HILLS GRANGE GETS READY FOR THE FAIR

Hold Two Days, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16 and 17

FINE LIVESTOCK EXHIBIT

Patrons of Hillsboro Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, have completed all arrangements for their annual fair, which will be held at Hillsboro, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 16 and 17. This year the exhibit is receiving a great deal of attention, and this year include horses, cattle, hogs, goats, as well as poultry. Good premiums will be given for winning entries in all classes, and there will be a lot of individuals in the crowd goes without saying.

The two-day milk cow contest is a feature that is worth while. The state commissioner will be present to direct the proceedings. Livestock must be tested for tuberculosis, and this has already been arranged for.

Display of grasses, grains, and vegetables promises to be a great deal of interest. The state commissioner will be present to direct the proceedings. Livestock must be tested for tuberculosis, and this has already been arranged for.

STATE BOARD REPORT ON ST. MARY'S HOME

Washington County Institution Near Beaverton Gives Record

THIRTY CHILDREN NOT ON STATE LIST

State Allowance is a Little Over Three Thousand

The State Board of Health, in its report just published, shows that St. Mary's Home, of Beaverton, had 85 children on the state list, and that Oregon paid them for the year of 1913 the sum of $3,306.15, making a cost to the state of a little less than 3.85 per annum for the keep and care of each child.

The report explains the Home as follows: "St. Mary's Home owns and is located on a ranch which greatly aids in furnishing food and provisions for the children. This fact tends to reduce the bread, meat and grocery bills considerably. All the milk, eggs, butter, vegetables and much of the meat and flour is furnished by St. Mary's Home.

The money appropriated by the State was used for the support of the children. There are usually about 30 children at the Home who do not draw support from the State and whose names never appear on the State list. These children are half-orphan or have both parents living, and pay tuition, which accounts for the income from tuition in the financial report. The improvements made at St. Mary's Home during the past year were made from other money, as give, than State appropriation.

At the end of December, there is a balance on hand in favor of St. Mary's Home of $843.32. This may be regarded as properly due the Home, furnishing most of the provisions as it does, and said money will be used for the care and support of the children during the year beginning 1914.

H. C. Pearson, of Iowa Hill, was in town Saturday.

New and second-hand barrels at Greer's.

Dance at Burkhalter's Hall, Saturday evening, October 3.

Hans Rasmussen, of Orenco, was a Saturday visitor in the county seat.

L. H. Peters, of above North Plains, was a city caller the last of the week.

Jacob Sonnen, of Cornelius, was transacting business in the county seat the last of the week.

F. A. Harburg, of below Orenco, was a county seat visitor Saturday.

Chas. Hickethier and wife, of Cedar Mill, were city visitors Saturday.

Alex Gordon, of North Plains, was in the city the last of the week.

Julius Foga, of below Elmton, was in the city Saturday morning.

John Welch, of Beaverton, was in up to the city Friday, on probate business.

Dance at Hillsboro Hall, Saturday evening, Oct. 3. Tickets, 75 cents. Everybody invited.

J. B. Downing, of below Beaverton, was a county seat caller Friday.

Lewis Powers, of beyond Leisyville, was in town the last of the week.

Miss Emma Staley, of Helvetia, was a county seat visitor Saturday.

John Loftis, of above North Plains, came over to the county seat Saturday, to take out a monument.

Peter Hoffman, of Bacona, was down to the county seat Monday, and went up to make a business call at Forest Grove.

J. W. Connell returned the first of the week from a business trip covering various parts of Tillamook county, and the Nehalem.

For Sale: Span mules, weight about 1800, 4 and 5 years old. Also set double harness, in good condition.—Gus Reichow, Cornelius, Route 1. 27-9

Robt. Thompson, of Cedar Mill, was in the city Saturday.

Mr. Thompson is now one of the ranking pioneers of his community.

Hundreds of machines came out from Portland, Sunday, and traversed Washington County. The roads were in splendid condition, after the rains, although they were a trifle rough in places.

Columbia County, our nearest neighbor, has just recalled the county court and the district attorney—all because of the Pacific Highway proposition. So, after all, Washington is not the only county that has hair-in-the-nose over road matters.

The indemnity for cattle affected with tuberculosis is getting to be quite an item in county expenses. The court recently allowed, under the law, of course, Anderson & Nagle $100, and Zwald Bros. the sum of $175, for cows so afflicted.

California shipped over eight million barrels of crude oil during August. "Doesn't look much like a shortage of gasoline, does it?"—this from the auto owner who is always figuring on the law of supply and demand.

Robert Hartman recently returned from a trip to the Spokane country, where he sold and set up a gasoline tractor for farm plowing. While in the Inland Empire he visited the Spokane Fair. Bob says that it is a great country up there, but he still likes the old Willamette Valley the best.

J. M. Churchley, of below Reedville, was in the city Saturday. He has turned out 1700 cords of wood this year, delivering it at the railway. In seven years Mr. Churchley has grubbed out 25 acres of land, besides turning out several hundred cords of wood annually.

Emma Muralt has sued Robert Muralt for divorce, alleging too free use of intoxicants on the part of the husband. They were married in 1904. She says she has done more than her share in helping the husband look after a herd of cows, the poultry, and bring the products to market. They own valuable land in Section 36 T 2 S R 2 W, now worth $15,000. She asks for money to prosecute this suit, and a one-third interest in the real and personal property. C. J. Schnabel is attorney for the plaintiff.

JUDGE EAKIN REVERSES THE CITY OF CORNELIUS

Says Herman Koehnke Jr. Violated no City Ordinance

CAN CARRY LIQUOR IN ORIGINAL

Much Needed Question Has Settlement in Circuit Court

Judge Eakin heard the celebrated liquor case coming from Cornelius, the last of the week, and decided against the city in the matter wherein one Herman Koehnke Jr. was arrested this Summer, two quarts of liquor confiscated and broken, and the young man, who was acting as agent for his father, was fined $25 and a jail sentence. The sentence to imprisonment was remitted by the recorder, but the money fine was paid and then the case was appealed.

Judge Eakin held that the ordinance merely required shippers of liquor to maintain books as a public record, and said that liquor shipments by common carriers must be marked in plain letters and must be in original packages.

From the decision, then, it appears that anyone can carry liquor through or into the town, provided that the carrier is not a common carrier, or is not carrying it for hire, and there is no violation of the ordinance. This means, then, that a farmer can get liquor in Portland and carry it through the city without molestation.

There is yet another case on the docket which will be reviewed—the case of W. A. Bellinger. The Bellinger case is almost a parallel case with the Koehnke affair, and it will be watched with interest.

Judge Eakin allowed a default in the case of Allie M. Orcutt versus Chas. A. Cawley, and Robert Herr and Ernest Herr were given judgments against R. H. Tupper.

Ada Dannels was given a default for divorce against Chas. E. Dannels.

Hiddink versus Hiddink, decree of divorce granted.
