VETERANS AND W. R. C. VISIT AT TILLAMOOK

Enjoy Coast Breezes While in 33d Annual Encampment
ENJOYED FREE-HANDED HOSPITALITY
Trip Through Mountains and Timber District a Revelation

A happy crowd of Hillsboro people, consisting of members of the G. A. R., W. R. C. and their friends boarded the special train Monday of last week, bound for Tillamook, to attend the 33rd annual encampment, Department of Oregon, Grand Army of the Republic. There were upward of a thousand on board the eight coaches, and they were indeed a happy, joyful lot of people, from every section of the state, and the journey to the coast city was enlivened with songs and stories of war times, intermingled with merry quip and gay laughter.

A short stop was made at Timber, where most of the crowd lunched. To many the route of the P. R. & N. to Tillamook was a new country, and many exclamations of wonder were heard as they were carried through great stretches of giant firs. The weather was oppressively warm until the train reached the summit of the mountains, but as it began to go down the coast side the air suddenly turned cooler, and the sky became overcast with clouds. For about twenty miles before Tillamook was reached the train ran close to the beach, stopping at the little towns which are fast becoming known as summer resorts. Quite a number of cottages at Rockaway, Bar View, Lake Lytle and other places are already occupied for the season by their owners.

Arriving at Tillamook, the old veterans and their wives were met at the station by a committee of citizens, and were taken to their hotels and other lodging places in automobiles. To the credit of the citizens of Tillamook it may be said that no overcharges were made during the encampment, and the residents of the town put forth every effort to make the stay of every visitor enjoyable.

The Encampment opened Tuesday, the evening program being held in the large auditorium of the Christian church. In an address of welcome Mayor F. R. Beals presented a large key to the G. A. R. and W. R. C., in token that the city was theirs for three days. Exercises were held each evening at the Christian church, the program consisting of patriotic songs, addresses and recitations and the seating capacity of the church was taxed to the limit.

A parade was given Wednesday by the members of the G. A. R., W. R. C., fraternal organizations and business men, and was one of the most pleasant features of the encampment. The floats entered by the business houses were especially well designed and called forth much applause from the thousands of spectators, particularly those typifying the varied industries of the city. In the afternoon the old soldiers and their ladies gave an old-fashioned dance in the Commercial hall, and the way they tripped the light fantastic was in itself worth a trip to Tillamook. Music for the encampment was furnished by the Tillamook band and the Oregon Drum Corps, and there was hardly a minute of the time when the gentle breezes were not wafting the tuneful notes of horn or life through the city. Weather conditions were ideal, the sun shining in a cloudless sky during the middle of the day, and an ocean breeze making it delightfully refreshing and cool. Street shows and balloon ascensions helped to divert the large number of visitors.

To one who has never before been to Tillamook, the number of fine business houses and dwellings, and the evidences of thrift and prosperity are a revelation. The business houses in Tillamook compare favorably with any to be found in the Willamette valley in equal population, and they are occupied by merchants who sell the very latest the market affords.

Much of the prosperity of Tillamook city depends upon the patronage of the dairy farmers of that country, who find a ready market for their milk at the cheese factories. The manager of one of the larger cheese factories kindly showed the writer through the establishment, explaining the manufacture of cheese from the time the milk enters the vats until the product is ready to be shipped to the markets of the outside world, where it has gained a reputation for quality second to none. That the dairy farmers of Tillamook county are prosperous is evident, $68,000 having been spent by them this year for automobiles. The special train bringing the old veterans and their wives from the encampment made a stop of two hours at Bar View, where the life saving crew gave an exhibition drill which was much enjoyed. Scores of the veterans in attendance told the writer that it was the most enjoyable encampment they had ever attended, and they will long remember the beautiful little city of Tillamook and the hospitality of its citizens with kindest feelings.

Those attending from Hillsboro were: Messrs. and Mesdames R. Crandall, A. W. Barber, J. L. Crow, G. T. Ledford; Mrs. Sarah Farnham; Miss Anna Slag; Messrs. Franklin Doughty, I. T. Connell, M. C. Collier, M. C. Lincoln.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A pleasant surprise was given Mr and Mrs Jacob Schmidt, of near Laurel, Saturday evening, June 29, the occasion being their eleventh wedding anniversary. Music and games were the features of the evening. Mr and Mrs Schmidt were the recipients of a handsome present. Those participating in the surprise were: Messrs. and Mesdames Finis Brown, E. Crawford, C. Whitmore, E. Morrow, A. Schmidt, Mesdames J. Mainland, F. Schmidt, C. Zinsli, H. Cline; Messrs. John Schmidt, John Will, Roy Field, Grover Brown, Frank Brown, Walter Dailey, Will Kleier, Ames Watkins, Chas. Schmidt, Cecil Schmidt, Sam Stoller, Clyde Cloninger, Leonard Crawford, Lee Brown, A. C. Mulloy, Walter and George Schmidt; Misses Emelie Carow, Florence and Grace Dailey, Mary Will, Margaret Stoller, Bea Brown, Alice Cline, Lula Messenger, Edna Zinsli, Lillie and Emma Schmidt.
