We Want Everybody to Know

That we will, beginning at once, give Cash Register receipts with every cash sale, showing amount of sale, date and who made the sale. We will ask you to keep these receipts as we are going to give back to our cash customers one day's cash sales each month. We will select one day each month and will announce in our window on the 5th day of each month the date we have selected, and then all you will have to do is look over your Cash Register receipts from us and see if you have any bearing that date, if you have just bring them to us and we will refund your money. There is no trick to this proposition.

EIGHT INDICTMENTS AGAINST BOOTLEGGER

Former Timber Slicer Man Fined $250, Later Paroled
 ALSO MUST PAY EXTRADITION MONEY
 Pleads Not Guilty, But Later Turns to Behalf of the State

E. J. Daly, who was returned to this county by Sheriff Reeves, from Butte, Montana, was given a hearing before Judge Bagley in the Circuit Court the first of the week. Daly plead not guilty at his first appearance, but later changed his plea of not guilty to guilty to all the indictments against him. There were eight indictments brought forth, but there were many mitigating circumstances in his case. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 on each indictment, or, in default, to serve 125 days in county jail on each one. On condition, however, that he pay $150 and the costs of his extradition from Montana, he was paroled on the balance of the indictments. Daly must report to the sheriff once each month, and must not break any of the laws of the land, or else the parole will be revoked and sentence served. He was given ten days in which to pay the fine. He was represented by Wm. G. Hare, and the state by E. B. Tongue.

SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Washington. Winthrop W. Davis, Plaintiff, vs. Julia F. Davis, Defendant.

To Julia F. Davis, above named defendant:

In the Name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby notified to appear and answer the plaintiff's complaint filed against you herein, within six weeks from the date of the first publication hereof, and on or before the 29th day of July, 1915.

If you fail to make such appearance within the time herein specified, plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in his complaint, to wit, a decree of the above entitled court dissolving the marriage contract heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and yourself and for such other relief as the court may deem just and equitable.

This summons is made by publication pursuant to an order of the Hon. Geo. B. Bagley, Judge of the above entitled court, made and entered herein on the 14th day of June, 1915.

Date of first publication, June 17, 1915. Date of last publication, July 29, 1915. Joseph and Hancy, Attorneys for plaintiff, 611 Corbett Building, Portland, Ore.

Administrator's Notice

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that I, the undersigned, have been by the County Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County, duly appointed administrator of the estate of Barbara Ann Gates, deceased, and have duly qualified as such administrator.

All persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same to me with the proper vouchers at the law office of W N Barrett, at Hillsboro, Oregon, within six months from the date of this notice.

Dated June 17, 1915. John Gates, Administrator of the estate of Barbara Ann Gates, deceased. W N Barrett, Attorney for administrator.

TOBACCO satisfied—a clean, small chew. It's the Real Tobacco Chew. So satisfying and comforting that men are glad to hear about it. And then when they've found it their next impulse is to see that their friends get the good news, too.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco tastes comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of flavor and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

As the Guide Told It. I tell you, mister, it was a day to make a man feel tickled to death with himself and everything else in creation—that is, it started out by being that sort of a day.

J. Hesterbrook, he felt it too. He was up forward, sitting straddle of the bow and wagging his head around at the boatmen and things. Bimeby he came working his way aft, hanging into the gunwale, and set down on the starboard locker that runs along the cockpit.

"Don't you feel the subtle urge of nature?" says he to me.

I see he wanted to chin with me, and I felt like maybe that was part of what I was paid for, so I says to him:

"No, I can't say I feel no urge. I feel just like a cat with a saucer of cream in front of me. They ain't nothing I want what I ain't got."

"Strange," he mutters to himself. "The intellectual processes of the proletariat seems to be the reverse of those of the higher social strata."

I kind of suspicioned his remarks wa'n't exactly favorable to me, but I didn't say nothing. Five dollars a day is $5 a day. Anybody can call me a proletarian for that if they don't say it in a mean tone of voice.—William Merriam House in Countryside Magazine.

Nature. As a fond mother, when the day is o'er, Leads by the hand her little child to bed, HAD willing, half reluctant to be led And leave his broken playthings on the floor.

Not wholly reassured and comforted by promise of others in their stead, Which, though more splendid, may not please him more.

Be nature dealt with us and takes away Our playthings one by one and by the hand

Leads us to rest so gently that we no longer know if it was to go or stay Being too full of sleep to understand How far the unknown transcends the what we know.

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

As Usual. As nothing is quite so hard on youth as another youth just a few years older, Tommy resented very severely Jean's follies at the table when there was company.

"Mother, please don't let Jean come to the table tonight," he begged. "She always acts like we never have ice cream 'cept when there's company."

"Honest I won't," begged Jean, so convincingly that she was allowed to come.

However, when the time for dessert came and her favorite strawberry ice cream appeared Jean's emotional enthusiasm had to find some outlet.

"Oh!" she crowed, clapping her hands ecstatically; then, true to her promises, she continued: "We have it every night! We have it every night!"—New York Post.

Why He Cut His Hair. There is a certain surgeon in Boston who had, some months ago a very splendid crop of hair. Although the surgeon is not old, his hair is snow-white, and he is very proud of its beauty. He wore it parted in the middle and rather long, and it fluffed luxuriantly on either side of the part. The impulse toward a change in hairdressing came to the surgeon in this manner:

He had operated upon a woman and was bending over her as she began to come out of the ether. She opened her eyes for a moment, and then closed them again. Then with a long sigh and in a rapid voice she said, "What a beautiful white chrysanthemum!" The student present exploded, and now the surgeon wears his hair cut as close as a gentleman may.—Youth's Companion.

SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County. Mary L. Payne, Plaintiff, vs. George E. Payne, Defendant.

To George E. Payne, the above named Defendant:

In the Name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby notified and required to appear in the above entitled court and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled cause, on or before the 23rd day of July, 1915, and date being after the expiration of six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons upon you and if you fail to so appear for said answer, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in her complaint, to wit: For a decree forever dissolving the marriage and marriage contract now and heretofore existing between the plaintiff and defendant and restoring unto the plaintiff her maiden name, namely, Mary L. Mead, and for such other and further relief as to the Court may seem just and equitable.

This summons is served upon you by publication thereof in the Hillsboro Argus pursuant to order of the Honorable Geo. B. Bagley, Judge of the above entitled Court, made, rendered and dated upon the 15th day of June, 1915, and which said order requires that said summons be published in the Hillsboro Argus for six successive and consecutive weeks the date of the first publication thereof being the 15th day of June, 1915, and the date of the last publication thereof being the 23rd day of July, 1915, and which order requires that you appear and answer said complaint on or before the 23rd day of July, 1915.

Win G. Hare, Attorney for Plaintiff.
