HILLSBORO, OREGON, MARCH 4, 1915

NO. 50

CIRCUIT DISTRICT, R. BAGLEY, JUDGE

Mr. Withycombe Approves Washington-Tillamook Circuit

MR. BAGLEY LAST FRIDAY

Judge is Well Known Hillsboro Attorney, With Big Practice

Mayor James Withycombe last evening signed the bill for Washington County out of the fifth judicial district and for this and Tillamook counties a new district, and Friday afternoon appointed Geo. R. Bagley to the new judgeship.

Washington County has been the Fifth Judicial District, consisting of Clackamas, Clatsop, Multnomah and Washington counties comprising a population of 100,000, with two judges, 39,000 each judge, as shown by the census. This is the largest population for one judge of any district in the state.

Washington County has been in the Fifth District, which has a population of 23,308 for one judge and a population of 39,000 for the second largest population for one judge in the state. Washington County is third, with a population of 37,710 for one judge. The new district will have a population in excess of 100,000 with one judge, and this leaves Clatsop, Clackamas and Multnomah counties with two judges, and Polk and Yamhill counties with one judge and one people.

Washington and Clackamas counties probably have more business than any two counties outside of Multnomah. Circuit Court cases having been filed in Clackamas and Washington counties alone during the year 1914. Notwithstanding the vigorous efforts by Judge Campbell to expedite court business in these counties, the civil docket is crowded, preference necessarily having been given at times to criminal cases.

A new appointee is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bagley and he was born at Canton, Jan. 25, 1871. The family to Oregon in 1885, and settled at Leisyville. Judge Bagley attended the common schools in this district and as soon as he had entered the law office of late Congressman Thomas Longue, he was admitted to the bar June 1, 1893, at the age of 22 years. He opened an office in this city, and has since had an extensive and lucrative practice. Upon the return of G. Hare from Ann Arbor school a partnership was formed which has endured until the present time. They have the finest law libraries in the state, and as attorneys they have a reputation as leaders in the state bar.

Mr. Bagley was married to Olive Hanley, April 19, 1895. They have four children. Judge Bagley had an extensive experience in the appointment, and this endorsement was an initiative, as the appointee never intimated to the governor that he was a candidate. The acceptance of the position was a financial loss, but it is a high honor to round out twenty years of active practice. He has a fine grasp of the law, and will grace the bench with wisdom to himself and to the district.

A fellow giving the name of Geo. Garrett, as well as Geo. Henderson, was brought up from below Beaverton, Friday afternoon, in a badly wounded condition. Garrett showed up at the F. Sylvester home, that morning, with his head badly beaten. He was unable to tell anything which led to a knowledge of what led to his condition until later in the day, when Sheriff Reeves went down to investigate. In a lucid spells Garrett said that he came from Seattle, where he and his wife lived at 1510 East Fir Street. He stated that in company with a man whose name he could not recall, he came to Portland, and remained over night, Wednesday, at the Bennett hotel, stopping in Room 52. The next day—Thursday—he and his companion took a car to Council Crest, and from there, late in the afternoon, they started to walk through the country in search of work. He says that is the last that he remembered. Garrett claimed that he had lost $3 and an Elgin 17-jewel watch. He was brought to the Gardner sanitarium for treatment. Sheriff Reeves has found out that Garrett served six months in Multnomah for chicken stealing. The wounded man will not disclose the name of his companion, whom he admits to have been his assailant. He says it was good for him, however, that he landed first, hard, or he would have killed his companion. Other than this he is reticent, refusing to tell the name of the assailant.

The Oreno Co-Operative Marketing Association (Inc.) will hold their first annual Spring sale, at Oreno, Tuesday, March 23, 1915. All parties having cows, heifers, horses, hogs, farm implements, buggies, etc. for sale should make entry with the Manager, W. J. Head, or at any of the stores in Oreno. It is intended to hold a community sale of this character at least twice each year, and provide an opportunity to anyone wishing to sell or buying farming stock or implements. All entries should be sent in not later than Saturday, March 6, so as to be suitably advertised.—W. J. Head, Manager.

