Assistant Janitor Montgomery was on the sick list, Friday, and a new man was helping in the basement. He turned on the water to replenish the boiler, and not turning it off at the right time, it filled and drove the steam into the registers and pipes with so much force that taps were blown out, and the office of Surveyor McGee was flooded, as well as the sheriff's office. McGee's quarters were filled with steam and the vapor was so thick one could cut it with a knife. The damage amounted to perhaps $5 or $10, as it will require some kalsomin- ing in places. The "blowout" caused Deputy Applegate a few hours extra work—perhaps a day—in making out new papers to supply those that were destroyed by the steam jets. The entire water system force was behind the pressure for a few minutes.

Go to Gotham for high grade harness. Just received—a big shipment of sweat pads, deer hair, 75c; goat hair, 55c. These sell higher elsewhere. Clayton Unruh, aged about 50 years, dropped dead at the Oregon Electric station, at Tualatin, Saturday afternoon. Unruh was returning from a trip to his Yamhill ranch. He lived at Salem, and was well known there and in Yamhill County. He was apparently in the best of health, and was joking with several men at the station a few seconds before death. Some one had asked him how Salem was since it had gone dry. Unruh jocularly remarked that he had imbibed so much water at Salem that his stomach was "rusted." A minute afterward he took a step backward and fell. Coroner Barrett went to Tualatin to investigate the death, but held no inquest, there being witnesses to the incident.

Big Irvine Higginbotham, of the Beavers, will pitch the opening game of the season against Los Angeles, at that city, March 30. Old Ibig has pitched the last two opening games and has started the McCredites out with the first game each time. Heretofore for many years the Beavers always lost the opening game. McCredie thinks the former Hillsborite can pull through with a win again in this year of our Lord 1915.

Tally one for the split log drag—Judge Reasoner says that wherever this implement has been used faithfully during the Winter one finds fairly good roads—away beyond the roads where it has not been used. The Court says that occasionally there is a mudhole in low places where the implement is used, but they are few and far between.

For rent: Three large, nicely furnished rooms for housekeep- ing. Bath, water and light; front rooms. Fifteen dollars. Southwest corner of First and Oak.

Louis Delsman and daughter, Miss Mayme, who were recent guests of W. F. Delsman and family, departed Friday for their home in Manitowoc, Wisconsin. They were accompanied East by Miss Elizabeth Delsman, who will make an extended visit with relatives in the East.

Jean Nihart and wife, of Ham- mond, were in town the last of the week, witnesses before the grand jury. They were brought here to appear in the case of State versus Morton.

J. A. Thornburgh, of Forest Grove, was down to the county seat Friday.

Frank Holcomb, West Union, was in the city Saturday.

REGISTER OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS CHANGED

County Will be Divided into Dis- tricts for Getting Statistics

HEALTH OFFICERS SERVE IN CITIES

But Two of These in Entire Washington County—Cities of 2,000

The health laws of the state have been changed by the legislature, and hereafter the procuring of statistics of births and deaths will be undertaken by an entirely new system. The law requires that counties must be under the supervision of a state registrar, who is the head of the state board of health. In all cities of over 2,000 the local health officer is the registrar, and this county will have but two of these, the health officer of the city of Hillsboro, and the health officer of the city of Forest Grove. The state registrar will divide up the balance of the county in convenient districts, and appoint registrars, who will at once appoint a deputy to serve in case he should be absent.

Births and deaths must be reported to these registrars, and in the case of births, must be reported by the physician, the father and mother, or the householder where the child was born, within 10 days. The report must tell the name of the father and mother, and how many children the mother has brought into the world prior.

In the case of deaths the person acting as undertaker must see to it that the information is furnished the registrar.

An undertaker selling a casket, his personal services not being required, must send with the casket the pamphlet setting out the law, for guidance.

All the blanks will be furnished by the state registrar.

The first violation means a misdemeanor, and is punishable as such, which means a fine from $1 to $500, or jail from one day to one year. The second offense means $25 cash off the reel.

This law takes effect the latter part of May, and the state registrar will likely make his appointments soon.

C. W. EMRICK KILLED HIMSELF SATURDAY

Well Known Deaf-Mute Uses Knife to End His Life

LIVED SCANT HALF HOUR AFTER Was Born and Raised in Washington County, Son of Late Sel Emrick

Charles W. Emrick, a well known pioneer, born in this county, killed himself Saturday morning, about 7 o'clock, death resulting from the third attempt. Emrick was alone when he made his attempts at self destruction. He was in the kitchen of his home, at Ninth and Baseline. His wife was the first to find him, and he was then lying on the floor. Emrick first used a pocket knife, cutting a big gash in his left wrist. This must have bled for some little time and not getting results, Emrick then slashed his throat with a butcher knife. He failed to get the jugular, however, the greatest damage inflicted being a small cut in the windpipe. He then took a knife and plunged it into his stomach, just below the breastbone. The blade penetrated both walls of the stomach, pierced the liver, and the point of the blade passed clear through to his backbone.

Dr. E. H. Smith was summoned, and Emrick was taken to the hospital. He was laid on the operating table, being still conscious. He raised himself from the table and removed his false teeth. Dr. Smith then removed the clothing in order to operate on his throat, when for the first time he discovered the wound in the stomach. Emrick had carefully concealed this wound.

The hemorrhage from the abdomen wound was immense, but there was no exterior flow. Emrick died within ten minutes after going on the table, but the wonder is that he lived as long as he did.

Coroner Barrett held an inquest Saturday afternoon, and the jury found a verdict of suicide. Witnesses said that Emrick had been injured several years ago by a fall from a load of hay, and that the accident appeared to have affected his mind, he having threatened to kill himself several times. The jury: Wm Schulmerich, August Tews, J T Young, C E Deichman, C Reese and A Jack.

Emrick was a son of the late Solomon Emrick, pioneer of 1843. He was born in this county, near Cornelius, about 50 years ago. He was married to Holda Krahmer, Oct. 21, 1886, and the widow and three sons survive—Edward, of Oregon City; Henry, on the home farm, northeast of town, and Daniel, at home.

The dead man was industrious, and was a good neighbor. He moved into Hillsboro some months ago, and had fixed up a neat home. For a week past he had been morbid, and was possessed with the idea that he was going to lose all his property, although he owed no one, and was in good financial circumstances.

His wife and family have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

The funeral took place Monday, services being held at the Cong. Church. Interment was in the local cemetery.

Emrick was a brother of D. B. and Thos. Emrick, Hillsboro, and John Emrick, of Arlington.

UNION STOCK YARDS

Receipts for the week have been cattle, 1674; calves, 35; hogs, 2380; sheep, 1681.

The market on cattle opened briskly on quality offerings at about steady prices. Top steers remaining steady all week at 7.75. Monday's run of cattle was the heaviest in these yards for some time. Good cows are quoted at 6.50, and other lines in proportion.

Notwithstanding the fact that Portland prices have been the highest in the United States for some time past, marketing has not been as liberal as expected. Top hogs opened Monday at 7.25 and are selling at same price at close of week.

Sheep are again being snapped up promptly for any and all offerings. Packers are extremely short of supplies and are willing takers of all offerings at good prices. Lambs still sell at 5.50.

John Newman, of below Reedville, was a city caller Friday.
