxes this year.

Thos. Williams and John Madding have been making cedar posts for Leonard Tompkins, out on the J. W. Bailey tract, north of town. The boys make between three and four dollars per day of eight or nine hours, and say they don't crowd their muscles too hard, at that.

Judge Harris last Friday morning dismissed the March jurors until they are called by order of Judge Campbell. Judge Campbell has been ill, and as soon as he recovers he will again convene. The grand jury reported Friday morning for a session, and they will adjourn from time to time, and convene only when there is crime investigation.

MOOSE TEAM WINS OVER THE FARMINGTON NINE

Pitcher Martin on the Mound for the Locals, Sunday

PRACTICE GAME OF MUCH INTEREST

Managers Sewell and Adams Look for a Good Season

Athletic Park came into its own Sunday with a practice game between the Moose team and the Farmington nine, and the final score was Hillsboro 8 to Farmington's 7. The day was rather cold for good ball playing, but both sides strove for mastery, just as though old Sol was beaming down on the field with a 90-candle power ray.

Hillsboro tried out two pitchers. Wolf, formerly with Aloha and Beaverton, and usually a fine twister, was the first to go on the mound. He was inclined to be wild, and Martin, the former Forest Grove and Banks pitcher, was substituted. Wolf will come into his own with a little work, while Martin pitched heady ball all the time.

Managers Sewell and Adams, of the locals, think they will have a good team lined up as soon as the season opens, and they expect a good year.

Deputy Recorder Seeks Nomination

I, Fred A. Everest, duly registered Republican, hereby announce myself as Republican Candidate for the Office of Recorder of Conveyances of Washington County. I am a resident of Hillsboro, am Deputy Recorder, and will say that if I am nominated for the office at the Primary nomination election to be held May 15, 1914, I will accept the nomination and will not withdraw, and if I am elected, I will, during my term of office, use due care, and to the best of my knowledge and ability perform the duties of the office with neatness, accuracy and dispatch. Being familiar with the work, I can and will serve the public efficiently and will at all times be courteous and attentive.

Adv. Fred A. Everest.

E. M. WARD PASSES AWAY

After an illness of over three months E. M. Ward passes away at his home in this city last Thursday afternoon. The funeral was held Saturday in the Forest Grove Catholic church, and many friends gathered to witness the last rites. The floral offering was beautiful.

Ed. Ward was 44 years of age and he was born in San Francisco. Years ago he conducted a drug store in this city, and during the early nineties went to Alaska and mined. While there he came near dying with typhoid fever.

Five years ago he conducted a logging supply store at North Bend, Coos County, and his $40,000 stock of goods was destroyed by fire and ever since then he has fought for the insurance due him. Only a few days before he died the Supreme Court of Oregon rendered a decision in his favor.

Ed had many friends over the county and he knew most everyone. Since returning from North Bend he had conducted an auto service, and one summer he ran his machine between Sheridan and Tillamook.

Besides a wife, two daughters, Josephine and Perry, and a son, Dan, and his father, Dr. D. W. Ward, all of this city, survive. Interment was in the Verboort cemetery.—Forest Grove News-Times, March 19.

Do not forget to visit Blackburn's parlors, one door north of the postoffice, tomorrow and Saturday, and give him your order for that Summer or Spring suit. He has an expert at your disposal.

Alf Heywood, of Oak Park, was in the city the last of the week.

Gabriel Lockman, of South Tualatin, was in the county seat Friday.