Hops sold here last week brought 14 cents, the highest price paid since the season opened after picking last fall. The lot was sent out by F. M. Lackey, and at that he did not let go of all of his crop. Old speculators in the hop market say that the product will yet go higher, and many who sold too quick off the reel last fall are feeling a little put out by the raise—or rather, that they did not hold for the raise.

Judge Campbell adjourned circuit court Friday, and will not return until March 15. He disposed of the following, Friday: Wickstrom vs. Lee, judgment for plaintiff in sum of $126.40; E. Z. Ferguson was given a certificate to quiet title in his suit against the unknown heirs of Thos. Rowell, deceased. Wm. Foster was decreed to be in default in the foreclosure brought by the American Surety Co.

For Exchange: Good Portland business property on Union and Grand Avenues—for ranch or business property in some good valley town, or might consider a wheat ranch up to $10,000. Balance, mortgage for 3 years. Direct inquiries to P. O. Box 333, Hillsboro, or call Main 144, Hillsboro.

Julius Weisenbeck, of near Oregon City, where he is engaged in dairying, was over to Hillsboro, Saturday, paying taxes on his Washington County property, near Reedville.

For sale: Three brood sows, Berkshire, or will trade, for cow or driving horse.—Joe. Tannier, Sherwood, Ore., Route 4. Telephone Scholla, Line 20, No. 525.

The crocuses are ready to bloom, and have been for a week. In favored places they have unfolded, but in some gardens they have been backward about spreading.

"Blacky Brennan," crook and safe cracker, has gone to his reward. He was killed at St. Paul, Ore., the last of the week, just after leaving a store with two companions. Brennan and his confederates entered the store about midnight, and a man, who lived just across the street from the building, noticed a light in the building. He secured his rifle, and when the trio departed from the building, ordered them to halt. They paid no attention to the command and the citizen fired, bringing down Brennan, killing him outright. Brennan was picked up at North Plains, last August, and brought to the county jail, where he was held as a suspicious character. Communication with Portland, however, failed to fasten anything on the prisoner, who was known to have been a crook, and Brennan was released. The dead man's parents reside near Oswego. Brennan was not a store thief so far as merchandise is concerned. He was always after the money, and was an expert safe blower. The confederates made their getaway from the St. Paul job. The man who did the killing was exonerated by the coroner's jury.

DRAINAGE DITCH TO BUILD THIS SUMMER

Vast Tract, Lousignont Lake, Southeastern, to be Reclaimed

ABOUT TWENTY THOUSAND FOR WORK

Extensive Acreage of Bottom Land to be Drained for Cultivation

Work will commence on the big Lousignont Lake and Verboort drainage ditch this Spring or Summer, and completed by Fall, and this will mean the reclamation of hundreds of acres of the finest bottom land in Washington County. There will be several miles of main ditch and many laterals, and the cost of the work will be nearly twenty thousand dollars. Bonds will be floated for the construction of the ditches, and the paper will cover that portion of the district which does not pay the assessments in cash. Quite a number have already paid in the assessments, and as a result there will be a considerable cash sum to apply on the project.

E. A. Eddy, one of the viewers of the drainage work, says that there is some of the richest genuine beaverdam land in the district to be found in the state—and Eddy knows what beaverdam land is, for he has bought and sold more of it than any individual in the county.

The Birdsells have about 60 acres of beaverdam on their holdings in that section, and their assessment is the heaviest of any in the drainage list. The ditch will mean reclamation of hundreds of acres which will be used in gardening and it will mean revenue for that section, as well as enhanced values along taxable lines.

Just as soon as the bonds can be sold active work will begin, and by next Fall the vast section will have perfect drainage.

Lotus Langley, of Portland, was in town Friday, on a case in circuit court. L. L. lives on the East side, and he states that the jitney service has cut into the receipts of the street car company to the extent that he does not see where the street car people will be able to declare a dividend for years, unless there is a change of sentiment. He says that the jitney may be risky, but when they are once laden they go through with their passengers to the destination, in a hurry; Langley also states that the jitneys have forced the street car officials to behave with a courtesy that is Chesterfieldian.
