

NATIONAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED SATURDAY

Standards Rapidly Being Put in Shape to Care for Crowds

SPAW SWING WAS SET UP MONDAY

A new song, "Days We All Remember," written by Miss Violet M. Taylor, of this city, is meeting with popular favor. The song has a grain and takes one back to childhood days and it will doubtless have a good sale, as it will bear well. Miss Taylor is well known here and for four years has been teaching in the county. She is a graduate of Doane College, at Crete, Neb., and has the degree of Bachelor of Science. Miss Taylor has written considerable prose and verse, and was the author of the play on class day by the college class. The song is published by the H. Kurkus-Dugdale Co., and is having a wide distribution. Miss Taylor is to be congratulated upon her success.

Every hat in my shop will be sold in the next three weeks at small sum of $1.50 to $3.00. This is all new goods. Call and see them. Mrs. G. W. Hines, Phone City 167. Corner First and Oak Street.

Two little boys, sons of Harold Halverson and wife, of Farmington, were lost Sunday afternoon, going to a neighborhood play, where they remained over night. The two little fellows are aged 6 and 8 years, and their disappearance caused a great deal of anxiety. The woods and banks of the stream were searched all afternoon Sunday and all forenoon Monday, and in the afternoon Sheriff Reeves was notified. He started to the scene of the disturbance, but before getting under way was telephoned that the boys had been found.

We are agent for the following stoves—Steiger & Kerr stoves and ranges; Arcadian ranges; Alexcar and Reighton, Quality and Diamond ranges.—D. Corwin. 13-1

Montezuma Lads, Odd Fellows, have at last made the flag to the cross and have concluded to offer a reward of $10 for the arrest and conviction of anyone caught defacing the post office corridor. The room had been neatly kalsomined and looked as brightly as a Miss of eighteen, when, the next morning, there appeared in ink on the walls, the legend, "Hello Bill." This was the climax and the trustees put up the offer of reward. Someone will be caught one of these days and there will be a fine paid and a reward, also.

Alexcar ranges are strictly new, up-to-date, Colonial style, typifying simplicity and beauty, highest quality and mechanical perfection.—D. Corwin. 13-1

S. E. Saindon working at the Hillsboro Lumber Co. mill, the first of the week ran his hand into the planer. The machine caught his glove and tore it in twain and badly mangled the tendons of his right hand. Dr. Robb says the young man will have a few days' vacation. The planer wasn't injured at all, and was ready for some lumber the next minute.

Rhode Island Red eggs, for hatching purposes, Mrs. Max Crandall, on Maple between Second and Third. Telephone City 497. 13-1

Excursions into the country on blackberry expeditions have been numerous the past week or so. The woods are "full of them," and the fruit finds ready sale. There is no berry, after all, that has much on the Oregon blackberry. And, as the late Dan Gault was wont to say—"They are mighty good eating any time."

Ed. Mulloy, was in the city Tuesday, feeling pretty good over the rock road improvement on his way. He says that quite a sum of money and a considerable volunteer work has been subscribed for rock on the road south of Laurel.

Will cut and polish agates. Satisfaction guaranteed.—Francis Cota, Seventh and First streets, Hillsboro. 14-7

Chas. Russell, who knows the hills and valleys of Washington county better than any of us, as he has been in the game warden business so long, was in the city yesterday, meeting with friends.

Dance at New Helvetia Hall, July 18, from 8 p. m. to 12 p. m. Tickets, 75c. Allen's orchestra. Feuerstein and Patton, managers. 15-7

Sam Sorenson, of below Reedville, was in the city Tuesday. This is his first summer at home for many seasons, as he has heretofore been timber falling in the Columbia River camps.

Those who have eaten Albany butter know what it is. You try a roll and you will like it. Greer keeps it.

Frank Wallace, of Farmington, was in the city yesterday. He says that the blackberry crop out his way has been good this year.

Wanted—Two good boys to learn a lucrative trade. Inquire of John Becker, Third street.

