The magnificent tribute paid Senator George E. Chamberlain in the Washington County vote of Tuesday is a matter of gratification to those who have always contended for supremacy of merit in public officials. As Governor the Argus supported the Senator, and when he ran to succeed himself he was beaten but 31 in this county—which was normally republican by 1500. This last endorsement of the governor-senator is a tribute to his genuine worth, to his splendid personality, and to his faculty of doing things in public service that are of value to his constituency. The Argus naturally feels elated over the Washington County result, and when it is remembered that the little old religious weekly is the one sole newspaper that has fought his battles here, year in and year out, why shouldn't it be walking around on its stilts. But at the same time, the Argus wishes to congratulate the fair-mindedness of the hundreds of republicans who eschew party in a case of this kind—and may the tribe of men who are not blinded by "party" never grow less. They are the salt of the earth.

OLDS-WALKER

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Walker, of the Old Meadow Farm, near Beaverton, at six o'clock in the afternoon, October 28, 1914, when Miss Lauretta G. Walker was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel G. Olds. The ceremony was celebrated by Rev. Andrew Carrick, Pastor of the Tualatin Plains Pres. Church. Miss Margaret Barnes led the bridal party to the altar. Missess Emily and Florence McElroy played the wedding march, piano and violin, and sang "I Love You Truly," and, after the ceremony, "Annie Laurie." Miss Gertrude Bernard caught the bride's bouquet. A dainty lunch was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Olds departed for Newport. They will be at home to their friends, after Nov. 15. The bride is one of the estimable and lovable young ladies of East Washington County, her charm of manner and gentle disposition having gained her a host of friends. In character she is a true woman of the Southern generation, and she will be greatly missed by her hundreds of friends and acquaintances, who have loved her for her genuine worth. The groom is well liked by his friends and associates, and until the past few years has been engaged in farming. He is now a popular conductor on the O. W. R. & N. Mr. and Mrs. Olds have the best wishes of their friends.
