AFTER all your years of chewing here is the Real Tobacco Chew. "Right-Cut"!

It's a new blend-richer, more sappy and twice as satisfying as the old kind. Seasoned and sweetened just enough to give you all the pure tobacco taste.

Cut a new way-so a small chew gives you comfort without grinding. And it lasts longer.

Take a very small chew-less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it sway.

Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tehacco kes you spit too much.

its of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molesses and totics how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut." One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

2.15 p. m. and give me trouble, but it's bin goin on so long that I'm gettin' used to do As regular as clockwork every sharply: McMinnville Train 6:40 p. m. Mooday mornin' Peter Jones calls at the postoffice and leads me into a corner and whispers;

"Jube Pike, you are postmaster of Podunk and in touch with the government. Anything comin' from you goes. D'you know what's on foot to smash 4:30 p. m. the United States all to spiinters?" "No."

"You'd never dream it, Jube. You'd never suspect it. I only caught on by the merest accident. Come closer D'you know what Abner Joslyn is trains, stop on flag at North goin to do if he don't git nominated fur the legislature? I've got it as straight as a ten foot pole. He's goin' to boit, sir; goin' over to the other party and take Silas Comfort and Joe Steam ServiceOld Depot Harrison with him. Yes, sir; that's the plot and plan, and you kin judge what the results will be. We'll be knocked colder'n a wedge. Move, sir; move without a moment's delay. Jest sit right down and get a letter off to Washington and tell them what's up. Teil them not to take chances or waste time. I think Silas and Joe can be bought off, but the squar' must be arrested and chained hand and foot till the danger is over.

Tuesday is Deacon Taylor's day. Along about 11 o'clock he comes in and inquires if clotheslines are still tein made the usual length and then raps on the counter and says:

"Jube Pike, this government is stand in' on the verge of a chasm and don't know it. It's fur you to save us from a gigantic catastrophe." What's wrong, deacon?" I asks. "Don't talk so loud. The town of Podunk is full of spies Jube, you know Moses Carrer, of course You know that when he didn't get the nominashun fur constable two years ago he west out of politics and didn't give a red cent who was elected or defeated. He's bin tayto' tow, sir; bin playin' possum and thinks the time has come new He's bin readin' up and gettin figgers together, and he's comin' out with a statement that the tariff rates her shut up seven different cooper shops in this county alone in the last four years. Think of that, Jube, for a thunderciap!"

"But what we goin' to do?" "It depends upon you sir, and if I was in your boots, holdin down a postoffice at $26.50 a year and in touch with the government, it wouldn't take me ten minutes to get a dispatch to L. W. House and J. W. Conne'l motored over to Hood River the Rev. R. E. Myers will preach last of the week, and spent a Memorial Day services at the them mighty strong Remember it's up

Wednesday I can allus look for Jacob Warner. Jacob had a brother scriped by Indians in 1868, and he wrote a letter to General Grant in 1872. The choirs of the various church- how allos got left. He's still wantle Herbert N. Cassaday and Bes- es are requested to participate and comes in on Wednesdays and

"Jube, I've known you goto' on twen ty-eight years, and I'm the last one to take the bread out of your month."

"Anything up?" I asks. "Thur is, sir, and don't you forgit it. Yes, sir, thar's sumthin' up, and Washington can't hear of it any too soon! I'll talk to you as I would to no other man in Podunk, because I feet as if I kin trust you. Jube, do you know that thar is one man in this town that can bust the whole United States inches in diameter, fence rails, higher than Gilderry's kite just mak

"No, is it possible?" says 1.

"It's just this way," he says, as he drops his voice to a whisper. "You write to Washington and tell them thar's danger ahead, and the awfulest kind of danger. Tell them that thar's a man in Podunk who has worked fur the party night and day for the last twenty years and has got no thanks fur it. That man has contributed every liberty pole for the last ten years. He's argued and jawed and fit fur the party. He's even called his own brother a liar for sayin' that taxes was too high. Jube, such faithfulness deserves a reward-virtue is goln' to triumph as usual, but if not"-

"Don't get excited Jacob" "I'm not gittin' excited, Jube, but if you and the rest of the government wants to avert a catastrophe you'll get your heads together mighty quick and see that the right thing is done."

Next day I count on Philietus Bluefields showin' up. Philetus had a great-grandfather killed in Havans by the fall of a hogshead of sugar, and sluce he's become of age he's been pressin' a claim for $10,000 damages. He says:

"Look here, sir. I'm either goin' to have that money or that'll be the awfulest row in this kentry anybody ever heard of! I'm as quiet as a hen up to a certain point, but when you wake me up I'm fur blood and shughter. I've stood it as long as I propose to, and you'd better see to things. Jest say as much in a letter to Washington. Say it's a case of bust or make for these United States, and put a scratch under every word and sign your name in red lok. I will be in next week and hear what they write back. If the money is to come I'll go along humbly; if not, I'll proceed to rip things up the back and smash candydates till North Amer les won't hey a leg to stand on?"

DUTY. Let us do our duty in our shop or our kitchen, the market, the street, the office, the school, home, just as faithfully as if we stood in the front rank of some great battle and we knew that victory for mankind depended on our bravery, strength and skill. When we do that the humblest of us will be serving in that great army which achieves the welfare of the world. -Theodore Parker.

A Gentlemanly Burglar
