LONG & MCKINNEY

There is a move on foot to revive the old assembly. Some of the old warhorses would like a good, old-fashioned nominating convention—but it will be many moons before the direct primary will be erased from the political map.

The big newspapers wanting war with Mexico are patiently waiting for their men to return—the men who went to Europe to keep out of the Spanish-American war.

Critics of Senator Chamberlain might do well to remember that Oregon has had more honors and more results in National government than any other state after all.

Did you ever notice that it is Mr. Skunk who always objects to fighting with any weapons except his own?

The little cur can always make more noise than the mastiff, but when it comes to making good he is always better at catching fleas.

It is not to be expected that the A. B. C. class would graduate in a few days. It takes time.

JOHNSTON-MCKNIGHT

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Sunday, June 21, 1914, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. McKnight, Sr., of North Tualatin Plains, when their daughter, Talkie Margaret, was united in marriage to Oliver S. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Johnston of Shady Brook, Wash. Co., Ore. Rev. Andrew Carriek officiated, using the beautiful ring ceremony. Miss Audrey McKnight, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and was very pretty in a pale blue gown and carried an arm bouquet of LaFrance roses. Frank Johnston brother of the groom, was best man. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk messaline with pretty all-over lace trimming, made with draped effect, and wore a pretty veil trimmed in little white flowers, with hood effect. She carried a bouquet of carnations and asparagus fern. The wedding march, played by Miss Lena Eichler, of Hillsboro, was the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. The ceremony was performed at 12 o'clock, under a beautiful white wedding bell, in a pretty bower of ferns, roses and lilies, and friends and relatives to the number of 68, were in attendance. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Hattie Greener, of Farmington.

The presents were many and beautiful. After the ceremony the wedding party was seated at a splendid prepared repast. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Johnston will be at home in their new bungalow, which is now being completed. Those present were:
Mr. and Mrs. R. McKnight, Sr., Roy, Robt. Ivan and Delvon McKnight, Miss Andrea McKnight, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Johnston, Mr. Frank Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bridges, Master Cecil Bridges, Mrs. S. ### SHOWER

The friends of Miss Jessie Harrington tendered her a shower Thursday evening in honor of her approaching marriage with Raleigh Walker, of Forest Grove. ### SOME GRAPE

To the Editor:

Some time ago Mr. Thomas H. Brown complained of being the owner of the champion Oregon Grape of this locality. To convince him that his soil is not adapted to the growth of Oregon Grape, I will state that when I located here I caused all the Oregon Grape to be removed from my land. This included a grove of the mammoth variety, known to botanical students as the gigantic prevaricus profanicus. Yesterday while walking where the dwarf variety formerly grew I saw a little sprout come out of the ground and it seemed to hesitate as to which direction to take, but presently decided to start in a southeasterly course. This morning I went to see what progress it was making and found it to be more than nine feet in length.

I have never been accused of exaggerating, at any rate by any person who lived to boast of being guilty of such a rash act, but should I prove to be in the wrong (which I never yet have been) will gladly confess. So, if Mr. Thos. H. Brown, or Mr. Thos. H. Anybody else will call tomorrow, measure an Oregon grape growing near my mansion, and will state that it is fewer than eighteen feet, I will be glad to acknowledge that he has lied.

S. H. Orr.
