The following letters have been sent to school directors by the school superintendent and the County Board of Education:

To School Directors of Washington County, Oregon—Gentlemen:

In view of the fact that the school directors of the county are asking for data on the cost of maintaining the Rural School Supervisor, I am submitting the following facts:

Most beginning-teachers find schools in the country and after successful teaching experience are able to fill positions in the city schools, getting benefit of supervision in every department.

It is hardly possible for the superintendent to do more in the way of supervision than to call once a year on each school. The teacher receives no particular help in her methods and knowing that another visit will not be made during the year, her interest in the work often lags.

SPECIAL BUSINESS Annual School Meeting Monday

Are your children compelled to sit in a school room in which there is a stove, roasting those near it and leaving those at a distance to freeze?

Are they subjected to the cold draughts from open windows? The hospitals are full of women suffering the consequences of sitting in school, at 12 to 14 years of age, with cold, wet feet and overheated heads.

Over 28,000 school rooms in all parts of the United States and Canada are now heated and ventilated by the Waterbury System.

It warms a large room equally in all parts. It keeps the warm air circulating so that it comes right down to the floor, warming and drying the children's feet.

It completely changes the air 4 or 5 times per hour without opening the windows. It does away with the poisonous carbon dioxide which causes drowsiness and headaches. It looks so much better than a stove. Those rough made iron jackets are especially unsightly. You would scorn such a thing in your home. They only partly do the work intended.

The stove has been outlawed for schools in several states and soon will be in Oregon.

Fathers and Mothers—it is your duty to attend the annual school meeting next Monday and vote to organize the school board to have a Waterbury system installed.

The health of one child, your child, is worth the price of a Waterbury system, from $100 to $180.

For more information write to Prof. N. A. Frost, Forest Grove.

Miss Elizabeth Richter, of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, and John Landolf, of Chicago, Illinois, who are on an extended tour through the West, are spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Radke, of near Sewell.

C. C. Arns, of Cedar Mill, was in town Tuesday. He says that Fall grain is looking fine down his way, with promise of a good crop.

John VanAckere, living on the Col. Thos. Beaverdam farm, belonging to J. C. Buchanan, believes it is lucky to have visitors. Last Sunday, while the folks were away Mr. VanAckere and the other men concluded to have a little nap. Just before Van dropped into slumber the tooting of an auto horn was heard and the Hellebuyke boys drove up. After shaking hands and a few commonplace exchanges they discovered that the roof of the kitchen was ablaze in three places. Had the boys not made the visit Van would soon have been asleep and the fire would have made such headway that the house and contents could not have been saved.

As it was the damage amounted to but a few dollars, and Agent Vanderwal adjusted the loss the next day.

Fred Osmen Opitz and Charles Opitz, of near Bethany, where they own a ten acre tract in the Brugger planting, were Monday adjudged insane, Dr. Erwin making the examinations. The elder, Fred, has been mentally afflicted for some time, and recently nailed up a watering trough because a spirit told him, he says, that the heifers would get into the place and drown. Charles, aged 39 years, will probably not remain long at Salem. Fred has been more or less of a hard drinker. He was examined here 3 or 4 years ago, but was allowed his freedom. Chas. is said to be suicidal at times, and both men complain of severe headaches. They have an uncle, Otto Opitz, highly respected, and an employee of the Lawrence wholesale harness people in Portland.

The committee on Goddess of Liberty has tickets in practically all the business houses in the city. Ask for them.

The annual Children's Day service will be held next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, at the Plymouth Church. The pastor will give an elaborate illustrated sermon. All are invited. A special service will be held next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Ida Woodbury will deliver an address on "Our Relations to the World." Miss Woodbury is an exceptionally gifted speaker. The public is invited.