TUALATIN ENJOYS REAL CHARIVARI

Over One Hundred People Take Part in Big Noise

CALVIN SWEET AND BRIDE ENTERTAIN

Noise and Speeches Mark Affection for Newlyweds

A new epoch in the history of charivaris was established Monday, at Tualatin, Calvin Sweet, a prominent young attorney of Portland, and his bride, being recipients of a most complete affair.

One hundred highly excited "Boys," who were bubbling over with enthusiasm, gathered at the home of Mrs. Maria Sweet, grandmother of the bridegroom, and most gloriously and sumptuously produced a brilliantly staged charivari. Mr. and Mrs. Sweet had retired when the opening salute was fired, dynamite being used in abundance then and throughout the evening. Immediately one hundred noisy lungs, horns, shotguns, pistols, boilers, circular saws, bass drums, cymbals and quantities of fire-crackers belched forth in a volume of noise that cannot be described short of a repetition of the racket let loose by the "kids" in short pants and bare feet, and gray and bald heads in honor of "Babe" and his bride.

After the bride and groom made themselves presentable the bride was introduced to the motley crowd, who cheered to the top of their voices. Then a parade and most exquisite thirst-fest, songs and dances and general hilarity indulged in by all, after which the "Boys" came back to the residence and speeches were made in a most eloquent manner by his honor the bridegroom, Irvin Malott, Dun Hough, "Capt" Harding, Jim Shroyer and others. The cheering could be heard for miles around. The parade was continued around the country until the wee small hours of the morning.

If popularity is gauged by such demonstrations, Teddy Roosevelt will have to go way back and sit down. The affair will long be remembered by the bride and groom, all the participants, and a great many of the residents on or near the line of March.

Mrs. S. Sweet was formerly Miss Pearl Hawthorne, of Eugene.

TRUTH PREVAILS

Editor Argus:—Mr. Orr, who hibernates down on the Base Line road, east of Brodson Acres, has suddenly waked up to the fact that I had claimed, about two years ago, the champion Oregon Grape, with a height of a foot—more or less—and sends to the Argus a letter, stating, first, that he is a man of veracity; secondly—that he has the champion grape, with a measurement of 18 ft. The Argus publishes both items as news. Mr. Orr calls his Grape, or Holly, Gigantic-Proterius-P-0-f-an-i-c-u-s. I'm not much of a Latin scholar, but it strikes me that he has his own name mixed up in that grape vine. He also states that the vine grew 9 ft. in one day, going in a southerly direction. Now I don't care to get into a controversy with so dangerous a person as the owner of that fertile little farm, more fertile in imagination, but in the interest of truth I will say that it was two years ago that I measured my grape vine, and I have not measured it since, nor do I think it necessary. I'll just take the veracious Mr. Orr's statement of growth, 9 ft. per day. Two years would give us 6570 ft., just about the distance from my place to his, and in a southeasterly direction, the direction he says it was going; so no doubt it was my vine passing his place and he discovered one of the tendrils and calls it Gigantic with a couple more cuss words added to make Latin out of it. But to get back to the truth, according to Bulgin, Mr. Orr has an Oregon Grape, or (Oregon Holly) with an actual length of 18 ft. So I here and now, after two years wearing the belt, withdraw my claim to having the Champion Oregon Grape and take off my hat to the vine on his little ranch.

Yours,
Thos. H. Brown.

Greer sells groceries at right prices.

John Jemison, of Leisyville, was in the city yesterday.

Forrest Olan James and Elva Lois Coffey were granted a marriage license June 30.

Roy Heineck, of South Hillsboro, residing near the condenser, fell from a cherry tree yesterday afternoon and broke his left arm at the elbow, and badly sprained his other arm. Dr. Erwin attended the patient.

Edw. Naylor was today fined $150 and costs upon conviction of unlawfully living with Martha Travers. In default he is to go jail for 75 days. Attorney H. T. Bagley moved for a new trial, which was refused. He was given 20 days to file a bill of exceptions to go the Supreme Court. This is the second conviction, the first having been reversed at Salem.

