

FRED LOCKLEY WRITES OF MRS. ELLEN HARE

Tells of Remarkable Centennarian at Astoria

MOTHER OF LATE HON. W. D. HARE

Mrs. Hare is Grandmother of Hillsboro Residents

Fred Lockley, running a series of pioneer stories in the Journal, has the following account of Mrs. Ellen Hare, who is the mother of the late Hon. W. D. Hare, a grandmother of W. G. Hare and Mrs. Henrietta Morgan, Hillsboro, J. C. Hare, Portland, and Mrs. Grant Mann, Cornelius:

"One of the oldest, if not the oldest woman in Oregon, is Mrs. Frances Ellen Hare, who lives at Astoria. She will be 104 years old on the 5th of next February. Grandma Todd, of Eugene, who is also 103, moved to Walla Walla some months ago. O. W. Akers, of Roseburg, is somewhat older, Mexican war. She was considered an old woman during the days of the Civil War; and yet this was more than 50 years ago. She has 23 grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren."

New Fall and Winter lines of men's clothes as well as ladies' suits, coats, dresses and skirts, consisting of 60 different styles, latest fabrics, are now on display at our new location south of the K. P. Hall, Second Street. Call and look at our samples.—Christ Wuest, the Tailor. Phone Main 863.

Miss Wilma Waggener, with Albany College, in charge of the choir of music, was in the city Thanksgiving, and on Friday evening attended a session of instructors and professors at Pacific University.

I saw cordwood, poles up to 12 inches in diameter, fence rails, and boards of all kinds, into stove-wood lengths. Will go into the country. Write, phone or call on me.—Carl Skow, Hillsboro. Phone, City 462, or call at Tualatin Hotel.

Fred B. Clark, on the jury list, went home Saturday evening, with a touch of the "grippe."

MANY LIQUOR CASES IN CIRCUIT COURT

Over Twenty Indictments for Violation of Liquor Laws

ONE MAN FINED FIVE HUNDRED

Chas. Boy Lanes Damage Case Wherein He Asked $5,000

Liquor violations have been handed down in court to the extent of over a score of cases, and still they keep coming. Ora Davenport, a Gaston bootlegger, was fined $500 the other day, $100 on one count, $150 on another, and $250 on a third. Davenport was given the choice of the $500 or 250 days in the county jail.

Edw. Durst, of Tualatin, was fined $50 for selling a pint of alcohol to a Tualatin resident.

Giles Cole and Clyde Raymond were fined $50 each for giving liquor to a minor girl. They paid their fines and were paroled on jail sentences of a year.

Myrtle Hansen was given a decree of divorce from Walter Hansen, and P. C. Brown was freed from his matrimonial knot with Ida J. Browne.

The damage case of Chas. Boy against Fred Wright for $5,000 for injuries alleged to have been received in a fight, Boy claiming Wright had struck him with a shovel, resulted in a verdict for the defense. The jury: F. J. Williams, Edw. Rivett, Lewis Powers, Edw. Schulmerich, Fred Stark, Henry Miller, Hans Rasmussen, Chris Reichen, W. K. Newell, Herman Metzentine, F. B. Clark and Garfield Raymond.

DEMMIN-KRAHMER

A very pleasant affair was the wedding of Miss Rosa Krahrmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Krahrmer, to Edward Demmin, solemnized at the German Lutheran Church, near Cornelius, Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 18, 1914, at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. L. Stuebe officiating. The bridal party was ushered into the church by Albert Krahrmer and Albert Schoen, the little Misses Esther Schoen and Verna Krahrmer, cousins of the bride, being flower bearers, in a color scheme of yellow and white. Miss Edna Hogrefe and Miss Pearl Buchele were bridesmaids, and wore beautiful gowns of corn colored silk, each carrying bouquets of chrysanthemums. Walter Demmin, a brother of the groom, and Fred Krahrmer, brother of the bride, officiated as groomsmen.

The bride was lovely in a gown of pleated messaline and silk chiffon, over net, trimmed with pearls, with full length veil, fastened with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses.

The church was decorated with the fern and Oregon Grape. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Krahrmer, where a reception was held and an elaborate wedding dinner served. The house was beautifully decorated in yellow and white, with wedding bells and Oregon Grape in the dining room, and pink and white, with Grape, in the parlors.

The presents were many and beautiful, a testimonial to the high esteem the happy couple enjoy in their community. Those present were: Messrs and Mesdames Chas. Ed Sr., Ed Jr. and H. Krahrmer, T. Sattler, H. Hogrefe, L. Stuebe, H. F. Henry and Chas. Reese, J. Freudenthal, F. Schoen, R. B. Denney, Geo. Biersdorf, F. C. Orth, H. Liebenow, J. Buchele, A. Benson, H. Rehae, T. C. Johnson, H. Every desirable feature in scientific eyesight tests and made in spectacles and eye glasses of today is generously taken care of by Dr. Lowe. When you patronize him you receive the combined skill and service of the trained eye specialist and optician. If you want the best to be had at any price consult him. He guarantees his glasses to give satisfaction whether they cost $2 or more. One charge covers entire cost of examination, frames and lenses. If you pay more you pay too much. If you pay less you do so at the sacrifice of service and cheaper material. He does not go from house to house. Consult him at Hotel Washington, Saturday, Dec. 12. Scores of Hillsboro references. Will be in Forest Grove, Friday, Dec. 11. Remember the dates.

The masquerade ball last Wednesday, at the Hillsboro Hall, was well attended. The prizes were awarded as follows: Best dressed lady, Miss Elnora Gardner; best dressed man, Jos. Elliott; second best dressed lady, Miss Viola Pitman; second best dressed man, Wade Zumwalt; most comical lady, Miss Ethel Blatchley; most comical man, Fred Taylor; worst dressed ladies, Mrs. Chas. Vanderwal and Miss Gladys Turner. The prize waltz was won by Wm. Delsman and Mrs. Jas. Miltenberger.

