Sheriff Reeves picked up four boys, ail under 20 years of age. Monday, for breaking into both the old and new buildings at the Watts' school house, above Forest Grove. The lads went into the old building, smashed a lamp, lighted another and left it burning, and then, after chopping a hole in the floor, broke into the new building and stole some fountain pens. The young fellows were old enough to know the state of the above the state of the better, but the quandary for the day of April, 1914, prescribing officers is what disposition can be made with them. The transgressors are Charles Gordon, 15; Claud Brokaw. Geo. Wright, 15; Claud Brokaw, 19, and Ray Brokaw, 17. The school directors are anxious to have the boys properly punished. but do not wish to be too severe. The 17 year old lad is in the class that can neither be sent to other than the General Fund, marked the Reform school nor receive a "Not Paid For Want of Funds," are no sentence in the county jail—and payable at the office of the undersigned and interest, will cease after April 17 as all should be treated alike it is 1914 a matter of conjecture as to what disposition will be made of the culprits.