"HELLO BILL" MEETS WITH MUCH MIRTH

One of the Best Comedies Staged by Local Talent

PSEUDO GENERAL HAS MANY TRIALS

Matters Finally Straightened Out and "Bill" Triumphs

"Hello Bill," a comedy, under the direction of E. L. Perkins, and one of the best ever appearing here under local talent auspices, was staged Friday night, at the Crescent. Leo Perkins, as the pseudo general, about to wed, gets out with some boon companions, and is under arrest for gambling on the eve of his marriage. He expects about 60 days in jail, and he tells his fiancée that he is colonel of a military organization, and must leave for the seat of war, this being suggested by a newspaper clipping that the real General Fuller must leave on the mission.

"Bill" stays away the allotted time. The real General comes to the wedding banquet and shows "Bill" up. There is a duel, but it ends happily when "Bill" tells how and why he came to assume the role of General. Perkins' situations abounded with fun, and he kept the audience convulsed with every line.

Carl Bensen, as the real General, was superb. Earl Tappen made a creditable "fixer," and Ken Robb, the Doctor, was good. Ray Sigler made a fine legitimate lieutenant, and Jim Perkins, as the policeman after "Bill," knew his duties. Miss Gertha Olsen, as Isabelle Dare, the widow who captured "Bill," was a favorite, and Miss Alice Smith, as her daughter, was in her usual good form. Stella Elder, as Harriet Sterling, handled her lines nicely, and Mrs. C. F. Bensen, as the real General's wife, was fine in her dignity over the imposition inflicted on her husband.

Taken all in all, it was one of "best ever" and merited the big audience that attended.

Onions are looking fine along the bottom lands, and if the weather continues good there will be a good crop.

For sale: Jersey cow, 4 years old in fall; gentle, sound; tests 5 per cent.; 4 gallons daily. Price, $89.—L. G. McNew, Beaverton.

John E. Zimmerman, of above North Plains, was over to the county seat yesterday attending a session of the county court.

Thos. Connell was over to Rockaway the last of the week, getting a place in readiness for sending his family over for the annual vacation.

For Sale—Two fresh cows, each four years old; easy milkers; heifer calves at side; also have some beef stock.—H. M. Basford, Hillsboro R. 2. 15-7

Frank McDowney, for years general manager of the big Ladd Farms around Portland, was out to the city today, a witness in circuit court.

E. B. Dufur, a Portland attorney, was in the city Monday, on a case before Judge Campbell. He is a brother of the founder of the town of Dufur, who passed away last week.

John M. Wall and family leave in the morning for the Tillamook beach, to spend the Fourth and Sunday, returning Monday. They go over in the Cadillac, via Sheridan and the Grande Ronde.

Dr. O. H. Sheets, of Portland, and Miss Alma Curtis, of Forest Grove, were granted license to wed the first of the week. The bride is a sister of O. L. Curtis, now of Eugene, and who came up to be present at the marriage.

The Forest Grove business men will close their doors, Friday at noon, so as to attend the ball game between the farmers and the business men. The proceeds of the game will go to the firemen, who hold a carnival, beginning July 7 and lasting four days.

C. B. Buchanan has purchased the Sholes residence on Fir St., now occupied by C. E. Lytle, and expects to move to Hillsboro in the not distant future. He will enter Hillsboro-business life, and his acquaintance over the county will make him a factor here.

Dr. E. H. Smith performed an abdominal operation on Earl Ringle the first of the week. The young man has been troubled with the umbilicus since a baby, and it lately became so acute that an operation was necessary. He will refrain from heavy work until recovery, and he is to be congratulated that peritonitis did not appear years ago.

For sale or rent: Ranch of 16 acres with 6 acres clear; 100 fruit trees in bearing; good onion ground on quarter acre; good pasture; all shaded; house and barn and chicken house, and on house. Running stream through place. Good spring, and well. Five miles S. E. of Hillsboro, on river road. Terms.—J. Q. Johnson, Hillsboro, Oregon, Route 2.