Prices that save you money—10c outing flannel, now 8c per yard; 12c outing flannel, now 10c; 12 1/2 flannelettes, now 9c; 25c satteens, now 21c and 23c; 50c serges, now 42c; 81 serges, now 75c; 25c soisette and poplins, now 19c. These prices are good until every yard has been sold.—Greers, Main St.

W. F. Gibbon and wife, of near Boise, Idaho, where Mr. Gibbon owns a big alfalfa ranch, arrived here the last of the week for an extended stay with their son, C. E. Gibbon, and family. Mr. Gibbon says the valley of the Boise River has improved wonderfully the past ten years and that land in favored localities sells as high as $400 per acre.

After Friday, Dec. 4, we will not roll and grind feed any more on Fridays, but will run every other week, commencing Saturday, Dec. 19, Saturday, Jan. 2, and on Saturdays thereafter, every other Saturday.—L. Siegenthaler, 2824-2nd Street, Portland, Oregon. 37-9

Miss Minnie Morrill, attending Normal at Monmouth, spent Thanksgiving with home folks, A. A. Morrill and family.

Henry Danneel, who is attending O. A. C., came down to visit over Thanksgiving with his father.

Miss Janet Hoeffel, of Portland, was the guest of Miss Gladys Shute last week.

Peter Grossen, of Helvetia, was a city caller Monday morning.

All hats reduced at Emmott's millinery. Argus to Jan. 1, 1916, $1.50.

WALTER B. MOORE DIED IN PORTLAND

Was Well Known at Hillsboro and Gaston Several Years

BIG OWNER GASTON GARDEN TRACTS

Was Son of Ex-Governor Miles B. Moore, of Walla Walla

Walter B. Moore, son of ex-Governor Moore, of Washington, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Portland, Saturday, from an illness of several months, which apparently culminated in pancreatitis.

Dr. A. E. Rockey, who had been in attendance at a National surgical convention in Washington, D. C., rushed across the continent in a vain hope to save the young man's life. The surgeon arrived Friday night and an operation was attempted as a last resort, but was without avail.

At the time of his death Mr. Moore was president and owner of the Gaston Gardens Company, a corporation with interests in beaverdam lands, and one of the firm of M. C. Moore & Sons, of Walla Walla. He was born at Walla Walla 38 years ago.

Mr. Moore was well known in Portland, and visited this county frequently. His health had been failing for several years. The illness which resulted in his death took a serious turn about three months ago.

His widow, whom he married about four years ago, is an Oregon girl, and was formerly Miss Beulah Lucas, of Tillamook.

A son, 2 years old, survives. Mr. Moore's father, Miles C. Moore, of Walla Walla, and two brothers, Frank A. and Robert L., both of Walla Walla, also survive.

R. H. Greer bumped into the Odd Fellows' building, head on with his Ford machine, Thanksgiving Day. He was rounding the corner of Third and Main, when he lost control of the steering gear. He first bumped the curb at the Weil store, and then made a diagonal shoot across the street, striking the brick in the middle of the structure. Aside from jarring a few letters out of the post office box and disturbing the appendix of the machine, there was no damage. R. H. is now ready to make the "Devil's Ride" with Ringling's circus, and says for the first time in his life he was taught the beauties of a "parabola."

If you have a child who is backward in school it is possible his or her eyes are the sole cause of the trouble. If in doubt, consult Dr. Lowe. He can and will enlighten you.

L. Siegenthaler has a notice of chopping in another column. He has installed new machinery and says he can handle feed much faster than with the old.

Mrs. Ellen Hare, oldest woman in Oregon being 104 years old. While in Astoria a few days ago, I visited Mrs. Hare at the home of her daughters, Mrs. Gillman and Mrs. Hongland.

"Yes, I'll soon be 104 years old," said Mrs. Hare, in answer to my question, "and I am thankful that my mind is clear and my memory good. I was born at Winchester, Va., and I'm proud of it. My father didn't believe in holding slaves. All of the rest of his family did. He moved to Ohio; but you know Virginians are very hospitable, and though we owned no slaves, our kitchen was always full of niggers. Folgers seem to know that folks born in Virginia are their natural friends."

Mrs. Hare's maiden name was Frances Ellen Davenport. She was born Feb. 5, 1811, in Winchester, Va. Her father, Judge Davenport, served Virginia on the supreme bench, and served three terms in congress. Like many other prominent Virginians, Judge Davenport was opposed to slavery. In 1818, when Mrs. Hare was 7 years old, he moved to Ohio.

Mrs. Hare met and married her husband, John Hare, in Minnesota. She had eight children, seven of whom are still alive. Mrs. Hare, who for many years has been a resident of Astoria, was born before John Jacob Astor started his expedition westward to found a trading post at the mouth of the Columbia. Abraham Lincoln was a tiny toddler when she was born. Henry Clay was speaker of congress and James Madison was president of the United States at the time of her birth. There were but 17 states in the union and in place of over 90,000,000 there were only 7,000,000 people. Mrs. Hare was a baby when the British were burning the capitol at Washington in the war of 1812. She was a middle aged woman during the days of the "Editor Argus: I read in the last week's Argus where J. B. McNew, a Reedville farmer, had a 35 pound turnip on exhibition. I admit that Mr. McNew had a good size turnip, but at that I have him beaten, for I have in my home town a 46 pound turnip in the window. Seed was sown the 10th day of July, and never saw a hoe or cultivator. Wish you would let the Argus readers know that we can raise turnips in Polk County. Yours truly,—Max Luck." Williamina, Ore.
