OREGON EXHIBITS
MANY ADMIRERS

Thousands From the East are Enthusiastic Over Showing
GIVE IT FIRST IN STATE DISPLAYS

Structure is Unique and in Direct Contrast With General Outline

That Oregon will receive a great advertising through its unique building and exhibit at the San Francisco Fair is evidenced by the fact that visitors from all over the world are carrying the message of admiration on every boat and train leaving the Golden Gate city. When the casual traveler asks Fair visitors their opinion as to the best state showing their answer is, "Oregon." The big structure, built out of logs, in the architecture of the Parthenon, stands out by itself. All other buildings have a similarity of design and color, while the Oregon structure is natural. "Where is the Oregon building?" This is the query echoed from the gate to the coast line. All visitors are more than impressed with it, and with the representative exhibit from field and stream, the school exhibit, and the horticulture displays.

Oregon and Canada appear to be the favorites with Fair visitors, and Easterners who want to locate in the West spend hours with the exhibit. John Dennis, of Hillsboro, is all attention, and Oregon people are shown every possible courtesy. Hillsboro's school exhibit compares favorably with those from other sections of the state. Next week the Argus will give a review of the Oregon showing and of Hillsboro's part in putting Oregon on the map.

FORREST CLARK
A very sad affair was the death of Forrest Lester Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark, of 63 E. 74 St. N., Portland, who died July 24. He had been in poor health for some time. The doctors failed to learn the exact cause of his ill health until a few days before death. He had come to Cornelius to visit his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Piddock, and aunt, Mrs. J. Hergert, to see if the change would improve his health. Dr. Crowthers told the grandfather on Wednesday that the child had diabetes. He returned home on Thursday and passed away Saturday. The funeral was held at the home Monday afternoon, Rev. W. H. Hampton, of the M. E. church of Montaville, officiating. He gained many friends while in Cornelius, and was a general favorite.

Deceased was 13 years, 4 months and 16 days old, and is survived by his parents and one sister, Alta Clark. The pall-bearers were selected from his Sunday School class, and interment was in Rose City Cemetery.

M. McDonald, of Orenco, president of the Oregon Nursery Co., has been elected a member of the board of trustees of Albany College, his selection having been requested by the Oregon Synod, which met at Eugene, last week. Mr. McDonald ranks high as an educator and his appointment is a matter of congratulation to the college. He will serve for a term years.

L. A. Long has returned from the Moose convention at San Diego, which was in convention all of last week. While South he visited the San Diego and San Francisco fairs, and also went over into the land of Mexico, where the rabble are fighting without knowing exactly what the trouble. The Argus editor really believes some one could captain 1,000 Eastern Oregon and Washington cowboys and go South and whip both contending factions—but he is willing to give the work of captaincy to some other newspaper man who is really a belligerent.

PAYNE-HARBISON
A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated by Rev. E. A. Harris, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harbison, Thursday, July 29, 1915, at nine o'clock, when their daughter Hester was united in marriage to Glenn V. Payne. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and a few invited friends. The bride was gowned in white silk, and was given away by her father. The house was beautifully decorated in a color scheme of white and green.

Immediately after congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Payne were the recipients of many beautiful presents, in token of the high esteem in which they are held. After a short wedding trip they will take up their residence at Seventh and Baseline.

The bride is well known here and at Hood River, and has a host of friends. She is a graduate of the Pacific University, and is well known in musical circles. The groom is well known here, and is associated in business with Mr. McPheeters. The Argus joins with a host of friends in tendering congratulations.

A very serious accident, which might have ended fatally, occurred to Dr. E. H. Smith early this morning. While on a call north of Cornelius, on the Centerville road, a bridge near the Cook place, which was in a very poor shape, gave way under his machine, precipitating both Dr. Smith and his car to the ground. The rear right wheel was torn completely off, and the axle was very badly bent, the rear end of the machine striking the ground first. While Dr. Smith escaped without being injured, it was a very narrow escape.

L. G. Wiedewitsch, of Cornelius, has opened a machine shop and auto garage at that point. Steam vulcanizing, auto tubes and casings, high grade rabbit metal and all kinds of supplies always in stock. Give him a call.—L. G. Wiedewitsch, Cornelius, Phone, City 106. 19-23

Go to the Hillsboro Music Store or Hoffman's Jewelry Store and see the new song, "I Know a Yankee Man." This song catches the patriotic spirit that is abroad in the land, and has stirring words and music, with a cover design in colors that is a real work of art. Hugh Walter Sparks and Perry Burton Arant, both well known to Washington county people, are the composers. Those living out of town will receive a copy postpaid by sending 25 cents to the publisher, Edwin S. Sparks, Forest Grove, Oregon.
